

CATARRH AND GOLD IN HEAD HOW CURED. NASAL BALM NASAL BALM. A certain and speedy cure for Cold in the Head and Catarrh in all its stages.

FOR AND ABOUT WOMEN. What is a Model Wife? "What is your idea of a model wife?" In no wise different, my dear reader, from the idea held by us all.

What is a Model Wife? A model wife is the woman in whom the heart of her husband dwells safely trust. She is the woman who looks after his household, and makes her hospitality a delight to him, and not a burden.

What is a Model Wife? She is the woman whose life-book has been written on every page. She makes a home for a man—a home in a heart. A home that is full of love presided over by one whose price is above rubies.

What is a Model Wife? She is the model wife.—Home Journal. Worth Knowing. Stone jars for lard and greasy pie plates can be cleaned by boiling them for two hours in a kettle with ashes or sal soda.

What is a Model Wife? A fine tonic for the hair is one-half water and one-half bay rum, made bitter with quinine. This may be rubbed into the scalp twice a day.

What is a Model Wife? When heating up the whites of eggs, add a tiny pinch of salt, because this will cut them up and make them frothy much quicker, as well as make the froth more "steady" than it otherwise would be.

What is a Model Wife? A very small bit of red pepper put in the water in which either meat or vegetables are boiled will, to some extent, deodorize the steam and save the disagreeable odor arising from cabbage, onions, &c.

What is a Model Wife? No matter how large the spot of oil, any carpet or woollen stuff can be cleaned by applying kerosene plentifully and carefully brushing it into a dustring after a short time, and putting on fresh until the oil has all disappeared.

and benefit they are conferring upon their sex. That this misconception of personal freedom should have followed so long a period of complete repression, is, but natural.

Among these forms of excess springing from the new found freedom of woman, we would mention one or two of the most dangerous. Financial speculation is, perhaps first.

Another dangerous tendency in the modern freedom of woman is her growing disregard for domestic life. Not being kept at home, as formerly, by her social limitations and restrictions, she flies to the other extreme, and becomes either a gad-about or a great public philanthropist.

One other dangerous tendency in the modern life of woman is the spirit of rude competition with man, which is fostered by entire freedom from social restraint.

The Good Influence of Woman. The world is growing better, but it is not due so much to her, or to business enterprise as to the influence of good mothers and good women.

The Princess of Wales in having her daughters taught dressmaking has determined that they shall make some of their own gowns as an example to poor, but proud, girls.

A California woman, in trying to make a cradle for her baby, hit on an idea and invented an orange box. She now owns and runs the factory which manufactures the orange boxes for the Pacific coast.

In Sarrey County, North Carolina, there is a remarkable natural curiosity in the shape of a mountain representing the famous sphinx of Egypt in all its details.

Miss Clara Barton, of Red Cross fame, is a Massachusetts woman, a daughter of one of "Mad Anthony's" Wayne's old soldiers.

FARM AND GARDEN.

THE THERMOMETER IN BUTTER MAKING. Our object is to emphasize the importance of using a thermometer to make sure of having the temperature of the cream just right, so as to insure both good quality of butter and less labor in churning.

At one of the Wisconsin farmers' institutes, S. A. Felton, of Ruedsburg, expressed the opinion that mutton first and wool second should be the aim of every flockmaster.

A successful bee keeper tells in American Rural Home that all bee hives ought to be painted to protect them from decay. He says: "We are all aware of the fact that the exterior of hives needs a coating of some description, else they would shortly leak and shackle down."

There are two or three varieties of russet, varying considerably in quality. The kind most commonly grown, according to American Cultivator, is the English russet, of very high quality, but valuable for production as a late keeper.

Butchering on the farm, which is usually at its height before the holidays, has in many sections been deferred beyond the usual point on account of the unprecedentedly moist and warm weather that has been prevailing for into winter.

It is far better to keep hogs already fat enough to kill until the atmosphere is exactly right than to kill them in warm, muggy weather. Fat hogs cool slowly, and unless the animal heat is entirely gone before the meat is packed away there is great danger of its spoiling.

Quite a good bean harvester, according to Country Gentleman, may be made by removing the mold board from a plow and fastening the handles to land side; then drill two holes through the point and bolt on a steel blade, well sharpened, about fifteen inches longer than the point, which can be guided by any blacksmith.

If you have rough broken farm and small capital, you can hardly do better than to secure a very good sheep. These will be a nucleus around which will gather, under good management, a large flock in a short time—an investment that will pay interest at shearing time at the rate of 100 per cent, and dividends from each lamb, besides leaving the pasture lot fertilized in the best possible manner for a crop of winter wheat.

What oat yields the best? What oat has the strongest straw? Which is the most profitable variety to cultivate? The Rural New Yorker's records show that nearly every variety, or so called variety, has been tried at the Rural grounds, and, except during the past three or four years, the results have been placed before its readers.

White B. Light, Race Horse, Oldenble, Australian, Bauger Queen and White Canadian are all the same, viz.—White Australias or Wilsons, Yankee, Polio, Z. Island and White Newley are the White Rastan. Mold's Emulated is the White Rastan.

ORGANIC MATTER IN DRINKING WATER. A very simple experiment may be performed to show the solvent power of a liquid, namely, by taking a small vial of camphor water, or a quantity of alcohol with as much camphor dissolved as it will hold, then adding to this a drop of water; if it is as clear as water itself until a drop is given, when the solution is weakened so much that it cannot hold the camphor longer in solution, and he is to give it up to the bottom of a glass.

CHINESE THEORY OF EVOLUTION. The rocks are the bones of the divine body, the soil is the flesh, the metals are the nerves and veins; the tide, wind, rain, clouds, frost and dew are all caused by its repulsion, pulsations and excitations.
