

25. An anomaly, which never was before seen in our law.

Should there be dissatisfaction upon any of these points, whether regarding the ante nati or the post nati, there appears no remedy but in Parliament. The Courts cannot depart from established precedent and principle; Parliament alone can overrule their decisions, and alter its own enactments.

sitions
hypo-
ning.

meri-
on of
the
of
ents;
tutes
the
other
nati
then
rved
stat.
by
ge-
edi-
pre-
nay
ted
The
ese
ra-
oly
nd
his 4.