COUNT OKUMA NOT

WORRIED OVER SECOND ATTEMPT TO KILL HIM.
Tokio, Jan. 18—Count Okuma was unmoved by the attempt on his life, and smillingly referred to the attempt made to assassinate him twenty-cight years ago, when he lost a leg.
"They tried to kill me then, and now they have tried again and failed utterly Whatever happens I shall continue to dony duty to the empire," said Count Okuma.

The outrage has caused a great sensation here, and much speculation as to whether it was attempted by some fansite, or was due to an arrebits organization. Count Okuma's withdrawal of his resignation as premier last year is said to have created enemies for him.
