Why should he not? Why, indeed, should not the King himself, the Queen, and the Prince and Princess of Wales make frequent visits to the dominions beyond the seas? They would do incalculable good by keeping personally in touch with the great movements in Asia, Africa, Australia and Canada. One visit in a lifetime is hardly ade-PROMISES TO SEND HIS SON quate for practical purposes, and it THERE IS NO MIDDLE COURSE would be easy and pleasant to make a dozen. We do not suppose there is anywhere in the empire any sense of neglect occasioned by the angel visits of royalty, but the people like to see the King and Queen. They are proud to welcome them, and it seems rather unfortunate that so few opportunities are presented.
