Deputation Visits Ottawa in Matter of the Dover Swing Bridge

WINDHAM FOUNDLING Infant Left on Doorstep Now in Charge of Reeve Cunningham

NEWS FROM OVERSEAS Pte. Perry McKay Goes to Front; Pte. Roy Myers Killed

(From our own Correspondent) Simcoe, June 15.—A deputation, consisting of H. P. Innes, K.E., of Simcoe, and Jno. S. Martin, H. W. Ainsley and Capt. Robinson, of Port Dover, went to Ottawa last night to interview the powers that be regarding the swing bridge. The Warden, and Messrs. Cunningham and Walker, of the County Council, and Guy R. Marston, C.E., were on the ground on Thursday in accordance with a resolution passed last week while the council was in session. The engineer recommended some temporary makeshift supports for the present, just to keep the bridge out of the drink, but he considers anything like extensive repairs ill-advised. Apparently the matter has been shifted over from year to year till the old structure has apparently given its last penny worth of service. Later on, perhaps, a deputation from the county council will go to Ottawa, but any addition to the considerable sum spent up to the present in these trips to Mecca will hardly make a dint, so long as the Port Dover continues to be ignored, as has been the case for the last quarter of a century, and this by every branch of the government concerned, fisheries, marine, railways and canals, and public works departments, irrespective of the political complexion of those on the treasury benches. Of course, Dover got an appropriation which, up to the present, is a nice sounding word. The Galt council and board of trade are leaders in a movement calculated to inform the Government that there really is the making of a port at Dover, and a considerable population in the hinterland consuming annually a few tons of coal which might be brought over to Dover. Our advice is "keep knocking."

A Foundling at Teeterville
But Chairman Cunningham has other troubles than the Dover bridge. As Reeve of the Township of Windham, Theo. has been summoned to arrange for the care of a foundling, which was left on the doorstep of John Jackson's residence at Teeterville. The affair has caused more concern to the finder than his recent suit over the gasoline pump, but may turn out as well in the end. Theo. was in town yesterday morning and did not get the assistance which he might have expected. "What shall I do?" was his query to Crown Attorney Slight. "Why feed it, not too much at a time, and at the proper temperature. It will grow and will bring a little help on the farm. Take care of it and it will repay you. In a few years, with proper care, it will be a bright little fellow that the township will be proud of."

"But I do not want to come to town with a baby in my arms every time I have occasion to come down." The Attorney directed Mr. C. to the residence of the officer of the Children's Aid Society, and on the way he met Auctioneer Sam King. Sam's kindly smile bespoke sympathy and the Reeve unloaded his trouble as he requested further direction as to the abode of the child. "Put it up at 'Attabin' with Mr. King. Give me the particulars: how old is it?" "Don't know. I did not see its teeth, one little hand and a little and a little face was all I saw under the edge of a piece of rough woolen swaddling cloth. They say it is two or three days old." Arrived at the officer's home, Mr. Cunningham was advised that the rules of the Shelter put the age limit at one year, and he was directed to the President of the Society, Mr. Frank Reid. As Mr. Reid is in Montreal at the General Assembly, we lose Mr. Cunningham here.

The age limit at the county home is two years at least, and even were there no limit, special extra assistance would be required to care for the child there. But levity aside, Mr. Cunningham will find a home somewhere for the babe. There is a close in the neighborhood as to whence the babe came. It is suggested that some one may have come from a distance by auto with it. The babe was warmly wrapped in second hand underwear, and placed, before daylight at the doorstep as stated above. There was a feeding bottle containing a quantity of patent baby food, warm in the wrapping with it. The finder is proprietor of a public garage at Teeterville and a car stopping there at any time would attract no attention.

Overseas News
Miss Perry has had a letter from Mrs. McKay, now in England, stating that the latter's son, Pte. Perry McKay is now in France. The young lawyer was offered an office job in England, but declined, desiring rather to do his bit in the trenches with the boys.

Another Norfolk Casualty
Pte. Roy Myers, formerly of Delhi, is reported killed in action. He was a son of the late Wellington Myers of Windham Centre and a grandson of the late E. B. Myers, storekeeper of Lynnville. He was a member of Constable Street of Delhi, and married to Miss Quance, who with one child, mourns his death. He enlisted during the recruiting campaign here and boarded with Mr. Chas. Churchill, Colborne St., while in training here.

Simcoians with whom soldiers lodged while here in training, get scores of interesting letters from the front. Here are some snatches from a few received by members of our household from some of a bunch of ten boys, one of whom, Pte. Yeaten, has made the supreme sacrifice.

798553, Pte. J. Doyle Pew writes in part: I suppose you know long before this, that I got wounded on May 3th, early in the morning. My left arm is fractured just below the shoulder. I was struck with shrapnel. I am in a nice big hospital in London, getting the best of care and attention. The nurses are as kind as a mother would be. Be sure and write again soon.

796558 E. E. Muth, 123rd Canadian, E. B. P., France, writes: Jim and I are doing fine here. Crapper is here yet, I guess he is going in the bugle band. I saw Doyle the other night. Craine is looking good too, Hickman and Bill Buchner are over here somewhere

Yandals have smashed the brass from the frame of the swinging chairs recently donated to the Park Committee for the use of children. Dr. Richardson was in Ingersoll yesterday.

Mrs. I. McNally, encouraged in the matter of local physicians has fitted her residence at 90 Kent St. for hospital work, operative, emergency and maternity.

The circumstance goes to substantiate our reiterated claim that the North York should have a county hospital. The first operation was performed at Kent St. yesterday morning.

The work of connecting up the L. E. and N. track with the G. T. R. at Dover is under way.
