

Foundation. It is, therefore, my pleasure, ladies and gentlemen, to introduce to you this distinguished leader of his people, a man endowed with courage and vision, boundless energy and an exceptional executive ability; a guide and authority in all social and economic, national and international problems; a lover of peace; the highest example of a true public servant; and, in the multifarious duties he has undertaken for his country, always a master mind, - Sir Arthur Salter.