HARVEST BEING REPEATED.

World sent out a corps of its young men to reconnoitre among the wholesale merchants and grain dealers. The reports they brought back were generally satisfactory. They heard nothing about a land overflowing with milk and honey, as did the Israelites who spied out the land of Canaan, nor did they bring back samples of the fruit of the land; but they gathered evidences that pointed to another big crop, and their eyes were permitted to feast on samples of new grain that were plump, and in quality equal to that of last year's superior brand. There were some adverse reports, but they were confined largely to cereals in low-lying ground that had suffered owing to excessive rains. But, as an agriculturist was heard to remark yesterday, "The farmers are learning that had suffered owing to excessive rains. A Wholesale Merchant's Views.

Mr. W. R. Brock, the well-known wholesale drygoods dealer, was found by These of our customers who have visited us during the last few days have reported the condition of crops favorable except those in low lands, which were drowned out in the early part of the season. Peas in low ground have particularly suffered. Otherwise the crops on light soil and high sandy land never had such growth before. The crop of grass is undoubtedly large.

"They are evidently in good spirits in all parts of the country, and I think they deserve to be kicked if they are not," Mr. Brock remarked with a laugh. "I believe one of the best indications of the character of the crops is the way in which payments have been made since the fourth of the month. Paper maturing in July has been met better than ever before. As a rule, if the crop is not going to be good the farmer keeps back his cash, while on the other hand

Fresident Baird's Bright Views.

Fresident Baird of the Board of Trade:

"It think that without any more rain we will have an excellent crop. As far as we have accrtained no reports of an actually serious nature have come in, even in the shape of rust."

"Is it possible to compare prospects now with those of last year at this time?"

"As far as I can see prospects are just as good as last year. Then you must take into consideration the fact that there is a decreased acreage of bariey. As for peas there has been too much wet wetshare to expect seed of come where the shape of the condition of the older countries, as England and the Eastern States, where it is in its polendid condition, while in others the yield will be very light, the wheat plant having been chocked by the weeds, which were induced to grow by the early rains."

Mr. Thomas McLaughlin, flour and grain:
"As far as I hear the Province of Ontario will have a big crop of straw and that with favorable weather there will be a big yield of wheat."

Mr. Fromas McLaughlin, flour and grain:

"They are in first-class spirits. The prospects never looked better than to-day," was Mr. Kennedy's concluding remark.

Samples of New Wheat.

"But here I have something to show you," continued Mr. Watt, as he emptied the contents of three savelopes of new fall wheat in as many different piles on the table. "That," he added, putting his finger on the first pile, "is a sample of Clauson grown in the neighborhood of Simcoe, and that is red. Manchester from the same district. Both these samples are very fine indeed. The berry is plump and free from smut, as you will see. This third sample is from Chatham. It is a fine sample, too, although the herry is not so plump as last year's."

cks are small, except perhaps in light of fabrics, which have not sold so well otherwise would owing to the cold, weather which prevailed in the early the spring."

Stapleton Caldecot, wholesale drymerchapt: "Our customers are all g favorably of the crops. At one yere talking of rust and about the eing beaten down. They now, howy that the grain is recovering itself there is no indication of rust. The report is that the crops, except those unds, are doing well and that a full crop is promised."

They are pursuing a conservative course, and purchasing very cautiously; but there will be no danger of starvation, even if the prices are low.

"Exceptionally good," was the verdict of Mr. Paul Campbell of John Macdonald & Mr. Paul Campbell of John Macdonald & Co., wholesale drygoods. "The kay crop, I believe, is exceptionally good; it is very heavy, and is being nicely saved. On high sandy soil the rain did nothing but good, and the crops are something wonderful; one farmer told me he had never had anything

"Orders are coming in fairly well and so the crops are something withdraw, the crops are something withdraw, the crops are something withdraw, the payments. The country merchante are fairent old me he had never had anything farmer told me he had never had anything like it."

"No, I don't think the rain has done much injury at all," said Mr. Campbell in response to a further question; "the apple blossoms were beaten off the trees, and so the apple crop will be light, but that is about the only one that will suffer."

The Old Crop Moving.

"Yes, but it is going out in large quantities now by way of New York for export. Prospects are decidedly good, but of course you never can tell what will turn up."

Mr. D. O. Ellis, dealer in Manitoba wheat:

"It is too early to speak with any degree of certainty, but present prospects indicate a hig crop. You may be sure there will be lots of wheat next year."

On the O.P.B. East.

Mr. Edward McKay: "On the Canadian Pacific east ward from here to Tweed the spring grains are looking well with the expetion of peas, which have had too much wet. Fall wheat at some points is badly rusted and everything depends on the weather we have during the next two or three weeks. Should we have much rain the wheat will lodge owing to the length of straw and the quick growth."

The Central Wheat Buyer Talks.

The Central Wheat Buyer Talks.

Mr. Charles Watt, secretary of the Dominion Millers' Association and central wheat buyer: "Reports everywhere are that the crops are very heavy. One authority told me yesterday that he thought that in the neighborhood of Brantford there would be an average, yield of 59 bushels to the acre."

"I came from Braotford this morning," continued Mr. Watt, "and wheat is looking splendid between here and there. It is down on the hillsides a little and also in the gullies. The crops are turning fast. I was talking with Mr. Chisholm of Brampton and he told me that he has taken particular points to examine wheat that is down, and he says that the heads of even that are filling wonderfully fast. Indications of course point to low prices," added Mr. Watt, "What do you know about the hay crop!"

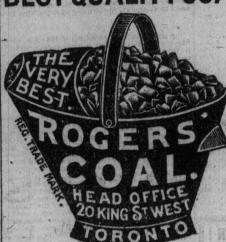

Heavy the Hay Crop.

"The hay crop is very heavy, and the fine weather of the past ten days has enabled it to be secured in excellent condition. The
