

DODD, MEAD & COMPANY'S NEW JUVENILE BOOKS, AUTUMN OF 1877.

The Morning Glory Stories.

By Jennie Harrison. Chromo side. Printed on tinted paper. Over 100 illustrations.

Elmer's Morning Glory. Autumn Leaves. Uncle Jerry's Blossom.
A White Rose. Little Buds. Wayside Flower.

The Rose Library.

Chromo side, black and gold back. On tinted paper. 80 illustrations.

Clara and Amy. Rose and Kate. Across the Ocean.
Summer Stories. Guy and Dolly.

Land and Sea Library.

200 illustrations. Printed on tinted paper, etc.

The Frozen North. Ancient Egypt. The Ocean.
India. The Builders of the Sea.

The Dorothy Library.

By the author of The Amy Books and the Kitty Books. Chromo side, of novel design, and beautifully printed on tinted paper, 80 illustrations.

Dorothy's Adventure. Rose and Charlie. A Summer in the Country.
Guy's Self-Will. Kate Thornton's Motto.
Each book contains Eight pictures.

The Wayside Library.

On tinted paper, with nearly 100 illustrations. Chromo side.

Howard and Nettle. Elmer and Fred. A Brace of Christmas
Sam and Charlie. Uncle Jerry. [Stories.]

Picture Page Library.

A picture at every opening. Chromo side. 105 illus. Tinted paper.

Dick and Grace. The Fisher Boy. A Long Day.
Bobby Shafto. Jack Greene.

In producing these Juvenile Books, the publishers have endeavored to make them a decided advance on anything hitherto offered. The illustrations have been prepared with unusual care. The books are printed on a fine tinted paper, and bindings are of fresh and novel designs. They will be found the most elegant books in the market.

For Sale by ADAM MILLER & CO., Toronto.

DODD, MEAD & COMPY, PUBLISHERS, NEW YORK

CANADIAN RECITERS.

THE PROHIBITION RECITER.

A COLLECTION OF

New Dialogues, Readings and Recitations

for Temperance organizations, social gatherings, and literary entertainments.

By JAMES HUGHES, Esq., Inspector Public Schools, Toronto.

PRICE, 30c.

THE CANADIAN SPEAKER and ELOCUTION- ARY READER.

A choice collection of Orations, Dialogues and Poetry, suitable for School and College Recitations, and Public and Social Readings, with introductory remarks on the Principles of Elocution.

By EDWARD HARTLEY DEWART.

326 Pages, Cloth, 40c.

THE CANADIAN HUMOROUS RECITER.

A collection of the very best American, Scotch and Irish Readings, Recitations and Dialogues, for School Exhibitions, Social Gatherings, and Literary Entertainments.

By JAMES HUGHES, Esq., Inspector Public Schools, Toronto.

Adam Miller & Co., Publishers.

FOR SALE BY ALL BOOKSELLERS.

BEATTY'S SYSTEM OF PRACTICAL PENMANSHIP.

The New Canadian Series of Head-line Copy-books for High and Public Schools.

Complete in 9 numbers, systematically graded and arranged to meet the requirements of our Schools. The series is divided into an ELEMENTARY and ADVANCED COURSE, each complete in itself. The ELEMENTARY COURSE consists of four books and the ADVANCED of five.

Book No. 1. Teaches the contracted small letters, viz., i, u, v, x, n, m, c, e, w, o, a, r, s, concluding with words formed from them by combination. The letters are introduced synthetically and are faintly printed on the surface of every page to be traced with pen and ink by pupils in primary divisions.

Book No. 2. Introduces the extended letters, viz., p, t, d, b, h, k, l, f, y, j, g, z, q, and the first class of capitals. It also reviews the contracted or minimum letters given in Book 1.

Book No. 3. Teaches Current Capitals constructively and affords Practice upon Words. The introduction and classification of Current Capitals forms a prominent feature of the practical character of these Copy Books.

Book No. 4 consists of Sentences in a reduced hand suitable for Ladies' Hand. It is clear, open and attractive to the most conservative. The four primary Books constitute a short course complete in itself, and should a pupil be necessitated to leave school before using the advanced books, he has a good knowledge of penmanship.

Book No. 5—This book introduces a method of securing uniform and correct Spacing in each letter and word, by means of ruling upon every copy and page of the book, thus establishing firmly these essential habits. Also, a method of exhibiting the relative proportion of the letters in every copy, by means of an engraved scale, so as to render them self-instructing to the pupil.

Books 6 and 7, for advanced pupils, embrace the whole subject within a small space.

Book No. 8—Forms for boys—Notes, Drafts, Receipts, etc., in a plain business hand, giving a variety of current capitals.

Book No. 9—Finishing book for girls—Notes of Invitation, Answers, Forms, etc., in a neat ladies' hand.

The Engraving and Printing of the copies are executed in the best manner possible and only paper of a superior quality is used in their manufacture.

After careful examination of Beatty's System of Penmanship I consider it preferable to any I have before seen, and shall introduce it in our schools at once.

D. J. GOGGIN, Head Master Model and Public Schools, Port Hope.

I have examined Beatty's System of Penmanship and consider it excellent. I shall recommend it in preference to any other with which I am acquainted.

CHAS. CLARKE, B.A.,

Head Master Brockville Model School.

Beatty's System of Penmanship is just what is required in our public schools, it will meet a want long felt by Canadian teachers. I have introduced the whole series in the Model and Public schools of this place.

W. E. SPRAGUE,

H. M. Co. Model and Public Schools, Town of Cobourg.

Believing Mr. Beatty's System of Penmanship to be the best I have seen, I shall take great pleasure in introducing it into the schools under my charge at the earliest possible opportunity.

GEO. MORR, Principal St. Marys Public Schools.

I have examined Beatty's System of Penmanship, and think it is in advance of anything I have before seen. Will have it introduced in our schools as soon as possible.

S. HERBERT, H. M. P. S. Mitchell.

I have carefully examined Beatty's System of Penmanship and am of opinion that it is in advance of any other system that I have heretofore examined. I would be glad to see it occupy a place in our schools, and shall earnestly recommend its introduction.

W. G. KIDD, Inspector P. S., Kingston.

After having carefully examined Beatty's Copy-books, I have no hesitation in saying that they are the best I have yet seen. They are graded to suit both rural and town schools, and will supply a want which I have long seen to exist.

JOHN M. MORAN,

P. S. I. South Perth.

Having examined the series of Copy-books by Mr. Beatty, I have great pleasure in stating that in my opinion they are a great improvement on the Payson, Duntun & Scribner series. With one or two changes, which I believe are contemplated, I think they can be made to excel—if not, to at least equal, the best publications on the continent.

H. DICKENSON,

H. M. Model and Public Schools, Stratford.

Beatty's System of Penmanship is an excellent method of teaching that subject. I would recommend its trial in our schools.

THOS. HILLIARD,

P. S. I. Town of Waterloo.

The author has very wisely adopted and combined with his own ideas, all the good features in the best American Copy-books. The result is that the series now before us contains a combination of the best points in the most popular of our series, and is better adapted to all grades of pupils than any of its predecessors. The books are so graded and arranged, and the instructions on the cover so clear and full, that more real practical penmanship may be learned from them in three months than from the ordinary copy-books in a whole year.—Penman's Art Journal, New York.