APRIL.—By this time the Reciprocity Treaty between the United States and Canada may, or may not, have been renewed. If it should have been repealed, there is no just ground for supposing that Canada will be ruined, or that the interests of Canadian farmers will be sacrificed or materially retarded. A country like our own, true to itself and governed by wise men, will speedily recover from apparent reverses, and find abundant new channels and markets for its surplus produce. The truth is, it is never best to be dependent for prosperity on any one country. We read in a very ancient piece of History, that "Blastus, the King's Chamberlain, their friend, desired peace, because their country was nourished by the King's country." Yet there are things more valuable even than "peace."
