EUROPEAN WOMEN HAVE LESS BRAINS THAN MEN

LONDON, May 4.—Professor F. W. Mott, lecturing at the Royal Institution in London yesterday, demonstrated that in quantity, if not in quality, the European woman is distinctly behind the European man in the matter of brains. He showed that the average weight of the male brain was from 1350 to 1380 grammes, while that of the female was only from 1215 to 1220 grammes.

As to whether there was a relation between a high order of intelligence and a good brain weight the professor showed a chart giving the weight of brains of a large number of distinguished men. Of these, 85 per cent. exceeded the average brain weight; generally very considerably, and only seven were below it.

At birth the average male brain weighs 321 grammes and the female 361 grammes, so the girl baby got a good start.

All attempts to find out the professor's views on the subject of the encephalogram of women proved unavailing.

PULPIT TO GUTTER—THEN UP—UP HIGH, HELPING OTHER FALLEN MEN

NEW YORK, May 3.—From a pulpit to the gutter and back to the pulpit is the career of Dr. Harvey G. Furbay of New York.

Ten years as a tramp and a bum, a drunkard and a vagrant, have left their marks on the face of Dr. Furbay, who once was pastor of the Oxford Presbyterian church, Philadelphia. But he declares, and the other Presbyterian pastors of New York, who assisted the other day in reordaining Dr. Furbay to the ministry, declare that his work in the future will be all the more efficient in certain lines because of the terrible nightmare, 10 years long, through which he passed.

Dr. Furbay was overcome by the death of his wife and took to drink. He handed in his resignation to the pastorate of Oxford church and then allowed himself to slip down to the depths. Occasionally he braced up for a time. But the next fall was worse always. He saw the inside of workhouses, slept in the open street, dressed in rags.

One night in the Jerry McAuley mission, in New York, he sat in the rear seat with him, when there entered two clergymen who had been college mates of his. The awfulness of his condition dawned upon him and he arose and told who he was.

He was immediately cared for and, through mission influences, was restored to his senses. Later he took charge of the Industrial Christian Alliance and has collected $100,000 of $200,000 which will be raised for a new home for the alliance.

"No man is saved from drunkenness by prayer alone," said Dr. Furbay to the correspondent of The Star. "There are many men who cannot be saved. They will die drunkards. The trouble is they have drunk so much they have destroyed their brain and that is the terrible danger of alcohol. A reformed drunkard must train nerve centers, and their will power is gone."

REV. HARVEY G. FURBAY.

LAW IS RESPECTED BETTER IN CANADA THAN IN THE STATES

CALGARY, May 3.—A new kind of reciprocity with Canada was outlined by one of the 60,000 immigrants from the United States, who came into Canada during the year 1907. This man is a successful farmer in the Gleichen irrigation district. His sentiments seem largely to be those of all former citizens of the United States who are now becoming citizens of the Dominion of Canada.

"We are giving them some new ideas about being good farmers," said he, "and they are giving us some new ideas about being good citizens. They have a law against taking liquor into the Indian Reservation. One of our fellows was caught on a reservation with a bottle on him, and it cost him $50. One of the Canadian Mounted Police found him, and let me tell you they find everyone who tries to go up against the laws of the country."

"On Saturday night every barroom is closed at exactly 7 o'clock. Why? Because it's the law, and it's the same with every other law. There isn't a man in the whole district, and a woman can come home from town to the farm at midnight if she wants to alone. That's Canadian law. How to run a frontier, they have certainly taught us a lot."

"On the other hand, we are running their farms for them better than any other class of farmers. I guess I can say this without boasting and the Canadians appreciate us. We turn out to celebrate Dominion Day. They are glad to have us help to farm the country; they know how to govern; we know how to work."

"Will my children be Canadians? Well, they are going to be Canadian schools and studying Canadian history books."

GLEICHEN DISTRICT OPENING UP.

A large number of settlers are coming in northwest of the town of Gleichen; 22,000 acres having been taken up by men from Scotland, who are bringing in registered Clyde, both studs and mares. It is reported that the south side of the Bow River Blackfoot Indian Reservation is going to be opened up for settlement this summer, and the townsite of Gleichen has, in consequence, been enlarged.

Mr. Coughlin, of Montreal, live stock exporter, has been in Calgary for a few days, arranging with local contractors for the building of a handsome residence on his 5,000-acre ranch, situated sixty miles south of Calgary. Mr. Coughlin intends having broken this spring 400 acres to be sown in wheat; the balance being for grazing purposes. Already he has over 500 head of stock, and is very enthusiastic over Alberta's future.

THE COAL INDUSTRY.

The Provincial administration of the Coal Mines Act has been carried on by the Inspector of Mines, with headquarters at Edmonton, and a district Inspector of mines at Lethbridge, who has looked after the Lethbridge, Medicine Hat and the Crow's Nest fields. An estimate has been made of the output of coal for the past year, which shows that about 1,250,000 tons were mined in this province, a very considerable quantity over the output of previous years, as shown by the report of the old Northwest Government. Sixteen new mines were opened during the year, making a total of 61 mines known to be in operation in the province.

Immigration Officer Winn has just completed his report for the year ended March 31, 1909, which contains many interesting items concerning Calgary. The number of cars of grain inspected at this point is as follows:—Winter wheat, 1,049; spring wheat, 1,065; oats, 2,825; barley, 230; flax, 24; rye, 17.

Dealing in live stock, the report shows that Alberta shipped during 12 months 11,618 horses, valued at $1,255,760.00; 53,520 cattle; 34,389 butchers' cattle, and 5,570 feed cattle, valued at $4,520,000.00.

WEDS SCHOOL GIRL AFTER HIS DIVORCE

Samuel E. Gross, Chicago Real Estate Operator, Who is Sixty-Six, Wins Bride of Eighteen.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., May 3.—Samuel Eberly Gross, a sixty-year-old Chicago real estate operator, from whom his wife recently obtained a divorce on the ground of desertion, became the husband today of Miss Ruby Louise Haughbey, the eighteen-year-old daughter of James R. Haughbey, a building contractor of this city. The Rev. R. H. Rodman received the marriage vows in the home of the bride in the presence of a few friends. Mr. and Mrs. Gross left for New York, the bride carrying with her pearls, rubies and diamonds worth $2,000, the wedding gift of the bridegroom.

The first Mrs. Gross, who has been living alone in the Lake Shore family home in Chicago, since she and her former husband have been separated, failed to send a message of congratulation to the Chicago house formerly was the scene of elaborate social occasions and the Gross fortune was liberally used in entertaining there. Then adversity came and Mr. Gross sought and finally obtained a decree in bankruptcy. The bride of today had been attending the high school of this city and left school to be married.

Eventually Mr. Gross will take his young wife to Europe, where she will receive a musical education. She has studied both vocal and instrumental music in the Chicago Conservatory of Music and is a member of the Amateur Musical Club, the leading musical society of our city.

Mr. Gross came into prominence a few years ago when he waged a court battle against M. Rostand for plagiarism in his "Cyrano de Bergerac." The story alleged to have been plagiarized was "The Merchant Prince of Cornwall."

Over Half a Million Gallons of Spirit Burnt in Huge Belfast Fire—Twenty People Injured and £300,000 Damage Caused.

(Lloyd's News.)

Perhaps the most remarkable thing about a remarkable fire which occurred in Belfast on Tuesday was the way in which it was caused.

Just before noon two men employed in the bonded stores of Messrs. J. and J. McConnell, the well known whisky distillers, were at work on the third floor, putting hoops on a barrel of whisky, when the barrel fell and crashed through the floor and into the room below.

The half-hooped barrel burst, the spirit spurted in all directions, some of it came in contact with a gas jet, and thus was started a fire which destroyed over 500,000 gallons of whisky and other spirit, caused damage to the extent of about £300,000, and in the course of which twenty people were injured.

The barrel in its fall narrowly missed some Customs officers, who joined the employees in endeavoring to beat out the flames. They might as well have tried to stop the flow of the Thames with a sieve. In a very little while the whole floor was alight from end to end, and the firemen, who had arrived in answer to a peremptory call had to retire, and fight the fire from outside, but not before a dozen of them, overcome by the fumes of the burning spirit, had been carried into the open air.

Within an hour the whole of the bonded stores were involved, and the thousands of people who had assembled before the scene of the disaster, were unable to escape, and were suffering from the heat of the flames, which were still raging, but the brigade were then confident that all danger of further extension was over.

About eight o'clock two firemen were conveyed away in a condition of collapse. One had been jammed between falling barrels, and his leg was badly crushed; while the other was overcome with the heat. Not long after a loud noise told that one of the walls of the bonded store had fallen into the street, and it was seen that a number of lads who had been seated on a wall opposite watching the fire had been hurt. Police and civilians ran to the spot and attended to the injured lads, who were suffering from cuts and bruises and severe burns, chiefly to the legs. One had been knocked senseless, and was apparently in a serious condition. Four of them were removed to the Royal Victoria Hospital, where their injuries were treated. Altogether the casualties numbered twenty.

The bonded store, which has been gutted, is only one of several owned by Messrs. McConnell, and it will not affect the continuity of their business, as they have four others connected with their distillery in another quarter of the city.

FRATERNAL SOCIETIES MAKE FOR PEACE

National Peace Congress Looks to Them to Prevent War.

CHICAGO, Ill., May 3.—"War always devalues the best."

These words, written by the German poet, Schiller, a century ago, formed the theme of an address at the opening of the National Peace Congress, presided today by David Starr Jordan, president of the Leland Stanford Junior University.

It is in the great growth of fraternal organizations in the United States, which are immediately adjoining a portion of the bonded stores. The flames came through a large number of windows, and there was a constant cannonading, as barrels containing chemicals were caught in the flames.

The fire eventually attacked the highly inflammable grocery and chemical stores of Messrs. Clarke and Co., which are immediately adjoining a portion of the bonded stores. The flames came through a large number of windows, and there was a constant cannonading, as barrels containing chemicals were caught in the flames.

WORK OF MISSIONARIES LED TO THE REVOLUTION

BOSTON, Mass., May 3.—The invasion of civilization and the work of the missionaries preaching the word of God was the cause of the great revolt in Turkey, declared Professor Edward C. Moore, D. D., of the Harvard Divinity School in the principal address tonight at the centennial celebration of the Massachusetts Bible Society in the New Old South Church.

Among the speakers was Hon. J. Gordon Forbes, President of the New Brunswick Bible Society.

COMMON COUNCIL.

The last meeting of the old council was held yesterday afternoon. It was decided to hold a special meeting on the extension of Lethbridge, Engineer Peters will be again retained at the end of this month.

The Chamberlain street cleaner recommended by the board of works will not be bought just now. Cushing and Co. and George McKean will be allowed to store lumber in Nos. 1 and 2 sheds at 10c per 1000 feet for the first month, and 5c per 1000 feet per month thereafter until October 15th, they to keep the sheds in repair. J. H. White may store molasses in No. 1 shed at 5c per package per month under the same conditions. The safety board report was adopted without change.

The Adelaide Road water service extension was referred back. Ald. Frink was appointed to settle the water claim with the federal department of public works. Bill boards will be taxed at 2c per running foot, dogs $1, and bitches $2 per year. Shooting galleries will also have to pay shooting fees.

The Lethbridge water extension scheme is held up indefinitely. A unanimous resolution of sympathy was extended to Ald. Hamer. Several communications were referred to the various committees.

WHERE THE DOLLAR MARK CAME FROM

Prof. Colby Discusses Its Origin in Book on "Canaan Types."

Ultra! on a Scroll Across Them

First Placed on Spanish Joins.

MONTREAL, May 3.—One useful thing about history is that it explains many things, some trivial and some important, which otherwise would remain unintelligible, writes Prof. C. W. Colby, of McGill University, in the chapter on "Canaan Types" in his recent book on "Canaan Types and the Old Testament." He then proceeds to make two interesting explanations.

On the back of one's neck coat are two buttons, adding little perhaps to the beauty of the garment, but not placed there by the vagaries of modern fashion. They are a historical survival from days when every gentleman wore his sword, and required buttons to support the belt.

But what I started to speak about was the dollar sign, which we write every day of our lives. It goes back to this somewhat singular origin. Prior to the discovery of America, the town of Seville in Spain had for its coat of arms a shield upon which were blazoned the two pillars of Hercules, with the motto between: Ne plus ultra or ne plus ultra. About thirty years after Columbus discovered America, Mariani, an Italian physician, suggested to Charles V. that he should take over the motto of Seville as his own device, simply dropping the negative. Hence plus ultra or plus outtry (it was used equally in Latin and French), became the motto of a Spanish King. Charles had it woven on the sails of

THE MISSIONARY.

A far-off land, an alien sky—
Go out to fight for Christ and die,
A Moslem hord, a sudden blow,
Blood-red the mountain torrents flow,
Barbarian swords are drawn to slay—
Down with the Christian dogs that pray
Down with the Cross—and all the while
Burns in a sultan's eye a smile.

OWEN'S NEW MASK.

INJURY TO UMPIRE RESULTS IN INVENTION

Umpire "Brick" Owens of the American Association, was almost killed during one of the early games this spring by stopping a foul ball with his gullet. Necessity being the mother of invention, Owens, when able to navigate again, set about designing a mask that would protect him. The result is shown in the illustration. Owens wears it religiously and declares he feels as safe as if encased in the armor of a Crusader.
