> Monday, July 10, 1916. The Situation.

The French and the British advance in the region of the Somme is proceeding with a deliberateness and thoroughness which both bespeak initial care and thorough preparation in connection with the undertaking. It is not turning out to be any flash in the pan, but a determined and wellsustained piece of work. From July 1st to July 7th the French report the capture of some 10,000 prisoners and the British 6,000. In addition both of the Allies have secured large quantities of war materials. The French are now opposite Peronne, and it is clear that the general attack is to be sus-

are more loath to tell the number of essential: their years than are the lords of creation. Many might be apt to exclaim that the number of more dangerous callings in which men are employed renders their mortality higher as a class. As an offset to this, however, there are the dangers of maternity, there are the dangers of maternity, and in addition it has been accurately and in addition it has been accurately demonstrated that it is more difficult to rear boy babies than girl ditto.

Mr. S. L. Rogers, director of the U.S. Census Bureau, has just issued a table of the expectation of life, taking the figures of the New England States as a basis. He finds that on the average women live a trifle more than three years longer than men. The figures show that nearly four-fifths of the violent deaths are of males, and in the did niche. These men will come back with new conceptions of life, with new ambitions, with higher ideals. The citizen of to-morrow will be a different man to the citithe violent deaths are of males, and in addition the death rate among boy babies during the first month of life is nearly 28 per cent. higher than girls, and during the first year 20 per cent. higher. Of 100,000 boy babies born alive 5 per cent. died within the first month and 12.6 within one year. Of 100,000 girl babies, less than 4 per cent. die the first month and 10.5 per cent. the first year. cent. the first year.
