SECOND BATTLE OF YPRES OBSERVED

Veterans of First Contingent
Have Banquet and Decide to Form an Originals' Club.

The veterans of the first contingent and heroes of the second battle of Ypres congregated last evening in Bond's restaurant to celebrate the fifth anniversary of the engagement, which won for Canadians the reputation of being great fighters, and which served as their baptism of fire in the Great War.

The re-union took the form of a banquet and was presided over by Colonel (Dr.) Murray MacLaren, C.M.G. His Worship Mayor Hayes was the guest of honor and Brigadier-General A. H. Macdonnell, C.M.G., D.S.O., was also present. About sixty first division men attended and after they had partaken of the good things to eat, Colonel Mac-

Lauren addressed them, telling of the object of the re-union, which he said was to keep green the memories of the past days of comradeship and to honor those comrades who would never return. He hoped that every year would see such a re-union and that the number would never grow less. He read a letter from the Y. W. P. A. to the members of the first contingent extending cordial greetings to them on the anniversary of the first battle in which they had taken an active part. The colonel paid a glowing tribute to the women of the Y. W. P. A. and a toast was drunk in their honor. He also read a letter from Charles Robinson, secretary of the Returned Soldiers' Aid Commission, regretting his inability to attend because of the recent death of his mother. Major H. H. Donnelly spoke in praise of the work which had been done by Mr. Robinson, regretting his sad bereavement which had made it impossible for him to attend and also proposed a toast in his honor.

Major Donnelly, the toast master, then called upon His Worship Mayor Hayes, who, he said, had been in office since the beginning of the war and had always done all in his power in aid of the soldiers, both while they were in khaki and after they had returned to civil life. The mayor was greeted with loud cheers when he rose to speak. He said that he felt rather humble when addressing such a group of men, but that he appreciated the honor done him, although he would not have been able to carry on in their interests had it not been for the support of the citizens. He had tried to serve faithfully and now just before retiring from office he would say that he was very glad to have had the support and goodwill of the members of the first contingent.

Major Donnelly proposed a toast to the mayor and after this had been drunk, three cheers were given for him.

A toast to "Our Fallen Comrades" was drunk in silence and General Macdonnell was called upon. The general dwelt upon the first days at Valenciennes, reminding them of the trip across in the greatest armada that the world has ever seen, spoke laughingly of the mud of Salisbury Plain, and then launched into a vivid description of the second battle of Ypres, telling how the Canadian boys, after only eight months of training, met on the field of Ypres the most highly trained army that the world has ever seen and by pure Canadian pluck defeated them. He made a touching reference to the comrades they had left behind. The general's address was received with loud applause.

Major Donnelly proposed that they should decide whether or not the veterans should make this an annual event and Major Cathbert Morgan moved that they should form an Originals' Club. This was unanimously adopted and a committee of three was appointed with Major Donnelly as chairman. The other members of the committee were Major Morgan and A. Weatherhead, while Gen. Macdonnell was elected honorary president and Col. (Dr.) MacLaren, honorary vice-president of the new organization. After this a number of anecdotes were told by different members and a singing song was carried on assisted by D. Arnold Fox, who accompanied on the piano.

Mr. Corby replied they cost $3.50 f. o. b. Nova Scotia. They were sold in Ottawa by auction, therefore there was no standard price. They sold from seventy-five cents to $6 a barrel. The averaged $3.70.

Mr. O'Connor said Mr. Corby must have been losing from $1 to $1.10 a barrel and Mr. Corby replied the firm was losing more than that, as demurrage had accrued on same. He added the contract was for 100 carloads of apples. The reason for the loss was because the cars had not been shipped regularly.

In reply to questions by Mr. O'Connor, Corby said that he would not sell apples by the barrel to any one who asked for them, but only to people in the trade.

MUSKRAT PELTS.

New York, April 22—Muskrat pelts featured today's transactions at the fur sale here. The highest price was $5.05, an increase of 100 per cent. above that of last year. The day's sales amounted to $1,150,000, making a grand total for the first four days of $3,275,000.

It is Different
Because It is Dry

IN the last few years, powdered skimmed milk has become almost a necessity in Canadian homes in the form of KLIM. It is so easy to order from the grocer and use it from the clean tin as needed. There is no waste with KLIM; it remains sweet and fresh until all used. Saves housewives time and waste and delays meals waiting for the milkman. Try a tin from your grocer.

Write for "The Wonderful Story of KLIM," an interesting recipe book.

Information Required by Board From Buyer of Nova Scotia Fruit — Examined
Under Oath.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

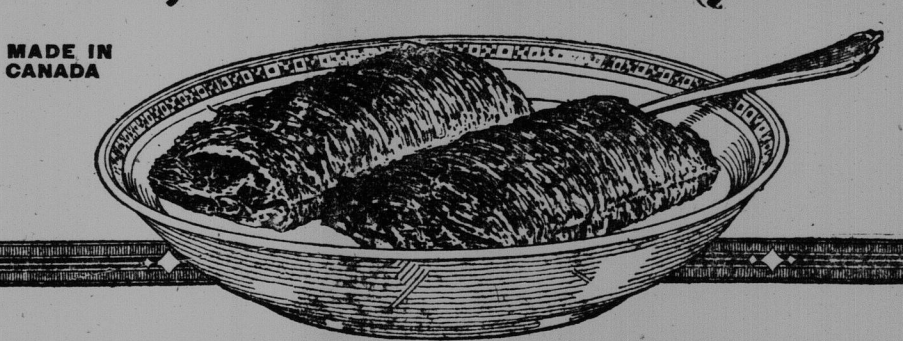

Ottawa, April 22—W. J. Corby, of the firm of W. J. Corby & Company, wholesale fruit merchants, was this afternoon required by the Board of Commerce to give evidence on oath with respect to shipments and the holding of apples purchased from the United Fruit Company of Nova Scotia.

It would appear that H. C. DeWolfe, acting for the Board of Commerce, asked certain information respecting apples shipped to the Corby Company, which Mr. Corby refused to give. There was a suggestion made that it was a case of hoarding, but this was proved to be groundless and Mr. Corby gave freely the evidence asked for by the board.

Mr. DeWolfe, after Mr. Corby had been sworn, said he understood that the apples in question were bought from the United Fruit Company and were the completion of a certain contract. I asked the price of them. What was it?

CHORUS
For those who love rare melody—for those who love harmony—for those who love a soft, dreamy melody—a melody that is so good, it is a pet number of the day. "Hawaiian Lullaby" is a song you'll want to play over and over again.

"I KNOW WHAT IT MEANS TO BE LONESOME"
Here is one of the most delightful songs you ever sang, played or danced. A sterling, sympathetic lyric, set to a haunting waltz melody. Great company for a lonesome place, or a lonesome heart, is this "Lonesome" song. There never was a sweeter, prettier melody, nor a sentiment more human. You'll love its memory-awakening, heart-warming charm. Play over these lines!

Go to your music dealer for these songs to-day. Their cost is but a trifle. Better buy a dollar's worth of "Faist" popular song hits for your piano.
