Henry A. King & Co.'s special wire from Ladenburg. Thaiman & Co., New York: Manipulative movements in a few stocks and the changing attitude of the traders towards a few others have furnished the only points of interest in to-day's market. Chicago Gas had support, and Western Union was worked up in the early transactions by the pool which it seems has been formed to care for the stock. Sugar on the other hand was attacked at the beginning of the session, and yielded readily under what appeared to be inside selling. This checked any improving tendencies which might have been created by the strength of American stocks in London, and gave some assistance to the attacks of the bear party on R.I. and other securifies. The market became very dull about noontime, and in the afternoon there was further pressure in Sugar, with a downward movement in the latest addition to the speculative list—Bay State Gas. At the close the general market, though dull at the previous depression, was firm, while the traders hammered Sugar with energy and success.
