Local Seniors Start Week of Strenuous Team Drill

Will Appear in New Colors in First Exhibition Game.

PRICES ANNOUNCED

The local seniors started their week of strenuous team drill last night from 6 to 9 at the arena, and they came through the steady hours of drill fairly fresh and hardy. Very few of them have any more to take off. It's mostly a matter of wind, and getting endurance.

They will work out at the same hour every night this week, and by Saturday should be showing some evidence of real team work. It looks very much as though team work will decide the Big Five race, because, individually, most of the clubs are on an even basis.

Colors Changed.
The London team has had to choose new colors, and will trot them out for their first exhibition game. The body of the sweater will be white with black letters across the chest, and the neck will be red. The socks will be ringed around the calf with red, black and white, the L.A.A.A. colors, the main color being red.

Care had to be taken to avoid clashing with Preston and Stratford, both of whom have red and white. Preston sweaters of last year looked very much like the ones worn by the L.A.A.A. intermediates.

Prices Fixed.
The prices to be charged this season have been arrived at by the L.A.A.A. hockey committee and the arena company.

The high-priced sections are B and C sections, and these for the seniors will be $1.50. For senior exhibitions and junior games, they will be $1.00. A and D sections come at $1 for senior league games, and 75 cents for senior exhibition and junior games. The south section will be 75 cents for senior games, and 50 cents for senior exhibition and junior games. The north end gallery will be 50 cents for senior games and 35 cents for senior exhibitions and junior games, scheduled or exhibition.

Juniors To Play Toronto Sextet

Arrangements Under Way For Exhibition Game Here.

The London Juniors, who return to their ice workouts at the arena tonight between 6 and 7, and tomorrow night at the same hour, will probably be given an exhibition game here on Nov. 28, it was announced last night.

A Toronto junior team will probably be chosen as opposition for the locals' 1925 debut. It will probably have to be a Toronto team as few other junior crews would have had ice practice by that date.

The juniors were just beginning to get some conditioning last week when they closed down workouts, but from now on they'll be at it steadily. They look very promising, probably the most likely-looking crew of youngsters the city ever sent into an O. H. A. campaign.

They do not go much to weight and size, but they bear heavily to speed, which seems to be the main asset in any hockey team these days, senior or junior. There's a real battle on line up for regular berths in the junior ranks, and there will be little to choose between the eight men who will eventually make the team.

MOOSE JAW-CALGARY TILT ENDS IN FREE-FOR-ALL

Canadian Press Despatch.
Moose Jaw, Nov. 11.—Moose Jaw went into the final of the Western Canada junior hockey series yesterday afternoon, winning by default over Calgary. Despite the fact that the game was played on a field covered with half a foot of snow, the Moose Jaw exhibition, when with the scored tied 8 to 8 in the first quarter Calgary quit as a protest against the decision of the Moose Jaw officials in charge. Moose Jaw was ordered to continue play, and Sutherland, left half-back, walked over the touch line, thus making the result a 12 to 8 win for the Moose. The culmination came after Calgary had been penalized 25 yards and the players had started a free-for-all fist fight.

'Red' McKelvey May Be Through

Canadian Press Despatch.
Kingston, Nov. 11.—A meeting of the athletic board of control will be held Wednesday, when the question of continuing into the Dominion finals will be discussed. The meeting tomorrow will probably only decide whether or not McKelvey will be sent against the Hamilton Tigers. If McKelvey does play they may be without the services of "Red" McKelvey, who had the ligament of his leg torn in Saturday's game.

LUIS ANGEL FAVORED TO DEFEAT WEINERT

Argentinian Beginning Another Campaign For Crack at Dempsey's Crown.

Associated Press Despatch.
New York, Nov. 11.—Luis Angel Firpo, the Argentine champion, who was named as the best game on in Jersey City by Harry Wills, the colored heavyweight champion, will be a contender for the Dempsey crown. Firpo, who is in the prime of his career, has been named as the man who will win him another shot at the giant negro and also a return engagement with Jack Dempsey for the heavyweight championship of the world.

There is a possibility that Firpo will meet Charley Weinert, the so-called Newark Adonis, in the Newark Arena. The scheduled fight is for twelve rounds, but there seems to be little likelihood of their going any such distance. Firpo, according to most reliable reports, has done some real work for his scrap, because he realized that his defeat at the hands of Wills has struck his American prestige a fearful blow. He is in anything like good condition he could take the veteran Weinert early and often.

Firpo's bout with Weinert will mark their second meeting. They met in New York when he believed will win him another shot at the giant negro and also a return engagement with Jack Dempsey for the heavyweight championship of the world.

In the second innings South Australia made 163 runs.

URBAN SHOCKER SOUGHT BY WASHINGTON SENATORS

Associated Press Despatch.
Washington, Nov. 11.—With the question whether Walter Johnson will be a member of the Washington Senators next season still under discussion, President Griffith has announced his intention of bringing a deal with St. Louis for the services of Urban Shocker, its star spit-ball pitcher.

Mr. Griffith said he expected to confer on the subject with Manager Slater of the Browns at the annual American league meeting in New York next month.

PROSPECTIVE FUTURE HOME OF TORONTO LEAFS.

Above is shown the property immediately south of the York street bridge, which, it is said, will be turned into an athletic ground by the Toronto harbor board. As will be noticed, work of some kind is now in progress. It is surmised that it is the intention of the board to erect an up-to-date stadium capable of accommodating 30,000, which will be the largest in Canada.

On the Side Lines

With C. S. G.
Tecumseh Park, which has been London's chief athletic field since 1875, or thereabouts, has often been under eight and ten feet of navigable water, but now it's under the hammer and will go to the highest bidder. Its fate will likely be division into building lots.

Common tradition would have it that as Governor Simcoe posed on the eminence where stands the court house, and gazing out over the forks of the Thames decided that this was to be the site of a new city in the Canadian wilderness, he also chose the present site of Tecumseh Park as a cricket pitch for ye citizenry, but Tecumseh Park was to be a pasture and then a commons for a good many years, so history shows, before it was to become a playing field.

It was first made into a playing field in 1876 when the world's champion Tecumseh made it their home. It continued as such for three years until the International baseball league of that day displayed a tendency that is marked even unto these modern days, and "blew up" league baseball was played in 1887 and 1888 in the old fair grounds on Pall Mall street, taking in part of the old military grounds which is now Victoria Park.

Tecumseh Park in these years became a center for the sport of bicycling, then in its hey-day and which brought with it an even more varied and ornate sartorial display than that made by the blue-fours and King Tut designs of golf togs today, not to mention hirsute adornments which drew the breeze. In 1888, a brick track was built and that year the Canadian Wheelmen's Association held a huge meet here.

It is unfortunate that Tecumseh Park had to go this way. Not only because it is an old landmark, but because it is a natural site for an athletic field, and ideally located.

It was purchased several years ago by the present owners, partly for city amateur sports, but mainly so that Western University would have a playing field. There was a chance one time that it might become the site of a huge athletic plant, with an artificial ice arena as the first unit and other improvements to follow, even to a large club house and possibly in the far-away future a huge boat-house. Long vision and short pockets do combine in this hustling world of today. When economy demands diverted the rink to another site and Western University became the possessor of a playing field at the new site, this dream began to fade. The plans for an athletic plant in the inclosure at Queen's Park and their fulfillment saw the vision fade out entirely.

Nothing but civic ownership or wholly unexpected philanthropy can save the old field from the fate which seems imminent. It's a fate that will cause a good deal of regret among those who have some regard for that which has some touch of the historical.

Sugar Theory Given Setback

Rations of Sweets Fail To Bring Yale Victory.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 11.—Though fed sugar in an attempt to increase their physical energy during the game with Yale, the Connecticut football team failed to respond sufficiently to defeat the visitors, who won by 6 to 2. The "sweeter" theory of the Yale soccer men was part of experiment being carried on at Yale to determine the efficacy of supplying sugar to offset its depletion in the blood during violent exertion.

The experiments are being conducted by Prof. Yandell Henderson of the department of applied physiology and the Yale department of health, according to Standard-Bell.

QUEBEC-ONTARIO LOOP DECIDES TO CARRY ON

Will Continue As Six-Club Circuit With Royals Out.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Montreal, Nov. 11.—Leo Dandurand's Quebec-Ontario professional baseball league next season, according to present indications, as gleaned from club owners who are here for a special meeting of the directors of the loop to wind up affairs of the last year and prepare for the annual meeting to be held at the end of December. A. O. Gaudin, Royals' territorial rights here for a time, under an agreement with the Canadian management, and will not operate in 1925.

The majority of club owners, Montreal, Quebec and Ottawa in particular, despite a bad season, favor continuing the league next year as a six-club organization. This will likely be conducted with clubs from Canadian cities only, the new ones to come from cities in eastern Ontario.

Edmonton Eskimos are looking for two players, a goaltender and a right-hand shot. Duke Keats is a hold-out. Edmonton claims Garbath of Eveleth, who is reported to have signed with Boston and then tore up his contract.

Frankie Burke, last season with St. Mary's, will likely be found with Aurora this season. Burke is equally at home on the defence, right wing or center.

Rus. McAllister, goaltender, with Sarnia Intermediate. H. A. team last year, is now located in Toronto. A mighty good net guard for some senior team.

Charlie Larose, last season with Cornwall, is a student at Varsity. He will be a candidate for one of Connie Smythe's teams.

Jack Adams has purchased an interest in a hotel in Vancouver.

It is understood that at the N. O. H. A. meeting at North Bay on Nov. 15, Port Arthur and Port William will have a representative present to discuss the matter of forming a league composed of the Twin Cities and the Soo and Sudbury. Such a group was decided upon two years ago, but when the Soo and Sudbury teams jumped to the Manitoba association.

Toronto Star.
London is surely on the sporting map this fall. The town has taken up rugby and has earned the reputation of being a college and O. R. F. U. teams in enthusiastic style. And the town is simply hockey mad. The new rink, a Goldie Rodgers' new O. H. A. senior team attract big crowds, and local enthusiasts predict that the new rink, which seats over 4,000, will not begin to accommodate the crowd this winter.

Will Toss Coin For Wossa Finals

South C. I. and Walkerville Decide On Two Matches.

The toss of a coin this morning will decide the venue of the first of the Wossa final soccer games this Saturday.

London South C. I. and Walkerville college are the two finalists, and they decided yesterday morning on home and home games rather than a sudden death affair, but both frankly wanted the first game away from home. The decision was left to Dr. Smith, secretary of the Wossa, and he decided in turn to let a coin decide.

London South last year played the final game away from home, but as it was against Windsor, that did not weigh at all, considering that Walkerville college was not concerned on that particular occasion.

The London South C. I. team are steadily practicing through the long interval between games. They are all proving their attack and their defence seems tighter than it was in other years.

Officials will be decided on later.

Junior Grid Team Needed To Develop Football Here

Poke and Cross Checks

Jack Adams, "Pudgy Jaw," of St. Patricks, and former star centre player for Vancouver Maroons, is on a pleasure trip to the Pacific coast, and was a visitor in Vancouver last week. Adams told the boys out in the land of promise that he figured he had just one more season of hockey in him, and then he would move to Vancouver to make his permanent home in that city. If "Jaw" has but one more season of hockey left in his system there are a lot of so-called stars who should have been in retirement years ago.

Billy Holmes, secured by direct purchase from Calgary, by the Vancouver club, is expected to prove one of the real finds of the year in coast hockey circles. Holmes is a Brandon amateur who signed last year for Calgary, but was not used owing to his plea to finish the year with his Manitoba mates in the amateur ranks. Bernie Morris says Holmes is, without doubt, the best-looking prospect on the frozen prairies, and is noted for his speed. The Vancouver roster to date is Lehman, Dwyer, Mackay, Bobby Boucher, Oliver Reinikka and Billy Holmes.

Calgary Tigers, who play St. Patricks a week from next Saturday, have five right wing players on the team. Eddie Oatman, Cully Wilson, Harry Oliver and "Spunk" Sparrow all fire from the right side.

Peterboro intermediates may play in the S.P.A. senior series if they do not are drawn against Niagara Falls, the fans will see the intermediate O.H.A. finals of last season all over again. They were two fine contests.

Edmonton Eskimos are looking for two players, a goaltender and a right-hand shot. Duke Keats is a hold-out. Edmonton claims Garbath of Eveleth, who is reported to have signed with Boston and then tore up his contract.

Prestige of Sarnia and Petrolia Due To Encouraging Youngsters.

SURPLUS THIS YEAR

The organization of a junior O. R. F. U. rugby club will in all probability be undertaken when the 1925 football season rolls around.

This is one of the lessons fully digested, among others learned, as the season closed Saturday.

Petrolia and Sarnia have always been great football centers because they kept up junior leagues and always had good high school teams.

In fact, there is more than an even chance that the local club will not wait until the 1925 season to make plans. A survey has been made of the junior material around the city and these players may be guests at the banquet which is to write life to the local season.

Many Good Youngsters.
Over half of this year's team were eligible for senior ranks. Wamless, Lawrence, Beard and Hill, to name some of them, show the sort of material that would go unobserved had they not been needed to round out this year's team, and in places, add real punch to the intermediates.

London was fortunate this year in having two outstanding stars of the team as new residents in Jo Jo Surritt and Doug Huestis. Goodman was developed in Hamilton, and therefore it is shown how much London needs to develop local men.

Several years ago the Askin Elks came out of the small church club. They paid their own expenses and knew of "games" as things that hung on hangers.

Rugby for the first time in the history of London paid its own way this year. What surplus remains could be better spent than on equipment for a junior team. It would mean a constant supply of new gear, and the care of those youngsters who after leaving college are no quite old enough to be heavy, but too good to be lost to the game.

VICENTINI RECOVERS ABILITY TO HIT HARD

Chilean Lightweight Appears To Be Making Rapid Comeback.

By FAIR PLAY.
Copyright, 1924.
New York, Nov. 11.—Luis Vicentini, one of the lightest of the boxing commission selected to box the hour of meeting Benny Leonard, appears to be making a comeback.

He seems to have recovered his ability to hit hard and fast, while his general activity in the ring impresses those who are looking forward to future thrills in the lightweight class.

Vicentini's heavy artillery, however, was too much for the fast, young Harlem youth, who showed up ap preciably early in the fight. The Chilean got in one of his left or right punches.

And so, while Vogel peppered his man during the first five rounds, the blow came with a diminishing force and finally, from the fifth to the ninth rounds—when the battle was ended—there was no doubt that Vogel was doing to take a nap.

Vicentini seemed to be in very good condition, much better than he has been the last two months.

Nearly 4,000 spectators were crowded into the club, which showed the south American has not lost his advertising appeal, and that the lightweight class is a popular one.
