

THE HERALD

WEDNESDAY, AUG. 13th, 1902. SUBSCRIPTION—$1.00 A YEAR, PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY. JAMES MCISAAC, Editor & Proprietor.

Once more we call the attention of our subscribers to our new arrangement in the matter of paying subscriptions. Payment in advance is now the rule and we wish all whom it concerns to bear this well in mind.

Coronation of the King.

It is most pleasing to be able to convey to our readers the joyful intelligence that His Majesty, King Edward was solemnly crowned at Westminster on Saturday last.

LIBERALS AND AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS. The farmer should remember that, one of the strongest pledges given by the Liberal party was to wipe out the duty on agricultural implements.

Ottawa Weekly Letter.

What is to be the policy of the Laurier government in regard to manufacturers, when Parliament meets in 1903? During the session of 1902 Hon. W. S. Fielding announced that the claims of the Canadian producer would be considered, and, if the government saw fit, changes might be made in the tariff to meet the changing needs of the country.

Is it not for the government of the day to assure certain responsibilities? The Liberals, however, have shirked their duty in this regard. They have allowed Canadian producers to be discriminated against by Germany; they have looked idly on while the surplus goods of the United States have poured into our markets; they have allowed the Yorkshire woolen worker to drive Canadians to the United States; and their only answer to the criticisms showered upon them is that the country is prosperous.

There is no regret expressed that golden opportunities have been allowed to slip through their fingers. The question now is, as to the future. The manufacturer has therefore to satisfy himself as to the likelihood of a healthy and progressive policy being inaugurated by the Liberal party.

The service commenced with the consecration of the regalia. The procession of the clergy with the regalia then proceeded from the altar to the choir singing, "O God our Help in Ages Past." Proceeding the regalia came the boys of Westminster Abbey, followed by the choir of the cathedral royal and the choir in royal uniforms.

King Edward Crowned. Full Description of the Ceremony. The following message, written by the King himself was made public on the eve of the Coronation:— To My People: On the eve of my coronation, an event which I look upon as one of the most solemn and important in my life, I am anxious to express to my people at home and in the Colonies and in India, my heartfelt appreciation of the deep sympathy which they have manifested towards me during the time that my life was in such imminent danger.

The King entered in firm, strong tones; "I am willing," his replies being easily heard high up in the triforium, near the roof. Then the King stood and raised his right hand to the cross and signed the oath. He did not advance to the altar but sat in the chair he had occupied since the service began. While the choir sang Come, Holy Ghost, Our Heavenly Father, the King remained seated and the Queen stood up.

As the acclamation died away the clanging of the jing bells, the noise of guns and the shouting of the people outside penetrated into the abbey, where the King still sat motionless, his smiling crown on his head and his hands held firmly in his lap.

where the King still sat motionless, his smiling crown on his head and his hands held firmly in his lap. After singing the Magnificat and the Gloria, the King advanced and knelt while he received the benediction. He then walked to the great throne, where he stood on the dais for the first time surrounded by nobles. The Archbishop of Canterbury followed the King being obliged to stand while awaiting the arrival of the Archbishop.

The Duke of Norfolk (as earl marshal), accompanied by representatives of each grade of the nobility, beginning: "I, duke or earl, do become your liege man of life and limb, etc." The respective representatives next touched the crown and kissed the King's cheek, the Duke of Norfolk being the only peer to read the oath. This portion of the ceremony was considerably shortened.

Several minutes elapsed, however, before the King and Queen came in sight of those gathered about the throne. Suddenly "Viva Alexandra" was shouted by the boys of Westminster, and the Queen, walking slowly to the left of the throne, gained her chair and knelt at a silver pipe dien, her Majesty's train of cloth of gold being lifted off her way by six scarlet coated pages.

Coronation Day in Charlottetown. Coronation Day was celebrated in Charlottetown in lively style. It was the gayest holiday that we have had for many a day and seldom or never did enthusiasm run higher. The weather was perfect. Besides the many hundreds of people from the different parts of the country, the city was thronged with visitors from places beyond this Province, all eager to take part in the fest. The day's proceedings opened with a royal salute from Fort Edward at seven o'clock in the morning, by No. 2 Co., 4th Regiment of artillery.

The following message, written by the King himself was made public on the eve of the Coronation:— To My People: On the eve of my coronation, an event which I look upon as one of the most solemn and important in my life, I am anxious to express to my people at home and in the Colonies and in India, my heartfelt appreciation of the deep sympathy which they have manifested towards me during the time that my life was in such imminent danger.

As the acclamation died away the clanging of the jing bells, the noise of guns and the shouting of the people outside penetrated into the abbey, where the King still sat motionless, his smiling crown on his head and his hands held firmly in his lap. The Archbishop of Canterbury followed the King being obliged to stand while awaiting the arrival of the Archbishop.

After singing the Magnificat and the Gloria, the King advanced and knelt while he received the benediction. He then walked to the great throne, where he stood on the dais for the first time surrounded by nobles. The Archbishop of Canterbury followed the King being obliged to stand while awaiting the arrival of the Archbishop.

The Duke of Norfolk (as earl marshal), accompanied by representatives of each grade of the nobility, beginning: "I, duke or earl, do become your liege man of life and limb, etc." The respective representatives next touched the crown and kissed the King's cheek, the Duke of Norfolk being the only peer to read the oath. This portion of the ceremony was considerably shortened.

Several minutes elapsed, however, before the King and Queen came in sight of those gathered about the throne. Suddenly "Viva Alexandra" was shouted by the boys of Westminster, and the Queen, walking slowly to the left of the throne, gained her chair and knelt at a silver pipe dien, her Majesty's train of cloth of gold being lifted off her way by six scarlet coated pages.

Coronation Day in Charlottetown. Coronation Day was celebrated in Charlottetown in lively style. It was the gayest holiday that we have had for many a day and seldom or never did enthusiasm run higher. The weather was perfect. Besides the many hundreds of people from the different parts of the country, the city was thronged with visitors from places beyond this Province, all eager to take part in the fest. The day's proceedings opened with a royal salute from Fort Edward at seven o'clock in the morning, by No. 2 Co., 4th Regiment of artillery.

The following message, written by the King himself was made public on the eve of the Coronation:— To My People: On the eve of my coronation, an event which I look upon as one of the most solemn and important in my life, I am anxious to express to my people at home and in the Colonies and in India, my heartfelt appreciation of the deep sympathy which they have manifested towards me during the time that my life was in such imminent danger.

As the acclamation died away the clanging of the jing bells, the noise of guns and the shouting of the people outside penetrated into the abbey, where the King still sat motionless, his smiling crown on his head and his hands held firmly in his lap. The Archbishop of Canterbury followed the King being obliged to stand while awaiting the arrival of the Archbishop.

After singing the Magnificat and the Gloria, the King advanced and knelt while he received the benediction. He then walked to the great throne, where he stood on the dais for the first time surrounded by nobles. The Archbishop of Canterbury followed the King being obliged to stand while awaiting the arrival of the Archbishop.

The Duke of Norfolk (as earl marshal), accompanied by representatives of each grade of the nobility, beginning: "I, duke or earl, do become your liege man of life and limb, etc." The respective representatives next touched the crown and kissed the King's cheek, the Duke of Norfolk being the only peer to read the oath. This portion of the ceremony was considerably shortened.

Several minutes elapsed, however, before the King and Queen came in sight of those gathered about the throne. Suddenly "Viva Alexandra" was shouted by the boys of Westminster, and the Queen, walking slowly to the left of the throne, gained her chair and knelt at a silver pipe dien, her Majesty's train of cloth of gold being lifted off her way by six scarlet coated pages.

Coronation Day in Charlottetown. Coronation Day was celebrated in Charlottetown in lively style. It was the gayest holiday that we have had for many a day and seldom or never did enthusiasm run higher. The weather was perfect. Besides the many hundreds of people from the different parts of the country, the city was thronged with visitors from places beyond this Province, all eager to take part in the fest. The day's proceedings opened with a royal salute from Fort Edward at seven o'clock in the morning, by No. 2 Co., 4th Regiment of artillery.

The following message, written by the King himself was made public on the eve of the Coronation:— To My People: On the eve of my coronation, an event which I look upon as one of the most solemn and important in my life, I am anxious to express to my people at home and in the Colonies and in India, my heartfelt appreciation of the deep sympathy which they have manifested towards me during the time that my life was in such imminent danger.

As the acclamation died away the clanging of the jing bells, the noise of guns and the shouting of the people outside penetrated into the abbey, where the King still sat motionless, his smiling crown on his head and his hands held firmly in his lap. The Archbishop of Canterbury followed the King being obliged to stand while awaiting the arrival of the Archbishop.

After singing the Magnificat and the Gloria, the King advanced and knelt while he received the benediction. He then walked to the great throne, where he stood on the dais for the first time surrounded by nobles. The Archbishop of Canterbury followed the King being obliged to stand while awaiting the arrival of the Archbishop.

The Duke of Norfolk (as earl marshal), accompanied by representatives of each grade of the nobility, beginning: "I, duke or earl, do become your liege man of life and limb, etc." The respective representatives next touched the crown and kissed the King's cheek, the Duke of Norfolk being the only peer to read the oath. This portion of the ceremony was considerably shortened.

Several minutes elapsed, however, before the King and Queen came in sight of those gathered about the throne. Suddenly "Viva Alexandra" was shouted by the boys of Westminster, and the Queen, walking slowly to the left of the throne, gained her chair and knelt at a silver pipe dien, her Majesty's train of cloth of gold being lifted off her way by six scarlet coated pages.

Coronation Day in Charlottetown. Coronation Day was celebrated in Charlottetown in lively style. It was the gayest holiday that we have had for many a day and seldom or never did enthusiasm run higher. The weather was perfect. Besides the many hundreds of people from the different parts of the country, the city was thronged with visitors from places beyond this Province, all eager to take part in the fest. The day's proceedings opened with a royal salute from Fort Edward at seven o'clock in the morning, by No. 2 Co., 4th Regiment of artillery.

The following message, written by the King himself was made public on the eve of the Coronation:— To My People: On the eve of my coronation, an event which I look upon as one of the most solemn and important in my life, I am anxious to express to my people at home and in the Colonies and in India, my heartfelt appreciation of the deep sympathy which they have manifested towards me during the time that my life was in such imminent danger.

As the acclamation died away the clanging of the jing bells, the noise of guns and the shouting of the people outside penetrated into the abbey, where the King still sat motionless, his smiling crown on his head and his hands held firmly in his lap. The Archbishop of Canterbury followed the King being obliged to stand while awaiting the arrival of the Archbishop.

The Top in Quality!

We aim to supply our customers with the best of everything in our line and at the right prices. This accounts in a great measure for our growing trade. Teas and Coffee. A word about our Tea and Coffee: In no part of Canada is there more Tea consumed in proportion to population than in P. E. Island, and in no other part of Canada is Tea sold as cheap. We pay particular attention to this branch of our business. Our "Eureka Blend" is having a very large sale. This Tea we have blended especially for our retail trade, and we claim that there is no better Tea on the market at 25 cents per lb. Our customers speak highly of it.

COFFEE.—We want your coffee trade. We handle the celebrated Chase and Sandborne Coffee, which have a high reputation. We have placed in our store a new Coffee Mill and grind the Coffee fresh for you at time of purchase. This insures you purity and strength. Highest Price Paid for Eggs. We are Agents for Mill View Carding Mills. R. F. Maddigan & Co. ITS Money Saved TO BUY YOUR Summer Furnishings At D. A. BRUCE'S. Besides the satisfaction gained in receiving just what you desire in the very latest and most novel styles of Ties, Underwear, Hats, Straw and Felt, the newest patterns for Negligee and Outings. Summer Hosiery in black and stripes. Don't forget we sell

READY-MADE CLOTHING Of our own manufacture for less money than is asked for imported goods. Wool Wanted D. A. BRUCE. Our Specialties. Gothic Windows, Stairs, Stair Rails, Balusters, Newel Posts, Kilm Dried Clear Spruce, Sheathing and Clapboards. GIVE US A CALL. Robert Palmer & Co., Peake's No. 3 Wharf. Charlottetown, P. E. Island. July 2, 1902—y

Robert Palmer & Co., Charlottetown Sash and Door Factory. With experienced workmen and first-class machinery, we are prepared to supply contractors and others with Doors and Frames, Sashes and Frames, Interior and Exterior Finish, etc., etc. GIVE US A CALL. Robert Palmer & Co., Peake's No. 3 Wharf. Charlottetown, P. E. Island. July 2, 1902—y

P. E. ISLAND Agricultural & Industrial EXHIBITION! CHARLOTTETOWN, From September 23rd to 26th. Open to Maritime Provinces. The Largest Prize List Yet. Over $8,000 Offered in Prizes. There will also be a number of interesting specialties. Live Stock, Dairy Products, Poultry, Fruit, Flowers and Manufactures. Entries close 16th September; other entries close 9th September. Live Stock judges will explain their awards. Illustrated lectures by experts on agricultural subjects almost all the time. A large lecture room provided on the grounds. 2-DAYS HORSE RACING-2 24th and 25th Sept. $1,250 IN PURSES. The fastest classes ever started on the island. Cheap rates on railways and steamboats for exhibits. The very lowest excursion rates on all railways and steamboats for visitors. For entry forms, prize lists, race programmes and all information address the secretary. F. L. HASZARD, C. R. SMALLWOOD, President, Sec'y Treas. Aug. 6, 1902—ji

JAS. KELLY & CO. Charlottetown, P. E. I. THE GRAND TEA! CAFE, Queen Street. (Next Prowse Bros.) YOU can get a good dinner at the above Cafe for only 15 cents. Also a large bill of fare to choose from. We make a specialty of baked beans, meat pies, Ham-burgh steak and onions. Sirloin steak always on hand. Try our Ice Cream, Pastry and Cake on the premises. JAS. LONERGAN, Proprietor. In a field adjoining the church. The tables will be beautifully supplied, the saloon well stocked, and the usual amusements provided. The many friends of the late Father Francis and Father McPhee will thus have an opportunity of seeing the monument that marks their graves in the cemetery here by, and which was imported from Paris last fall at a cost of $500. Captain Dan McDonald will ferry passengers at Poplar Point in lots of fifty in his splendid new yacht the "Rio Grande," free. Tea on the tables at noon. Tickets 25 cents. BY ORDER. St. George's, Lot 55, July 30, 1902—3d

St. George's, Lot 55, Monday, August 18th, 1902. BY ORDER. St. George's, Lot 55, July 30, 1902—3d