

to our readers. They are made of the best steel, and by the most expert workmen in England, and have a national reputation for certain desirable qualities which no other pens seem to have attained in so great perfection, among which are uniform evenness of point, durability, flexibility, and quill action. It is thus quite natural that the Spencerian should be preferred and used by professional penmen, in business colleges, counting-rooms, Government offices, public schools, and largely throughout the country. Indeed so popular have they become, that of the "Number One" alone, as many as eight millions are sold annually in the United States. The Spencerian Pens may be had, as a rule, from any dealer; but when not thus obtainable, the agents, Messrs. Alexander Buntin & Co., 345 St. Paul Street, Montreal, will send for trial samples of each of the twenty numbers on receipt of twenty cents.

Medical Items.

The summer course of lectures at McGill University was largely attended, and closed on the 11th July instant.

A number of medical gentlemen proceeded to Quebec on the 28th instant, to confer with the Committee of the House of Assembly touching the new Medical Bill. It is strange they were all University Professors; there was not a single individual representing the outside profession.

John B. Lawford, M.D., C.M., McGill University, 1879, passed his primary professional examination before the Royal College of Surgeons, of England, for the diploma as member, on the 9th inst.

David F. Gurd, M.D., C.M., McGill University, 1879, passed before the Royal College of Physicians, of London, and received the License of the College on the 9th inst.
