Drinking Tea Upset Nerves

Mr. Burroughs Compares Canadian Customs with Those in Old Land, and Tells How Nerves Were Set Right

Orillia, Ont., January, 1918—"How to be well and strong?" is the question many are asking at this time of year, and in this letter you will find the answer.

It tells something of the blood-forming, nerve-invigorating influence of Dr. Chase Nerve Food, the great restorative which is causing so much talk here just now.

Nature's way of curing disease is by building up the vitality of the body, and this is exactly what Dr. Chase's Nerve Food does. The blood is made rich and red, and it nourishes the exhausted nerves back to health and vigor.

The experience of Mr. Burroughs as described in this letter is similar to that of hundreds of others in this community who have recently put this well-known food cure to the test

Mr. George Burroughs, 23 Peter street, Orillia, Ont., writes: "A few years ago, after coming out to this country from England, the change of customs seemed to have some effect on me. In the old country the habit of drinking strong tea was prevalent, and after arriving here I suffered very much from nervousness. If I put my arm down on the table it would shake very noticeably, and while performing my work I would easily tire, and want to sit down and rest. A friend recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, so I secured some and took a treatment. It built me up and made me strong and healthy. I have not had a trace of the nervousness since. I have used Dr. Chase's Ointment also, and find that it heals the skin very quickly. In fact I find all of Dr. Chase's medicines good."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, a full treatment of 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute.

to make the payment, and A can recover the amount so paid in an action against B for 'money paid' at his request. In this case it is admitted that the late Mr. Davis endorsed the note in question which was subsequently endorsed by Manzer; that Davis was the party primarily liable; that the bank entered action against Manzer and compelled him to pay, which entitled him to recover against the Davis estate in an action for "Simply this," said MacKenzie, care-lessly as he rose to his feet. "I do not dispute my learned friend's law which is perfectly correct as a general proposition. But my learned friend, and I believe the Court," he added, a trifle scornfully, "have overlooked an especial feature of this case. The law, as stated by my learned friend, is that if one person is legally compelled to pay a debt for which another person is primarily liable, he has an action against that person for 'money paid,' but the fact that the other person is legally compellable to pay it is the foundation of the action, and if he is not in fact compellable to pay, then the action fails. In this case it is admitted by my learned friend that the note outlawed on the twenty-eighth day of November; the bank entered suit against client. It is simply a case of the over-reacher overreached."

"What'll your bill be?" queried the delighted Bowman as he and MacKenzie walked down the street.

"Wait till I look at my books," said MacKenzie, and when they reached the office he went to a little card index, ran over the contents and extracted a card from the M division.

"There's where I keep a list of the crooks I want to get even with," he explained. "Rather an odd index for a lawyer," laughed Bowman. "But I am an odd lawyer," defended MacKenzie; "and I never handle a case that don't enable me to trim some financial shark who's been cheating the public for

"Old Manzer fits that description, all right," said Bowman.

"Yes," agreed MacKenzie consulting the index card, "I find that I have here, John Manzer, general rogue and cheat, will give $200 for a chance to sting him. I think," he smiled, "that as you have given me that chance I'm really in your debt, but if agreeable to you we'll call it

A grimly humorous incident of the war is told in a letter written by a soldier to his mother in England:

"There's one chap in our company that's got a rippin' cure for neuralgia, but he isn't going to take out a patent Manzer on the twenty-fifth, but Manzer because it's too risky and might kill the did not pay the bank until the thirtieth. patient. Good luck's one of the ingre-

HAD A VERY BAD COLD and COUGH

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP CURED HER.

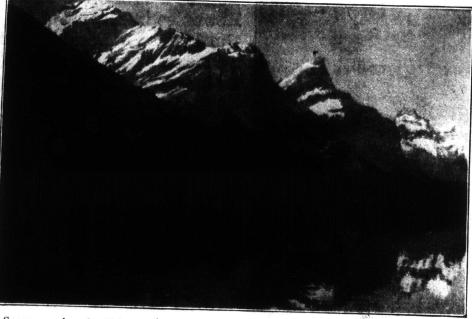

Mrs. C. Dresser, Bayfield, Ont., writes "I want to tell you of the benefit I got from your medicine.

Last winter I had a very bad cold and cough, but after taking two bottles of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup I was cured. I think it is about one of the best cough syrups that I know of. I always keep a bottle of it in the house so I can have it when I want it.

The other week I told an old lady about "Dr. Wood's." She had been sick for three weeks with bronchitis, and had been getting medicine from the doctor, but did not seem to be getting much better. She got one bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and she says it has done her more good than all the doctor's medicine she had been taking."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is rich in the lung healing virtues of the Norway pine tree, and this makes it the best remedy for coughs and colds.

The genuine is put up in a yellow wrapper; 3 pine trees the trade mark; price 25c. and 50c; manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

"Your point is certainly a novel one," said the Judge; "but it is entirely good law and judgment will be entered for the defendant.

"But it works a decided injustice to my client," expostulated Sutton, "as suit was entered against him by the bank within the proper time and he could not escape paying. Now by the decision of the Court he is prevented from recovering from the Davis estate and so must lose the money paid. The matter was delayed at Mr. Manzer's request in order to favor the estate as much as possible, and now he is punished for his generosity by losing the suit."

"He should have advised the bank to sue him sooner," retorted MacKenzie. "It is certainly startling to see Mr. Manzer filling the role of the injured innocence, but I do not think my learned friend need waste any sympathy on his

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 973D Marcellus Avenue, Manasquan, N.J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.
