

and the place of the disaster is a remote one, nearly two miles from the nearest way station and ten miles from North Bay.

Tragic feature of the wreck was the instantaneous killing of Mrs. Peden and her two young sons who were traveling in the sleeping car. The observation car, which received almost the full shock of the impact.

No fire followed the collision, the cars all being steam-heated. It is believed the engineer and fireman of the engine that ran into the preceding train jumped before it struck, as no word has yet been received of their fate.

Mostly Westerners.

North Bay, Jan. 25.—The death of Mrs. Susan Peden and her two boys in the train wreck at Corbett leaves one survivor in what was a few years ago a happy and growing family. Her husband had taken up land in Alberta and is in Calgary awaiting the arrival of his wife and sons. Two other boys were killed in France.

Nearly all the passengers on the train were western people, or settlers for the west, and the casualties were in the rear Pullman, which was telescoped. It is believed that the engine of the rear section of the train could not have been running at full speed when it came in collision with the leading portion. Disabling of the locomotive due to extremely cold weather, is given as the cause of the accident, which has been stalled. The accident occurred at 10:30 this morning, and at that hour the thermometer stood at minus 16.30.

Injured Progressing Well.

Of the score of injured now in the hospitals here, it is stated that all have a good chance of recovery. The train bringing them from the scene of the wreck reached here at half past four this afternoon, and was met by ambulances, autos and sleds. On receipt of the news of the collision nurses and doctors had been rushed to Corbett on Supt. Boucher's private car. Assistant Supt. Boucher is still at Corbett supervising the removal of the bodies and the restoration of traffic. Just before midnight, Fred Marter, a local undertaker, returning to North Bay with the bodies of the victims, but could not give their names. There are several children among the unidentified dead.

Continued Storms Affect Traffic on Rural Roads

The continued storms are having their effect upon the roads in general, and traffic on all the lines leading out of the city is becoming very heavy. The roads running north and south are fairly good, but the east and west sideroads are getting hard to negotiate. An especially bad place is that leading out from Markham to Langstaff, on Yonge street. All motor traffic in the country, unless on some leading highways, like Yonge street or the Kingston road, is out of the question, and likely will be for a month or so. Fall wheat has never been uncovered since before Christmas, and this fact, coupled with the severe frosts which are freezing the ground to a great depth, is a good augury for next season's crops.

YORK COUNTY AND SUBURBS

SCHOOL SECTIONS WANT MONEY GRANT

A large deputation representing the suburban school sections around Toronto to explain an interesting condition of their financial affairs to Hon. H. H. Grant, minister of education at parliament buildings on Saturday afternoon. Their concrete request was for a provincial grant to assist these heavily assessed school sections. But some thought that a way out of the difficulty would be found by raising the general school rate, instead of tapping the west York suggestion that the suburban school sections around Toronto look to the city of Toronto for co-operation; but this opinion provoked a somewhat heated discussion.

It appeared by the case as presented to the minister of education that the rate in some suburban sections is as high as 12¢, on an average it costs $45 a year to educate a child, and the average school taxes of a workingman's home is $15. If a man has but two children the school taxes mean $40 per year deficit on his account. But the suburban parts are not only prolific in children "by natural means," as the minister of education put it; families are moving out from the city rapidly, and the more children they have the more anxious they are to move. The result is a financial problem that is becoming acute.

D. B. Hood, Fairbank; W. H. Bessey, Second; Inspector Campbell and a number of others spoke.

Chief Inspector Waugh said the authorities have been apprised of the increasing burdens of the suburban school sections, and will do something to afford relief.

Mr. Grant humorously touched on the fact that one of the speakers had said it was a pity "Dr. Cody's government" had gone out, and another had referred to the present as a "farmers' government." But he assured them the government realizes that children are the best asset the province and education its foremost work. He told them a similar state of affairs exists in Ottawa.

L. Carruthers, general secretary of the organization. At the first meeting of the trustees board for the police village of Unionville, held at the Queen's Hotel on Saturday night, a number of matters relevant to the improvement of the town during the coming year were discussed, and ways and means suggested for the betterment of the municipality. While the matter of extensions of the sidewalks and the improvement of the station grounds and side streets was taken up, the opinion of the members was that a policy of the strictest economy was advisable, in order that ample funds be provided for financing the Hydro-Electric System, which is expected to reach the town within the next couple of months.

Sentiments were unanimously in favor of pushing the scheme along from now on. Just what route the Hydro-Electric will enter the town is as yet undecided, but probably by way of the Kennedy road. FISH BIT QUICK.

Confidence Men Relieve Navarre Inhabitant of Noe Wat. Two "film-flam" artists from the United States commenced operating in Toronto Friday night and relieved one victim, John Puna, of Navarre, Ont., of $500 in cash. The two confidence men, according to Puna, were flashily dressed and got into conversation with him at the Union station. One of the "con" men started talking with Puna and finally the crook introduced Puna to his friend. They told Puna of their tour around America and then suggested schemes whereby Puna could get rich quick. They interested him in an investment, and when they learned he had $500 in a house which he was staying in, they advised him to go home and get the money and meet them so that they could put the deal thru for him. Puna, not suspecting the silver-tongued crooks, agreed to go and get the money and meet the two men on Front street near York. When he returned with the money he handed it over and was told to wait around and they would meet him again in a few minutes. Puna waited until he realized he had been swindled, then told his story to a policeman. The policeman sized up Puna's story, and detectives, furnished with a description of the film-flammers, set out to try and locate them. No arrests have as yet been made.

Officials of the department of immigration stated that this order was one confirming a policy already in effect and was not meant in any way to embarrass intending female immigrants, but rather for their protection.

There are many young women traveling to Canada at the present time, it is stated, and many of these are coming to be married to Canadians who had become betrothed to them while overseas but who deferred their marriages until they themselves could come to Canada and make homes.

Vaccination Truths

AN ALDERMAN OF THE CITY, A FORMER MEMBER OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH, AN OPPONENT OF COMPULSORY VACCINATION, IS NOW IN THE SMALLPOX HOSPITAL!

He opposed vaccination, and by the inexorable irony of fate suffers the consequences. We are sorry for the poor man, because compulsory vaccination would have saved him this suffering and humiliation, as it saved all the vaccinated boys at the School of Applied Science.

Read the following letter from Brig-General Mitchell, Dean of the School, a well-known citizen of Toronto and a distinguished soldier, and apply the moral:

Dear Dr. McCullough:

"I have no doubt whatever as to the efficacy of vaccination. In the war it was amply demonstrated, and my own experience and observation in Italy, as well as in France and Flanders, has completely confirmed this opinion.

With respect to vaccination during the recent smallpox outbreak in the City of Toronto, I think our experience in the University in the Faculty of Applied Science is a fair test. Out of a total number of 810 students, 90% were vaccinated, almost all of these in one day, and most of the remainder had been recently vaccinated in the Army. Of this large number there has been only ONE CASE OF SMALLPOX, and THAT IN A STUDENT WHO HAD NOT BEEN VACCINATED.

C. H. MITCHELL.

WHY TAKE A CHANCE? THE ALDERMAN'S FATE MAY BE YOURS!

In view of the freedom of the Jewish people of Toronto from smallpox, the following letter is of interest:

Study of the Rabbi of the "Holy Blossom" Congregation, 75 Grenville Street, Toronto, Jan. 23rd, 1920.

Dear Dr. McCullough:

With regard to your question why the Jewish community in the city has been hitherto practically immune from smallpox, I have not the least doubt that it is because so many of our community are strong believers in vaccination, and have their children vaccinated at a very tender age. This also is the case in England. I have recently been informed on very good authority that this was likewise the case in Russia and Poland, where parents generally have their children vaccinated before they are a year old, or thereabouts.

I have always been a strong believer in vaccination, and was myself vaccinated some weeks ago after my recent illness.

Yours truly,
SOLOMON JACOBS, Rabbi.
