BALFOUR SHOWS NEW VIGOR

British Premier's Courage of Utterance is a Surprise to Parliament.

EDUCATION BILL WILL BE PASSED

Popular Opposition Must Find Expression at By-Elections That May Arise.

London, Oct. 19.—The British political situation, which has been described on both sides as critical, has developed no features during the lively two days' sitting of parliament suggesting the imminence of a crisis. On the other hand, the government has maintained its almost normal majority on the Education Bill divisions.

It is becoming increasingly evident that the popular revolution of feeling against the government is not really based on the Education Bill, which is only being used as the most available weapon. Hence it happens that the Unionists will be able to muster almost their full support on the details of that measure. It is even probable that it will pass by a fair majority, and the popular opposition will be compelled to find ineffectual expression at such by-elections as chance may provide. It is reasonable to suppose, however, that a man of Mr. Balfour's sensitive political honor would decline to remain long in office if the rebuke administered at Leeds and Bury were repeated a few times.

Mr. Balfour has surprised and pleased even his opponents by the virility and courage of his utterances during the past week. He seems to have dropped the role of a dilatory politician, which has sometimes given the impression of weakness on serious occasions. He is now showing the qualities of a vigorous, aggressive statesman who is thoroly in earnest.

He went west for a walk on Bloor-street, to visit friends in the vicinity of the Northern and G.T.R. crossing, and nothing has been heard of him since. Saturday night was foggy and dark and some boys say there was a hold-up there. Scott is a total abstainer. He is 44 years of age, 5 feet 7 inches in height, dark complexion and was dressed in dark clothes.

The high price of fuel has caused a price of board. The lowest price for women is $2.75, men $3.75 per week.

James Sanderson has just completed a very fine cement residence on Eglinton-avenue, Eglinton. This is the first attempt at this class of work in this vicinity.

There is no indication at present of the arrival of the town's fuel supply, contracts for 125 cords have been made but shipment is delayed thru lack of cars.

COST OF THE COAL STRIKE

Figures Given Out Make Up In Impressiveness What They Lack in Accuracy.

STRIKERS THE CHIEF SUFFERERS

Loss of Wages $20,000,000—Loss to Railways Not More Than $6,000,000.

New York, Oct. 19.—The computations of the newspaper mathematicians on the cost of the coal strike certainly make up in impressiveness whatever they lack in accuracy. Whoever it was declared that figures never told must have been unacquainted with those of the statisticians of the press. They have set down figures which, it is said, at their face value, would have sent the price of stock of all the coal roads tumbling to rock bottom. The most moderate estimate made by the newspaper experts in connection with the strike places "boom" at $35,323,345. That this figure is preposterous will be conceded by anyone having a knowledge of coal matters in Pennsylvania. The truth is that of the two estimates in the last paragraph, the latter is the chief sufferers. Whatever loss has been sustained by the operators has been slight compared with the loss of wages for five months suffered by the 140,000 miners of the region. At a conservative estimate, the loss to the miners in wages has been $19,320,000.

This is computed on the basis of an average of a dollar a day wage for 138 possible working days. The operators on the other hand, have suffered a net loss not much in excess of $4,000,000. The railroad companies, on the other hand, have lost only $6,000,000. The Central Railroad of New Jersey, Erie, Delaware and Chesapeake, Lehigh Valley, Pennsylvania and New York, Ontario and Western, have paid no dividends, while the Delaware and Hudson and the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania 4 per cent.

On an invested capital of $200,000,000, these railroads have received dividends of 3 per cent. a year, or $15,000,000. This loss of $19,320,000, therefore, is a net loss of $4,320,000. The coal strike has lasted, roughly, five months, the outside loss to the operators would be $24,600,000. This computation is a very liberal one, and will appear from the fact that the miners have had to travel five months all the passenger traffic of the eight roads and all their freight traffic, and that the coal strike has cost the country $20,000,000 of these losses accruing from non-utilization of the rolling stock and motive power, the loss of the coal strike, it is estimated, is in other directions, is evident from the report of the railroad companies, which show a net loss of $22,000,000. This is the net loss to the operators, who have had to pay out of pocket $22,000,000 in the form of royalties and other charges. ### MONEY FLOWS FOR ST. JAMES

Local Methodists Contribute Liberally to Save Big Montreal Church.

ALLOTMENT FOR TORONTO $11,000

Total Debt is $512,822, and $180,000 is Required to Help It Out.

Collections were taken up in the Methodist churches Sunday in aid of St. James' Church, Montreal, which is heavily burdened with debt. The conference asked the churches in Toronto to contribute to the debt, and the response was a good one. It is expected that when the returns are complete the sum required will be greatly exceeded. Many of the churches went beyond their allotment by several hundred dollars.

The two leading Methodist churches in the Metropolitan and Sheburne-street, were expected to contribute $7,000 of the $11,000 allotted to Toronto. The contributors had not all been counted Sunday night.

The response from Trinity Methodist Church was a splendid tribute to the generosity of its members. The church has contributed $1,000, but the plates contained $850 when the trustees counted up. In addition, Timothy Eaton has promised the handsome sum of $5,000, and in response to an appeal for a subscription of $2000.

Broadway Tabernacle was allotted $2,000, and has subscribed with a little over $200. Central Methodist Church gave $650. Its share of the burden was placed at $500.

Annet-street Methodist Church, Toronto Junction, contributed $100, double the amount asked by conference. Parkdale Methodist Church just about covered its allotment, $200.

Yonge-street Church, with the figures incomplete, gave $150. The allotment being $100.

Wesley Church was asked for $400. It fell short, the sum given at both services being $221.

Some of the churches have yet to be appealed to.

The debt of St. James' Church is $512,822. To meet this charge the church owns the Temple building on St. James-street, Montreal, for which the Standard Life has offered $250,000. If not sold for a higher figure by the end of the month the congregation of St. James' has undertaken to raise $75,000, and the trustees have been promised a rebate of $100,000 in interest on the indebtedness if $100,000 is paid off by May 1.

The debt of $1,000,000 for the churches in Canada to raise to save St. James' to the church. The conference asked that $50,000 be given Sunday.

In addition to the sums already promised, the late Hart A. Massey has promised $50,000 to the cause, and five gentlemen promise to supplement this by $5000 each.

OPERATIONS OF GHOULS.

Entire Graveyards Robbed—Bodies Stolen Estimated at 1200.

Indianapolis, Oct. 19.—More than thirty criminal revelations were ever brought to light than those which have rewarded the Marion County grand jury's investigation into the remarkable organization of ghouls that has been operating for five years in this state from New York City, Chicago, and the territory in which they operated with a hawklike scrutiny, keeping a list of every interment.

Medical and dental colleges all over the country have been notified of the operation of the ghouls, and the latter have been supplied with material for the dissecting knives of phrenology in such numbers that it will probably never be known where they have watched their work from their concealed resting places.

The revelations of the graves, left to the lot of ignorant men, under the leadership of the ghouls, has been a revelation of the situation in the alleged country of men of prominence in the medical world, several of whom are now in prison or out on bail.

It is estimated that 1200 bodies were stolen.

Detectives Aesh and Manning to-day took Centrell to his home in Lafayette-street, where they secured a number of papers, the most important of which was a list of names. After that they went on a mysterious expedition to the headquarters of the ghouls where they were running down clues to other grave robbers. The names of the ghouls were obtained from the grand jury on Monday.

The evidence they secure will be submitted to the grand jury on Monday.

It is expected that the investigation will be completed in a few days.

occupy the time of the grand jury for three weeks. Centrell has made a complete confession, but he will be called from time to time before the grand jury as new points are brought out from the testimony of others now in jail.

How long the organization of ghouls might have gone on with their business of disposing of graves but for the confession of this man is kept a mystery by the police for his own protection.

He declared to them that the members of the ghouls' organization were bound together by a terrible oath, and that betrayal by any one of them meant not only his own death, but that of the bodies of his confederates, however, and this man, who had been a member of the organization, furnished the detectives with a list of the names of the members of the organization who were listed in jail.

The methods of operation have been revealed by the grand jury's investigation. Centrell was the leader—the chief ghoul—and the other members were his assistants. He was the only one who was not a member of the organization, but operations were not by any means confined to his district.

Within 24 hours, however, after the first three prisoners had been thrown into jail, evidence was collected which showed that three more organizations were at work in the city. The grand jury's investigation made it clear that it was the only one of its kind in the country.
