If a teaspoonful of ammonia is mixed with a quart of water, the brush need be dipped in the solution for a moment and all grease is removed. The brush should then be rinsed in cold water, shaken well and dried in the air, but not in the sun.

A bad breath is certainly repulsive, and very properly so, not only because it is unpleasant in itself, and because it can always be remedied with proper care. If it proceeds from decayed teeth a dentist should be consulted; if from a disordered stomach it is a case for the physician. Two drains of chlorate of potash mixed with six ounces of rose-water will make a purifying wash to rinse the mouth with every few hours.—Ladies' Ex.
