REMARKABLE TEST OF A REFRIGERATOR

Collection of Both Odorous and Easily Tainted Articles Locked up Together For Two Days Without Injurious Effect — Matches Kept Dry.

Did you ever try keeping your cigars in the refrigerator? If you ever do you will find that the cigars will be of little value as a smoking proposition and the other is that you will receive an extemporaneous lecture from friend wife. This is, of course, unless the refrigerator is the Bernet.

On Tuesday afternoon at 5:30 this list of diversified articles was placed in the Bernet refrigerator in the window of T. McAvity & Sons, Ltd. Onions, codfish, lobsters, cigars, matches and other miscellaneous articles, together with fruits, milk and butter. The refrigerator was locked by R. A. Macaulay, president of the St. John Advertising Club, and yesterday afternoon at 8:30, before an interested gathering, Mr. Macaulay unlocked the refrigerator and found each of the articles not only in first-class condition but the matches were easily ignited, using the interior of the ice chest as the surface on which they were struck. One of the cigars was smoked by one of the onlookers, who reported it to be one of the coolest smokes he ever had.

The milk tasted as fresh as when it was placed in the chest and in no wise took of the flavor of any of the other odorous articles. This was regarded as an exceptionally strong endorsement of the Bernet refrigerator which, owing to its scientific construction, can do all this.

The Bernet syphon system, ensuring rapid unbroken circulation of dry fresh cold air, it was explained, is what keeps the interior bone dry and keeps the foods fresh flavored and preserves them perfectly for long periods. The lack of moisture prevents moulding, bad odors and stagnation of food. The ventilation is perfect, and the drainage is easily taken care of by a special opening in the floor into which hot water may be dashed.

The temperature goes as low as 38 degrees, which is about four degrees lower than is considered by experts to be sufficient for perfect refrigeration, and the refrigerator can be kept right next to a hot stove without interfering with the low temperature maintained inside.

This is possible because the Bernet has no less than eleven insulating walls. T. McAvity & Sons, Ltd., are the sole local agents and Mr. Adams, representing the Bernet, will be at McAvity's today and tomorrow and will be glad to explain in detail the many advantages of this exceptional refrigerator which not only preserves foodstuffs but also is highly saving in ice cost.
