Occasional Fumbles Are Only Faults of Losing Team.

LEAD IS SLENDER

Special to The Advertiser Sarnia, Oct. 26.—Sarnia intermediates 10-6 win Saturday means they will take only a four-point lead with them to London, and like some of the wiseacres said when the majority against the O. T. A. was at its zenith, it may not be enough. Sarnia was full value for the four-point lead and although for the four-point lead and although Huestis and clan looked better for the first two periods, they played a second fiddle thereafter. There was a lot said about the touchdown which Stirrett gained for London in the first quarter. A protest concerning it has been forwarded to the O. R. F. U. executive. The timekeepers were on the field trying to impress on the referee who was looking the other way that time was up, when Jo Jo slipped around the right end and reached the goal line. It is claimed the play had not commenced when time was called. As if that were not enough for the home side, the whistle called time in the third period just as the Blue and Whites had gained possession on the London line after a series of fumbles, and it looked odds on a touchdown.

Sarnia showed a lot of improvement in its play although London was smarter in passing the ball. Stirrett was a host in himself. Wanless made some pretty runs, and generally there was little fault to find with London other than a few fumiles by the defence. little fault to find with London other than a few fumbles by the defence. Sarnia played well and never let up. Art Wilson grabbed all the points by his accurate placing; Karn several times speeded away on his own; Perry once beat half the London side in a dash from goal to goal to the half way line and it was stopped only by the last man; Houston did some fine tackling. London's interference and bucking was as strong as ever.

Medals and Prizes To Western Ontario Cadets in Annual Meet.

The highest individual aggregate made at the King George V. challenge cadet shoot at the Cove ranges Friday was made by Robert Coltman, cadet at the London technical school.

Seventeen cadet teams from Western Ontario entered the meet which lasted from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. While in London'the teams were entertained by the headquarters staff of Miliary District No. 1. They were billeted at Wolseley barracks, where meals and entertainment were provided for them.

The competition began at the 100-yard range. Five rounds were fired in rapid succession, and many possibles were made at this range. This is considered remarkable by military experts, as many of the cadets had never been x1 as many of the cadets had never been on a government range before.

In the first practices given at the 100-yard range a second shoot had to be made to decide the winners of the gold medal presented by Col. Hobbs. Sixteen cadets thed for a high score. By a process of elimination Desmond Arnsby, De La Salle academy, won the award. process of elimination Desmond Arnsby, De La Salle academy, won the award. The teams then retired to the 100-yard point. They were drawn up in extended order before 16 targets and began practice. Each contestant was required to lie down at the firing point and fire two rounds. Then the signal for the advance was given, and they proceeded on the double to the 300-yard mark.

The competition for the King George V. trophy was finished at 3 o'clock. All the cadets entered for the gold medals offered for the best shots at 200, 300 and 400 yards then began the competition.

Cadet B. Menshall won the gold medal presented by Ray Lawson for the highest score at 200 yards. He made 24 out of a possible 25. Robert Coltman of London technical won the gold medal presented by Ronald Harris for the best score at 300 yards. Cadet Noble Postle of Guelph C. I. made the highest score at 400 yards.
