The Krouz Zeitung and other Berlin newspapers are very angry over certain articles in Prince Uchtomsky's Viedomosti, of St. Pelersburg, the Novoye Vremya and other Russian journals, which have attributed the Chinese out break to Germany's exhibition of the "mailed fist." The Victomosti flatly acing openly preached the partition of China in Pekin, and of having neglected in his last visit to the Tsung-li-Yamen the ceremonial to which Chinese attach such importance. It insinuated that by acting in this way "the unhappy Ketteler brought about not only his own destruc-tion, but that of all the other members of the Pekin foreign colony." The same journal blames Prince Henry of Prussia for having broken through the ancient etiquette of the court of Pekin, which exalted Russian visitors had always usly observed.
