Notes on the Patriotic Tour. The Meeting at Harbor Breton.

L. C. H. CHAPTER XV.

On arriving at Harbour Breton we found that Magistrate Vail had all arrangements completed for our meeting, and that he had selected the Parish Hall for the purpose, and had spread the news far and near in our favour. This proved a great benefit and when the meeting was called to order, every seat was filled and very many people were standing in the rear of the building. The Magistrate acted as Chairman and spoke very highly of what was being done for the Empire, and assured the visitors of his own personal loyalty, and of the support of the people of Harbour Breton.

All the speaking at this meeting was very good, and the music of the pipes, as usual, was highly enjoyed, and though there was but one volunteer there were impressions made which cannot be easily forgotten. Men, women, and children, were in earnest to hear something new upon the war, and while they had been well instructed by the leaders of the place, there was still plenty of room for our meeting accomplished. The local Patriotic Association, and especially the ladies' branch of it, had done excellent work, and too much praise cannot be given the good ladies of our country in general for the splendid service which they have rendered.

At many homes along our tour we saw the women and girls busily engaged as they plied their knitting needles, and checked off how much they had done towards the comfort of our boys at the front. At Harbour Breton the good work of the ladies seemed to have come more prominently before us, and their zeal was very frank indeed. To make the most of our meeting we held it at the close of the meeting, and we are pleased to say that the tables were liberally patronized, and that the good ladies came out victorious in their enterprise.

When our meeting was over our good captain made preparations for getting under weigh. Just as a signal for help was heard and our good captain readily responded to the call. It was from a banking schooner which had grounded while making port at midnight. In a short time the lines and cables were sent out and every preparation to float the vessel was provided. The first attempt was fruitless as the cables snapped and the strain increased, but in a short time a new cable was borrowed from a sister ship nearby, and in the meantime seven dory-loads of salt had been removed from the stranded ship, and then a steady pull from the Fiona soon placed the schooner in safe anchorage. The ship was not damaged but was able to resume her voyage without any undue delay. The Fiona has many good marks to her account in rendering help to disabled vessels but we do not hear much about it—she seems to be like many of our public men, the good is seldom spoken of, but their failures are shouted from the house tops.

The Fiona can well afford to take a leaf out of the Strathcona's log book, and tell the public what she is doing. As I have stated, our party joined the Fiona at Channel where she had just arrived from Bay of Islands, at which place she had done good service, and had towed a large schooner of one hundred and forty tons register, and carrying near two hundred tons of coal, from Bonne Bay to the latter place. The weather at the time being severe the Fiona had a very difficult task, but Captain English stuck to his post and accomplished his task. Not only did this mean a good deal to the schooner, as it brought her to an open port, but it also meant a great deal to Bay of Islands where the two hundred tons of coal were necessary for the winter consumption.

When at Ramea an urgent call for a doctor reached Capt. English and the nearest place at which one could be procured was Burgeo, a distance of about twelve miles. The good captain immediately got up full steam, and hastened off and about three hours afterwards was back to Ramea with a doctor on board. On the surface of it there may not appear to be much in these things, but in reality they represent a great deal that is humane and good.

Just before leaving Harbour Breton the Glouce arrived, and left port shortly after our departure. Near English Harbour she overtook us, and for a while the two ships steamed along broad sides. The scene was very interesting, the day being fine and the sea smooth there was every opportunity for the passengers to keep on deck. To enliven the scene the pipers rendered some of their best selections, and for the space of half an hour a very pleasant time was spent by both ships' companies. It was a rather unusual sight to see along our coast in mid-winter; and the smoke belching from the two ships and the nearby cliffs of Fortune Bay in relief, and the weird notes of the pipers, gave a picture and a study that was of interest to all.

ANOTHER DEFEAT FOR THE TURKS.
Petrograd, Feb. 23.—The reinforced Turkish army that is renewing its offensive against the Russians has met with another reverse, according to official advices received from Tiflis today. The commander of the Russian army in the Caucasus reported to the War Office that the Ottoman troops had been repulsed in the Transcaucasian region on Sunday, being driven back across the Oly-Tchai.

CONTROLLING LOANS.
London Daily Mail.—The annual surplus of the British public in normal times may reach 300 millions sterling. But these times are not normal, and some diminution in the capital available for investment is to be expected, so that there may be no great margin left between the sum annually saved and that needed to meet the outlay in the fight for freedom. Abroad in Germany and France loans are not permitted without the authorization of the Government.

Here is a Short Sharp Statement.

IT SHOWS THAT DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS ARE NO FAITH CURE.

Patrice Cote had Kidney Disease—He sent for Dodd's Kidney Pills just to Try Them—They made Him Well. Petite Vallee, Gaspé Co., Que., March 3. (Special.)—Patrice Cote, well known here, makes the following statement: "For five months I suffered from Kidney Disease. I sent for two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills to try them. They made me well."

Mr. Cote's experience is similar to that of scores of others in their neighborhood. They had Kidney Disease, they tried Dodd's Kidney Pills and they found health. They have proved for themselves that no matter how far advanced the Kidney Disease is, the cure is the same—Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are no faith cure; neither are they any cure-all. Thousands of sufferers have tried them who had little faith in them. They found the cure just the same. Dodd's Kidney Pills simply cure the Kidneys. To be sure you hear of them curing Rheumatism, Dropsy, Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Gravel and other diseases, but that is because these are all diseases of the Kidneys or caused by sick Kidneys. The natural way to cure them is to cure the Kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills cure the Kidneys.

Bruce Reaches Trepassay.

The Reid Nfd. Co. were advised by the Postal Telegraphs last night that their steamers Bruce, Glouce and Home were at Trepassay, having arrived there during the afternoon. The ship is now twelve days on the run from Port aux Basques, nine days of which was spent at St. Lawrence. The ships will remain at Trepassay until the wind changes, and under favorable conditions the run from that port to St. John's should be made in about ten or twelve hours.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES COLDS, Etc.

"OURS" IN THE WEST END.

Crowded to the doors at every performance is Ours of the West End. Mr. Rossley hopes to have his East End Theatre ready by Easter and it will be the best place in town when the alterations are completed; it can't be finished in time for St. Patrick's Day but they will give their usual attractive show just the same. Mr. Rossley could not have those extensive alterations made at any other time, it also means work for quite a goodly number of people, painters, carpenters, decorators, electricians, scrubbers and others. It long needed this attention and now all connected are working hard to try and have it complete by Easter. We think there are other surprises in store for patrons.

At the sides of the skirts the greatest changes have taken place. Gathers, plaits, circular insets and even pockets are introduced.
