It was not only officialdom that welcomed the Duke and Duchess of York to Canada. It was the whole Canadian people. A good deal of our interest centres around the Duchess, who, by her modest winning ways has quite won the hearts of Canada. Fanfan tells a pretty little story of her when a young princess of England, that reads like shade. one of the old romances of which the poets have delighted to sing :-Why was, a queen and kissed a poet once, Humpbacked, a dwarf?"

Habits Acquired by the Pecple Wh Work In Them. White arsenic is the form in which ar senir is taken by the peasants of Styria and the Tyrol. Professor Schallgrueber of Gaetz was the first to call attention to this practice in a report which he made in 1822 to the Austrian government on the cause of the numerous deaths from arsenic poisoning in those districts. H found that arsenic was kept in most of the houses in upper Styria under the name of "hydrach," evidently a corrup-tion of "huttenrauch," or furnace smoke. His statements made were subsequently confirmed from personal observation by Dr. McClagan of Edinburgh, but for many years afterward the arsenic eaters were generally disbelieved in, and it was not till 1860 that C. Heise published convincing evidence.

Arsenic is principally eaten by hunters and woodcutters with the object of warding off fatigue and improving their staying powers. Owing to the fact that the sale of arsenic is illegal in Austria with out a doctor's certificate it is difficult to obtain definite information of a habit which is kept as secret as possible. According to Dr. Lorenzo, in that district the arsenic is taken fasting, usually in cup of coffee, the first dose being minute but increased day by day until it some times amounts to the enormous dose of 12 or 15 grains. He found that the arsenic eaters were usually long lived, though liable to sudden death. They have a very fresh, youthful appearance and are seldom attacked by infectious dis-

After the first dose the usual symptoof slight arsenic poisoning are evident, but these soon disappear on continuing the treatment.

In the arsenic factories of Salzberg it is stated that workmen who are not arsenic eaters soon succumb to the fumes. The manager of one of these works informed Mr. Heise that he had been medically advised to eat arsenic before taking up his position. He considered that no one should begin the practice before 12 years old nor after 30 and that in any case after 50 years of age the daily dose should be gradually reduced, since otherwise sudden death would ensue. If a confirmed arsenic eater suddenly attempts to do altogether without the drug, he im mediately succumbs to the effects of arsenic poisoning. The only way to obviate this is gradually to acclimatize the system by reducing the dose from day to day. As another evidence of the cumulative properties of arsenic it is interest ing to note that when the graveyards i upper Styria are opened the bodies of the arsenic eaters can be distinguished by their almost perfect state of preservation, due to the gradually accumulated arsenic. -Science Gossip.

Pere Monsabre's Rebuke.

Pere Monsabre, the celebrated Domin can preacher, may appropriately be called the Father Burke of France. He is just as fend of a joke as was his famous Irish brother. A story of him is that one day as he was just going to preach a message came to him that a lady wanted to see him. She was worried about an affair of conscience; she felt she'd like to see him, etc. After much waste of time she came to the point. She was given up to vanity. That very morning she con fessed she had looked in her looking glass and yielded to the temptation of thinking herself pretty.

Pere Monsabre looked at her and said quietly, "Is that all?"

"That's all."

Forgot Her Lines.

A well known countess was announced to speak at a costers' gathering in the east end recently, so the little daughter of one of the costers—a flower seller—was deputed to present the countess on her arrival with a beautiful bouquet. The evening arrived, with an enthusi-astic audience in the hall, and presently the countess was announced.

The little girl, who had been coached as to what to say, walked along the platform to where her ladyship stood and in her confusion convulsed every one with laughter by shouting out:

"'Ere yer are, mum! Only a penny a bunch—market bunch for a penny!"

The countess smiled, accepted the flowers, and the child got the penny.
