THE FIRST SYMPTOMS OF MIGRAINE.

Dr. J. J. Caldwell, of Baltimore, Md., in Medical Progress, writes as follows: "The treatment of migraine, to be correct, must be adjusted on the basis of the element of causation. Constipation, if present, should be treated by a proper dietary and regular habits, but purgatives should be avoided. Only fluid laxatives should be employed, and they should be abandoned when diet regulates the bowels, as proper diet will do. During the premonitory stage we can generally abort or rather prevent the development of an attack by the administration of two antikamnia tablets. They should be given as soon as the first symptoms of the attack are manifest. If then, all symptoms are not speedily dissipated, another dose should be given in three-quarters of an hour. This means is a most effectual one to abort an attack, and when the attack is developed, anti-kamnia tablets will relieve the pain usually in about forty minutes."

One day a little girl named Mary, got up looking pale.

Her father said: 'What is the matter, Mary? You look pale.'

'Yes, I know,' answered Mary, 'I think I have the chicken-pox.'

'What makes you think that?' asked her father.

'Because I found a feather in my bed,' answered Mary.
