GREEN SIDE WON.
Members of the senior Epworth League of Portland Methodist church met in their hall in Portland street last evening to hear the result of a recent missionary campaign. The members had formed two sides, one captained by Miss Hattie Wright and the other by Miss Jennie Day. The former was known as the "White Side" and the latter as "The Green." President R. H. Maxwell announced that the green side won the contest and that a substantial amount had been collected for missions. Gordon Stevens, president of the Young People's Union, gave a short address which evoked hearty applause. During the evening games were enjoyed and refreshments served.

SURPRISE GATHERING.
On last Friday a large number of friends enjoyed themselves at the home of Mrs. W. Pridde, 80 Somerset street, having gathered there to celebrate Mrs. Pridde's birthday. The Man In The Street

Got your sidewalks shoveled yet?

If not, better do it now, for the constable will get you, if you don't watch out.

Red Cross collections seem to show that St. John folk still have a few dollars left in the old sock.

The only reason they did not give more is that they are saving the rest for the other funds which will be calling for it.

New food controller says he is going to put us on short rations. He's later; the high cost of living beat him to it.

Difficulty in clothing new United States army is explained by saying that the men average so much bigger than expected that there were not enough larges to go around. Now won't the Kaiser find that encouraging?

Peculiar feature of the situation seemed to be that, while they could not get boots big enough to fit the men's feet, they had no such difficulty with their hats.

Rumors of mergers of steel companies may be followed soon by rumors of increased price of steel products.

Visitor to St. John says we have not enough houses to go round. Quite true, but that won't stop several thousand householders from giving notice of quitting before the end of this month.

A careful perusal of the chancellor's speech almost convinces one that Germany is the only champion of liberty and justice in an otherwise benighted world.

But before taking their word for it we would like to hear the verdict of the Belgians, the Poles, the Serbians and the other folk who have had a chance to study German Kultur at close range.

Bolsheviks' idea of freedom seems to be that it is a good thing—for themselves and their friends.

No Wild Enthusiast.
"What is the matter?" asked the judge of the exemption appeal court. "Don't you want to go to war?"
"Well, I ain't particular about it," was the chilly response.

"You are not afraid to go, are you?" the judge asked.

"No, I'm not afraid; I'm just a little timid," he explained.

Some Farmer.
The applicant asked exemption on the ground that he was a farmer.

"What did your farm produce last year?" the judge asked.

"A hundred barrels of potatoes," he replied, and then paused.

"That is good," said the judge, with evident satisfaction. "And what else?"

"Ten barrels of other table vegetables and enough turnips to feed the cows all winter," he went on.

"Yes, yes. And what else? Any eggs or poultry?"

"I don't know," the farmer admitted. "Don't know! How is that?"

"Well, you see, I only bought the farm last week."

Exemption refused.

BIG SEIZURE OF LIQUOR IN CITY TODAY

Inspectors Take Five Cases and Trunk Containing Eleven Gallon Cans—Seizure at Minto Also

Liquor inspectors Crawford and Barrett made a large seizure at the Dominion Express Company's office on King street this morning when five cases and a new trunk in which were packed eleven gallon cans of whiskey were found wrongly addressed. This liquor was taken the inspectors' office in Prince William street, and will eventually find its way to the depot for consigned liquor in Smythe street.

Rev. W. D. Wilson, chief liquor inspector for the province, arrived in the city this morning. He will be out of the city over Sunday, but expects to be back on Monday morning. On Monday afternoon Patrick O'Keefe will be tried on a liquor charge in the police court. Chief Inspector Wilson, on his return today was accompanied by Inspector Thomas Barrett. They had visited Minto, where a seizure of two cases of liquor was made and some samples of beer secured for analysis.

LEMON EXTRACT MUST BE POTENT
Policemen Testifies as to Threat of Mr. Peterson to Shoot Off Head of Colored Companion With Flashlight

Henry Craft was remanded in the police court this morning on charge of being drunk in Main street last night and having liquor in his possession. He was arrested by Policeman Kierstead. Bradford Mason, colored, and Arthur Peterson, white, faced charges of being drunk, drinking in public and having liquor in their possession, all as a result of attempting to replace the "old original" with lemon extract. The two, according to Policeman Saunders' evidence this morning, were "falling all over the street and into each other's arms." The occasion was on Tuesday last at Kane's corner. Saunders swore that Peterson gave the other man a bottle which he drained and threw on the side of the road and that Peterson then threatened his companion's life and drawing a pocket flashlight from his pocket said: "I'll shoot your head off, and I've got the gun here." Saunders testified that at this point he placed both men under arrest. He found eight bottles on Peterson, six of them full.

Peterson pleaded guilty to all charges, but Mason said that "well, I wasn't drunk, exactly, and seemed disposed to think he was wrongly accused. No ill-feeling was formed on him. His Honor remanded both men until the extract could be analyzed and the inspectors could find out from whence the liquor came.

A boy was charged with stealing two horse blankets, valued at $15, from the New Brunswick Telephone Company's barn in Peter's alley. He pleaded guilty and said that he sold them for $5, but refused to divulge the name of the person to whom the sale was made. He was remanded.

ST. JOHN SOLDIER WEDS IN ENGLAND

A wedding of much interest to the people of St. John was solemnized in St. Giles' church, Walton, England, when Miss Alice M. Breakpear, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Breakpear of Walton-on-Thomas, was united in marriage to Corporal W. A. Alward of St. John. Corporal Alward was one of the first to enlist in St. John, crossing to England with the old 12th battalion in October, 1914. He went to France with the 15th battalion. And there, with the exception of a few weeks' furlough, he has been ever since. His many friends will wish him and his bride much happiness.

LETTER FROM SOLDIER SON

Mrs. D. Cummings of 6 Delhi street, has received a letter from her son, William Cummings, dated in France, Jan. 2, in which he says: "Every mother who has a son in the Canadian army can always hold up her head and say: 'My boy belongs to the finest fighting soldiers in the world.' We have been told so by the command of the army corps. We are having lots of snow over here now and lots of ice. I only wish I had had my skates on Christmas Day. I suppose when I get back you would not know me. I am not a boy now as I was when I left you at the station in 1914. I will meet you again at the same station, I hope, in 1918—not a boy but a man. Tell Dad he never brought his boys up to be cowards."
