Savings Account
May Be
Small at First

But the noticeable feature of our Savings Accounts is that THEY GROW.

We are constantly opening accounts for small sums, but these rapidly increase to amounts that are pleasant for the Depositor to contemplate.

The first deposit acts as a magnet for the other odd amounts so apt to be wasted.

THE WATER-CARRIER.

India is such a hot country that water is a very delicious thing, and so in the Indian language they call the water-carrier the "heavenly one," or bihishti. The word for heaven is bihisht, and the word for water-carrier is bihishti.

This man carries a sort of leather sack under his arm, which is called a meshshuck. This sack is a complete skin of a goat or a calf, which has been pulled off the animal in such a way as to leave the skin nearly whole. The legs are tied upwards, and the water is filled into the skin through the neck, which is then twisted round and round and tied up with a bit of string.

The water-man has with him a bullock, which is also loaded with two large leathern bags of water. Each of these bags has a wide-open top, into which the water is poured, and also a small hole at the bottom, hindmost corner, from which the water can be drawn. For this complete load of water the man will earn the sum of one penny. If he is kept busy he can easily earn a shilling a day, but generally he only earns between fourpence and sixpence. On this sixpence a day he must feed himself and his bullock, and help to feed his family. His wife and children will all do work as well, and earn three-halfpence or a penny a day each, and so help to keep the pot full. This man is a Mohammedan by religion, but he is so ignorant that he knows nothing of what is written in his own sacred book, the Koran; and he is so superstitious that he will do worship at graves of dead men, lest their ghosts should rise and frighten him at night-time.

Tilting Experts for Toronto.

Experts at tilting are to be brought from England on purpose for the production of "Ivanhoe" at the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto. An actress famed for her beauty and talent will play Rowena, the Queen of Chivalry, and another will assume the part of Rebecca, the lovely black-eyed Jewess.

A PERSIAN HORSE.

"Persian horses," says Mrs. Bishop in "Journeys in Persia and Kurdistan," "are to be admired and liked. Their beauty is a source of constant enjoyment, and they are almost invariably gentle and docile. It is in vain to form any resolution against making a pet of one of them. My new acquisition 'Boy,' insists on being petted, and his enticing ways are irresistible. He is always tethered in front of my tent, with a rope long enough to give him considerable liberty, and he took advantage of it the very first day to come into the tent and make it apparent that he wanted me to divide a lemon with him. Grapes were his preference, then came cucumber, bread, and biscuits. Finally he drank milk out of a soup plate. He comes up to me and puts down his head to have his ears rubbed, and if I do not attend to him at once, or if I cease attending to him, he gives me a gentle but admonitory thump. I dine outside the tent and he is tied to my chair, and waits with wonderful patience for the odds and ends, only occasionally rubbing his soft nose against my face to remind me he is there. A friendly snuffle is the only sound he makes. He does not know how to fight, or that teeth and heels are for any other uses than eating and drinking and walking. He is really the gentlest and most docile of his race. The point at which he draws the line is being led; then he draws back and a mischievous look comes into his sweet eyes. But he follows like a dog, and when I walk he is always with me. He comes when I call him, stops when I do, accompanies when I leave the road in search of flowers, and usually puts his head either on my shoulder or under my arm. To him I am an embodiment of melons, cucumbers, grapes, peaches, biscuits, and sugar, with a good deal of petting and ear-rubbing thrown in."

A Million Dollars' Worth of Pictures

The pictures that have been loaned to the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, have been insured for upwards of a million dollars.

WHOSE HAPPINESS.

The small boy was drawing his still smaller neighbour along the walk in his little wagon. He looked up beaming, when a watchful face appeared at the doorway.

"I'm trying to make Fannie happy, aunt," he said.

"What a beautiful spirit for the child to have!" exclaimed the admiring aunt, as she closed the door.

But presently, as she gazed from the window, it seemed to her that the effort, however commendable, was not very successful.

Wee Fannie was evidently afraid to ride and was much more inclined to climb out of the wagon and draw it herself. This Master Robbie stoutly resisted.

"She doesn't like riding, Robbie," explained the aunt. "You must let her be horse if you want to make her happy."

"But I want to make her happy doin' things I like her to do," answered Robbie, with a very unamiable scowl.

Poor little boy! It was selfishness, after all.

A Purifier of the Blood

When searching for a blood-purifier in the spring people sometimes forget that the only way by which the blood can be purified is through the filtering process carried on by the liver and kidneys.

It is the special mission of the liver to remove the poisonous bile from the blood, while the kidneys eliminate the uric acid and similar poisons.

Because Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills thoroughly cleanse these filtering organs and set them in healthful activity, they are the most thoroughly satisfactory purifier of the blood you can possibly obtain.

Biliousness, indigestion, headaches, kidney derangements and constipation are among the most common results of torpid action of the liver and kidneys, and with the blood impure you are liable to attack from all sorts of contagious disease. You can thoroughly rid the system of all impurities which poison the blood by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.
