

appropriate institutions of the Soviet Union and Canada on the basis of reciprocity and in accordance with the regulations of each country;

2. To invite on a reciprocal basis, one or two book critics to meet with writers, publishers and colleagues from the other country;

3. To encourage exchanges through the Canada Council, the Department of External Affairs, other organizations and the equivalent Soviet organizations between Canadian and Soviet writers in order to attend colloquiums, seminars and to give readings and lectures and to visit the other country;

4. To encourage Canadian and Soviet publishers to attend book fairs in their respective countries and when possible have a national representation in fairs in their respective countries;

5. To encourage the exchange of books between Canadian and Soviet universities and other institutions to promote knowledge of each others' literatures and to promote studies in Soviet and Canadian literature;