will bring fewer recruits to the colors than the first if the number waiting exumination at the armories is any indication. Official figures cannot be given but because of a ruling to that effect rom Ottawa, so it is impossible to learn he number of men reporting and the number accepted for service.

Early trains brought only a few drafting men to the city, and the crowd which illed the eastern part of the armories loor on Thursday was absent today. The nedical boards were busy.

All sorts Reporting.

All sorts and conditions of men are reporting for service. They have persaps more checkered careers than the men of the volunteer army. There is the chap who was born in this county if years ago, went to school here, and ater commenced his business career lare, never traveling more than fifty miles from home, going through the preliminary preparations for a 2,000-mile new duties. All Sorts Reporting.

ocean trip, side by side with the men who was born the other side of the Rockies. The first man rattles off the answers to the necessary questions. The other chap isn't quite certain of the name of his home town, and he really is not aware of the first name of the farmer by whom he has been employed for the past six months. "Who is your next of kin?" has him completely floored. He hasn't corresponded with anybody for five years, and isn't at all certain that any of his relatives are living.

g. Side by side, the men look quite a bi Side by side, the men took dune a stalike. They wear long overcoats, and they all carry brown-leather suitcases. These, it seems, are the distinguishing badge of the drafted man who is not ye in uniform. Fully 30 per cent of those who arrived from outside points were equipped with this form of knapsack.
