Mutineers Gave Up German Sub.

Panic Stricken Over Attack by British Patrol Boat, Crew Killed the Officers—Surrendered to Pursuer—Incident Recounted as an Evidence of Badly Broken Morale of Men on Submersibles.

(From a Private Letter.)

London, March 9.—A thrilling tale of panic aboard a German submarine that had its climax in the murder of some of its officers by frenzied members of the crew, the suicide of other officers, and the surrender of the crew to a British patrol boat was related to-day by a high official. The crew is now in a London jail, and the British authorities have affidavits from some of them that makes a vivid chapter of submarine life.

As related to me, the insurrection aboard the submarine was the outcome of badly broken morale on the part not only of the crew, but of the officers. My informant stated that this was not the first instance the British Admiralty had come upon of wavering morale among German submarine crews, but it was assuredly the most flagrant.

"Naturally submarine crews work at terrific tension," he said. "To get accurate results they must work perfectly, with clock-like precision, and the work must be uninterceptedly expert. With the morale of the submarine crew shattered, expert work disappears and the submarine becomes powerless. That is what happened in the case in point."

Attacked British Trawler.

The German submarine somewhere off the Irish coast attacked a British trawler. It had fired one torpedo, which missed its mark, and was preparing to fire another when a British patrol steamed up. The patrol fired a shot that went just over the top of the submarine. It splashed in the water beyond.

The submarine started off, its commander evidently not wanting to fight.

Hr. Grace Notes.

Miss Ella Parsons, of Bear's Cove, died there early yesterday morning after a long illness.

Quite a number of passengers went out by this morning's train, mostly en route to St. John's, taking advantage of the Easter excursion rates. They return by Monday night's train.

Mr. Gilbert Parsons, an old resident of Bear's Cove, is now confined to his home very sick. We hope the old gentleman will soon show signs of improvement.

The many friends of Mrs. Maurice Connell, both in Harbour Grace and elsewhere will learn with regret of an accident that befel her on Wednesday week last, rendering her completely helpless for the present. Mrs. Connell was in the act of crossing the yard at the rear of her house when she slipped and fell injuring the muscles of her right leg to such an extent that she was unable to get up. Mrs. C. who was a very active woman, ever ready to assist to the full extent of her power all who in any way needed her help, will be greatly missed, and it is earnestly to be hoped that her condition will soon improve.

Yesterday, through the kindness of Mr. W. Smith, contractor, we were shown through the new house being built for Mr. R. S. Munn. The house is on the cottage plan with an octagon bay window extending to the tower. We were particularly struck with the chance that Old Sol will have of peeping in to every room during the greater part of the day. The workmanship is all that can be desired. This is almost needless to say, when a man of Mr. Smith's experience and ability is in charge of the work. We congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Munn on their splendid house, and wish them very many years to enjoy prosperity there. We also congratulate the builder, Mr. Smith, on his good work, and hope we may soon learn of other buildings being put up here, so as to keep the genial contractor with us for another term.

The S. S. Bloodhound arrived in the offing on Thursday night, and remained there all day yesterday being unable to force her way through the ice to the harbor. A number of the crew walked ashore yesterday and returned to the ship again last night.

Your Boys and Girls.

In contrast with the boy who knows how to fight and when not to is the case of one who would not fight under any circumstances. This boy was the delight of a dozen tormentors, who would chase him after school until he took refuge in some store, from which he would telephone home to his mother to come and fetch him.

The Principal of a large city school tells me that he finds among the parents of his pupils just two attitudes towards children's fighting: Either they encourage the fighting instinct without regard to circumstances or they lay down the rule that their boys must never fight. One attitude is just as arbitrary as the other, and neither fits all cases. Some boys need just as much to be discouraged in their belligerent activities. Each individual has to be judged by himself. And each boy has to learn to judge each fighting opportunity by itself.

The moral effect of one's attitude toward fighting is even more important than the physical effect. While aggressive combativeness is to be discouraged, we should try to retain enough of the fighting instinct in each child to make sure that the young people do not grow up with a soft indifference to injustice.

Dr. Wilson's HERBINE BITTERS

Try "Cascarets" for Liver and Bowels If Sick or Bilious

Tonight! Clean your bowels and stop headache, colds, sour stomach.

Get a 10-cent box now.

Turn the rascals out—the headache, biliousness, indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and bad colds—turn them out to-night and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lax liver, clogged bowels, or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse your stomach; remove the sour, fermenting food; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret to-night straightens you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love Cascarets because they never gripe or sicken.

General Meeting and Trophy Night.

This Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock the Curliers meet for their General Meeting when the President, Mr. Cowan, will deliver the season's report which promises to be interesting. The Secretary-Treasurer's account will also be presented and then the Trophies and prizes won during the winter will be presented. The Committee this year decided to hold the General Meeting of the Association and Trophy night together. The President will be assisted by Honorary Presidents Chas. R. Duder and H. W. LeMessurier and Past President Hon. J. R. Bennett. The musical is in charge of Mr. F. V. Chesman, and no doubt a good programme has been prepared. The Curliers always look forward with pleasure to this gathering and no doubt to-night's meeting will be very interesting and enjoyable. The Curliers season (1917) has been a very successful one and we hope to publish the President's report in full, which is the 7th Annual Report of the Association.

What a Gas Range Means for You, Mrs. Housekeeper.

The gas range is a muscle saver and a step saver. Think of the many tons of coal you used in that coal range, and how you have had to handle it all twice—first, carrying it up out of the cellar; then, from the kitchen to the ash barrel.

No more soot to wipe away; no more ashes to cart away; no more wood to fetch; no more coal dust; no more smoke and no more reason why the kitchen cannot be kept as clean and as orderly as the parlor. The gas range means just this.

Saves 50 Per Cent. of Kitchen Cares.

Half of the labor in the house is caused by dust from the coal range. Every time it smokes, no matter how good the range may be, clouds of ashes rise and settle on the furniture.

It Eliminates Hard Work. Use a gas range and you will live better, you will play better, and you will work better because the use of the gas range eliminates the drudgery of carrying coal, ashes and the chopping of kindling, as well as the drudgery of cleaning up a lot of dirt, and, best of all, for the cook it makes it unnecessary for her to stand over a hot stove from two to three hours a day.

GETTING THIN.

I dieted for weeks to lose my surplus weight; I lived on bran and leeks, with now and then a date. I filled my poor old crop with things I hate to eat, and drank denatured slop until I had cold feet. No good things did I taste, my richest food was hay; and soon my ample waist began to shrink away. I lost my double chin, at which I gladly laughed; I said, "It surely wins, this non-starch diet graft." I thought my friends would note the changes I could see, and much warm praise devote, and much applause, to me. But they would say, "Old scout, you're sickly; it appears, since last you were about, you've aged a hundred years. Your face is white as chalk, you've shrunk a lot, in weight; you ought to see the doc, before it is too late." I've found that portly gents who diet to get thin, will look like twenty cents, and feel much worse than sin. And so once more I eat the things that please the eye; the large thick slab of meat, the rich and gaudy pie.
