LT. COLONEL MATHESON.

The death of Lieut.-Col. Matheson, the Provincial Treasurer, will be sincerely mourned, not only by members of his own party but by those of the opposing side.

He was not a brilliant man in the sense of outstanding achievements. He was not even a brilliant debater, although in his quiet way he could make a point or when necessary demolish the strongest of his opponents. His quietness and modesty were his distinguishing characteristics.

For many years he had the somewhat needless role of main critic of the conditions and the proposed measures of Liberal governments. He always contended that the Government was entitled to a dollar's worth of value for every dollar expended, and when at last Sir James was and his colleagues came to power and he became called to the Provincial Treasurer he at once set to work to effect the views which he had previously so earnestly urged.

He was a man of a high character and a high sense of duty. He was a man of a high character and a high sense of duty. He was a man of a high character and a high sense of duty.

He was a man of a high character and a high sense of duty. He was a man of a high character and a high sense of duty. He was a man of a high character and a high sense of duty.

WHERE WOMEN VOTE

PARTIAL FRANCHISE IN MANY PARTS OF THE DOMINION.

Municipal Vote is the Only One Permitted to the Gentler Sex Under Canadian Law, But Wives are Debarred Except in Three British Columbia Cities and in Nova Scotia When They "Keep the House."

The cry of "Votes for Women" has swept around the world and there are few countries to-day where it is not a burning question or an accomplished fact. Eighty years ago women could not vote anywhere, except to a very limited extent in Sweden, and in a few other places in the old world, but since then the gains have been remarkable, though usually accomplished one step at a time—school suffrage, municipal suffrage, and finally the full Parliamentary vote. China is perhaps the only country where women have come into possession of equal suffrage with men without going through the preliminary stages. The other countries where women are now fully enfranchised are: Australia, New Zealand, Finland, Norway, Sweden, Iceland, the Isle of Man and the American States of Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, Washington and California. Ohio will probably be the next, as the bill for equal suffrage has passed both Houses and been referred to the people; while Kansas and Oregon are expected to follow soon.

It is important for Canadians to know just where they stand and what powers they already possess, for we are accustomed to hearing the rather vague statement that "Women possess the municipal franchise in Canada, but do not make much use of it." The limited municipal suffrage we already possess varies in the different provinces of the Dominion. In Prince Edward Island, Quebec, Alberta and Saskatchewan, widows and spinsters over 21 years of age who own property are entitled to the municipal vote.

In New Brunswick and Manitoba all widows and spinsters who are ratepayers to any extent have the municipal vote. In Ontario widows and spinsters who are assessed as owners or occupants of property to the value of $400, or income of not less than $400.

In the above-mentioned provinces a woman on marriage becomes enfranchised and her husband acquires the right to exercise the vote belonging to her property either by itself or in addition to his own; in British Columbia, however, a woman actually supports her husband and he has no property or income of his own, it is she who votes, while in all other provinces the husband and wife, in the same circumstances, are entitled to vote on his wife's property or income.

In Nova Scotia, the qualifications for widows and spinsters is property to the value of $150, or personal real property to the value of $300. In British Columbia widows and spinsters who own property are entitled to the municipal vote, and in Nova Scotia, the qualifications for widows and spinsters is property to the value of $150, or personal real property to the value of $300.

No woman in any of the provinces of Canada may hold any municipal office. This is very unusual, as in almost all countries where municipal franchises for women exist, they are entitled to hold office. In England there are three women mayors and three of the members of the London County Council are women. In Birmingham ten women were recently elected to the Board of Guardians. Of these two were unopposed, and the rest, with one exception, headed the polls. In Kansas there are 77 women holding elective offices in the state, two of whom are judges and one a mayor. Not a single instance of a woman defaulter, of careless or incorrect books, has ever been reported among women who hold county offices.

Widows and spinsters in all the provinces who are either holding independent property, or who are ratepayers, are entitled to vote for school boards. In addition to this a woman property owner in Ontario, Manitoba, Alberta, Saskatchewan, and British Columbia, is not disqualified through marriage from the exercise of the school franchise, as she is in other provinces.

British Columbia is the only province where (with the exception of Victoria, Vancouver, New Westminster and Nanaimo, where only women, both married and single, whose names are on the assessment rolls are entitled to vote) wives of voters in school districts have the right to vote for and to serve as school trustees without having to possess separate property or income of their own. It is therefore the only part of Canada where mothers, as mothers, and not as property owners, have the right to control the education of their children.

The great argument against giving women a fuller franchise is that they do not make use of the privileges they already possess. To this we may answer that the majority of women possess that right only when they are too young or too old to exercise it. At twenty-one few women—or men either, for that matter—take an interest in politics, and the majority of widows are old or infirm, and having been debarred of this privilege for the greater part of their lives, have ceased to care for it.

Prisoners Were Happy. Wild turkeys and wild partridges, ducks, geese and other birds helped make the prisoners at "Hanna Farm," at Port William, happy on Christmas Day. The dinner was of more than an ordinary character, and the fowl was game of the finest kind. All this was taken by the prisoners during the proper season in clearing up the one thousand acres just north of the city, and of which three hundred and fifty acres have been cleared and planted.

Canadians are not a sea-going people, and the discipline of a British Man of War is of a necessarily extreme nature. For Laurier's toy navy Canadians serving have totalled 402 and English serving 60. To man three Dreadnoughts with no one but Canadians is about as fool an idea as any party press ever formulated. That Canada could supply thousands of such men off-hand is buncombe. Such a number might be trained up later, but certainly not for some years. In the States for example men of all nations form a large proportion of the crews, mainly for the

FUR SMARTNESS.

THE MORNING HUSTLE

From the slumber quarters all over the house, all roads lead to the dining room in the morning. And everybody's on the road!

Are you ready for them when they reach their goal? You will be—always—if you serve a Tillson's Rolled Oats breakfast.

It's only a trifling little matter of 15 minutes to cook Tillson's. Those even flakes of filmy thinness just can't help cooking through and through in a "jiffy."

And the porridge—how good!—how nourishing!

From a famous furrier comes this chic set of sealskin, which includes a typical French cap, the design used by a Parisian dressmaker, a long flat scarf and a big muff. The scarf and muff show a mosaic arrangement of the fur, while the cap is of seal and brown satin.

DAMES AND DAUGHTERS.

Iowa is to have a woman overseer of the poor in the person of Miss Adah Hopkins, formerly secretary of the New York school of philanthropy. Mrs. Elizabeth Leavitt of California at the age of ninety-four cast her first vote for president of the United States at the recent election. Mrs. Leavitt is a native of New Hampshire.

The war in the Balkans has given the world its first woman war correspondent, Miss Mary Dunham, who at the age of ninety-four cast her first vote for president of the United States at the recent election. Mrs. Leavitt is a native of New Hampshire.

The richest woman in Europe, next to Frau Krupp von Bohlen, owes her fortune to the beet sugar industry. Mrs. Leubaudy, mother of Jacques, emperor of Sahara, is worth at least $40,000,000. She holds her wealth in horror and lives under an assumed name in order to avoid publicity. Her residence all the year round is a small flat in Versailles, where the domestic staff consists of one servant, who is assisted in the work by her mistress. Mme. Leubaudy gives away pretty nearly the whole of her income.

Take your Choice. Tightwad—Is there anything more heartrending than to have a wife who can cook, but won't do it? Dyspeptic—Yes; to have one that can't cook and will do it.
