THE LIFE of LORD STRATHCONA and MOUNT ROYAL

(The Authorized Life)

Edited by BECKLES WILLSON $5.00
with 16 Photogravures. 700 pages. Cloth

This book is "the authorized life" of a great man and Empire-builder. A pioneer in the hardest sense, Donald Smith worked for years amid the perils of the bleak North-West during his earlier manhood, and later, exchanging a hard life for one yet more strenuous, he embarked upon a political career which led the way to his interest in the famous Railway. How much the almost unbelievable progress of Canada is due to the linking together of her prairies by the Canadian Pacific Railway is a matter which is forced home upon every student who reads the history of the Dominion in true focus, and how much the railway owed to Lord Strathcona is equally patent. His mind was built on Imperial lines. He was a big thinker and a man of very wide vision, who never truckled to money-power, but, having an honest conviction in his own common sense and well-balanced foresight, fought tooth and nail for what he felt was worth striving for—and got it. Incidentally his unusual talents were made more valuable to the Dominion by a strongly executive sense of patriotism which found outlet in "doing" as well as "saying." Some such broadly outlined picture of Lord Strathcona as the above is the general scheme of the book, and in the picture is a multitude of interesting personal details that go to make the portrait a living reality. The book abounds in letters and correspondence placed at the disposal of the author by Lord Strathcona's family, who has also given Mr. Willson the use of documents hitherto inaccessible.
