

SAYS IRISH ARE GOING WRONG WAY TO GET INDEPENDENCE

Patrick Madden Has His Own Opinions Also About Mayor MacSwiney.

Patrick Madden, one of the immigrants who arrived in the city Wednesday evening from England, stated to The Advertiser today that in Plymouth there are 7,000 men out of work, 20 per cent of whom are ex-service men. He states that there are just as many women out of work and that many of them are being forced to live in "Times in England are just as bad as they were during the war," said Mr. Madden. "In many cases I think they are worse, and if something does not turn up shortly I can see nothing ahead but what is going on in Ireland. Prices are so high that the people have to live on the very poorest of food. Wages are not what they should be when people have to pay 31 cents for a two-pound loaf of bread and 24 cents per pound for sugar."

When asked why he came to this country, he said that after he arrived from France he went to Plymouth where he was unemployed, and advised that he was better off in England. A company which was opening a new ship-building yard promised work for 5,000 men, and he came to London, where he is called the Comrades of the Great War, held mass meetings and advised that he was better off in England. The majority of the men who did not receive jobs had had to come to London to find work.

"It was not told by the authorities in England that when I arrived in Canada I could live on a government fund until I received work, but the others were told that I was against, and I am ready to take my medicine, as every soldier has, and will have to, I cannot farm, but I am experienced in lumber work, and would like to get in a lumber camp in Northern Ontario."

No Use For MacSwiney. "In regard to the Sinn Féin uprising in Ireland, I hope they are what they are after. Not that I am a son of Ireland, but just that they want their demands as men who fought for their king and country. I was born in Cork, the birthplace also of Mayor MacSwiney. I don't know what he did, but I do know he is a fool. They will never get their independence as they are going after it in the wrong way by killing people. If they had demanded their rights in Australia and Canada did everything would have been all right."

Mr. Madden stated that there were 20 more immigrants coming to London next week, and he thought that they were in the same predicament as the three others who came with him. None of them are experienced with farm work.

"I would appreciate it very much if you would put in your paper that would like to get a job in the lumber camps in Northern Ontario," he said. "I like that work and am willing to do it."

Word of any work for one of the men who went to France during the war, and is now penniless, if left with J. W. Canfield, local secretary of the G. W. V. A., will be given to McPadden.

Business at the rural centres round about is good and is picking up nicely, the natural effects of the good crop which has been harvested. In some of the adjacent territories, the growth of corn has been almost phenomenal. Building continues active, and the city is making good growth. Payments are generally satisfactory.

TRY TO SETTLE PROBLEM OF JAIL UPKEEP

Board of Arbitration Is in Session At Court House.

A special board of arbitration appointed to apportion the payments toward the upkeep expense of the jail and county buildings here between the city and county, met at the court house today at noon, and after a short deliberation adjourned until 2 p.m. Discussion of problems which have been hanging fire for years was resumed this afternoon.

City Solicitor T. G. Meredith informed the board that there was no ill feeling over the situation, but that both parties were anxious to have it adjusted satisfactorily without evading the issue. The city was agreeable to having the payments apportioned on a population basis, or assessment basis, would appeal as second choice. The decision of the board is to cover the county jail upkeep for the next five years, and to be retroactive for the years of 1918 and 1919, provided both parties are agreeable.

J. C. Elliott, appearing for the county of Middlesex, submitted that the procedure would be to fix the costs on a basis of usage, and cited cases of arbitration similar to the one involved in which this board had been shown the preference. He quoted the London St. Catharines case, wherein a board decided it on a population basis, the decision was appealed, and thrown back to the county, one handed down on a basis of usage.

This basis problem was in course of discussion when the board adjourned. The meeting was scheduled for 11 a.m., but owing to the fact that Judge J. Wallace of Woodstock, chairman of the board, was delayed by train connections, a late start was in order. Other members of the board are St. Clair, of St. Thomas, representing Middlesex County, and K. W. McKay, editor of the Municipal World, St. Thomas, selected by the city of London.

The chairman was appointed by these two members. Several witnesses who are officials in the administration of county and city affairs will be called this afternoon. Arbitration was decided upon to settle the problem, because the parties have been unable to reach an agreement. About $16,000 yearly expenditure on the part of the city is involved in the decision of the board.

STRIKE GAS AT LAKEFIELD.—Peterboro, Sept. 10.—While boring for a well on the main street of Lakefield last evening, drillers struck a pocket of gas 47 feet below the surface. Drilling operations were resumed today in the hope of striking a larger quantity of gas.
