

GRADUATE NURSES
WORKING OVERTIME

Association Meeting Not Held
Owing to Health Ban—Trained Nurses Have Been in Constant Demand During Epidemic.

Owing to the epidemic conditions of the October meeting of the New Brunswick Association of Graduate Nurses was not held, consequently all business in connection with the association has been obliged to stand over to the November meeting which will be held if the ban should be lifted before then.

The nurses belonging to this association have all been rushed with work and have given splendid service. A case is known where one trained nurse, who had suffered from a slight weakness of the throat, tried to persuade her physician to allow her to volunteer but was strongly advised that it would be absolutely worthless for her to nurse influenza patients. Another nurse has just come from a very hard case and is going right back to duty again.

The presence of a trained nurse in the home gives confidence and reassurance not only to the patient but to the anxious members of the household also. In many places she is a tower of strength and remains a faithful friend of the family for all time. If, in spite of both her efforts and that of the doctor the battle with disease ends in defeat, the nurse is remembered as the one who was able to give some comfort to the sufferer and her sympathy with the bereaved ones is not soon forgotten.

A reproach sometimes made about trained nurses is that they require so much waiting upon that it makes extra care in a home already disorganized through illness. There may be such nurses but it is certainly a fact that they are the exception and it is also true that more often they are required to do more than any one human being could accomplish. Truly the ministering angels among the profession are in the majority and there are few who have known the comfort of their presence who will deny this.

Men of the Maritimes Carry on!

In France our soldier lads fight on. The fact that they have the enemy on the run, far from causing them to slacken, inspires them to redoubled effort.

Canada must maintain at home a similar determination to carry on, until the enemy is beaten to his knees.

Steel, of which we produced a million tons last year in Nova Scotia alone, is still needed in large quantities for our munition factories and our ships. Timber, of which last year the lumbermen of the Maritimes produced immense quantities, is still required for our shipyards. Freight boats, which our Atlantic coast yards are producing on a scale and at a speed never before attempted here, are still a pressing need of our allies.

To keep up the production of these and the other war supplies so vital to Victory, Canada must have an uninterrupted flow of money.

Loans from the Canadian people have financed the huge industrial undertakings which have made Canada an important factor in supplying war material for our fighting men.

And the men of the Maritimes have been generous in their loaning as they have been courageous in their fighting and diligent in their working.

That the splendid traditions of the Maritimes may be maintained:—
