Telltale Inventory.

A ballist went out to levy on the contents of a house. The inventory began in the attic and ended in the cellar. When the dining room was reached the tally of furniture ran thus:
"One dining room table, oak."
"One set of chairs, (six), oak."
"One sideboard, oak."
"Two bottles of whiskey, full."
Then the word "full" was stricken out and replaced by "empty," and the inventory went on in a hand that struggled and lurched diagonally across the page until it closed with:
"One revolving door mat."—Columbus (Ohio) Dispatch.

ARCHBISHOP'S TRIBUTE TO WOMEN'S WAR WORK.

New York, Mar. 7.—Most Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang, Archbishop of York, told the members of the Girls' Friendly Society here yesterday of the work women were doing and could do to help win the war.

Problems arising from the war, especially those affecting the welfare of women, have been most delicate, the archbishop said, and unusual conditions have brought the women of England into a labor which they have done "in a heroic manner."
