In spite of the intense cold of Sunday, December 29, the funeral of the late Robert J. Cooke was largely attended. The arrangements were carried out under the direction of the L.O.O.M. Representatives of the K. of P., Pythian Sisters and the G.W.V.A. were present with floral tributes. Mrs. Cooke and family desire to thank all for sympathies and floral tribute, especially the Loyal Order of Moose for their kindness in directing affairs.

Recent word from Spokane says that E. C. Olsen, better known in Fernie as "Stoney," has secured a big two million dollar logging contract in Priest River, Washington and is in a fair way to clean up a nice little stake. When "Stoney" left Fernie a few years ago, he was broke, but not down and out. He went down into the Big Bend country in Oregon where he grubbed around for about a year and then came back to Spokane, where he applied for a job with the Diamond Match Company. He was offered a job at $75 per month in a bush camp. "Stoney" remarked that this was not a very husky salary to keep a family on, but if there was any chance for a raise, he would take it on. The manager told him to go to it. Once a week the boss came around and looked him up and every time he came "Stoney" got a raise. He worked like a trojan and made good at every job he was put on. At the end of the first year he was drawing down a salary of $5000. The management of the company became vacant shortly after and he was recommended for job. He made good and it was through his association with this concern that he recently was able to secure the big logging contract and put him in a position where he may be able to clean up a real stake. All "Stoney's" old friends here wish him every success.

The City Police raided the premises of Alf Dragon, on Victoria Ave., last Tuesday and found sixteen bottles of beer and three bottles of liquor cunningly hidden under the cellar floor. The police had just about given up the search after tapping walls, flooring, etc., for false panelling, when Constable Davis discovered a hole in the flooring of the cellar under the stairway. Upon removing considerable rubbish the Constable discovered the liquor, which was promptly confiscated. This case has not, as yet, come up for trial.

Dr. King's non-committal answer to the rumor that he may not be a candidate in this riding at the next federal election, will give rise to disquieting questions as to whether the East Kootenay riding is to be sacrificed for the sake of gratifying ambitions that the Coast entertains of getting a minister into a seat there, for reasons that can be imagined, and which probably have some backing at Ottawa. This is either the case, or in view of the feeling at Fernie over the Home Bank debacle, and the result of the Cranbrook by-election, it is no longer considered a safe seat.—Cranbrook Herald.
