It is all life the men to hold them."

New York advices say that never before in the history of the horse that there is a very limited demand for the Morgan type of horses. The late chief of the bureau of animal industry in answering these criticisms said that even admitting these arguments to be true, there was fibre of his physical being.

HOGS ARE GOOD PROPERTY. There is not the slightest inclination for the price of hogs to adopt a lower level, in fact the markets have such a firm tendency that advances may be necessary in order that the packers may procure adequate supplies. The condition of affairs is highly satisfactory, as much of the increased price is brought in from export customers Farmers have the whip hand in the matter of hog trading for the present, but they should not be arbitrary because of this fact. Drovers are complaining of excessive competition, but this, of course, cannot be objected to, but the situation has admitted of subterfuge on the part of some farmers which does not evidence the highest tracts to that end have been made between farmers and drovers and later annulled by the latter because a later competitor has made a small advance on his predecessor. This may be smart business, but it destroys the confidence that should lie between the two interests. In the belief that hog prices are marketing weight. It is doubtful whether this will prove profitable. The best advice, it seems, that can be tenhogs as soon as they grade selects and to get a new crop in sight as soon as nature will assist in that object.

Some extra good hackneys are also in the lot.

The following is Burns & Sheppard's weekly report of prevailing prices: Single roadsters, 15 to 16 hands, $125 to $160; single cobs and carriage horses. 15 to 16.1 hands, $125 to $155; matched pairs and carriage horses, 15 to 16.1 hands, $300 to $500; delivery horses, 1100 to 1200 lbs., $140 to $180; general purests. In the belief that hog prices are still going higher some farmers are lbs., $160 to $200; draught horses, 1350 holding hogs beyond the regulation to 1750 lbs., $175 to $210; serviceable able second-hand drivers, $60 to $80.

The Canadian Horse Exchange, Jardered the farmer now is to market his vis-street, has grown and become quite an item in the horse world in a wonderfully short time, which can be seen by the sales that it has had in the past, while the sales booked for the present month go to show that business All fattening animals including hogs date lines. The exchange stables and the sale ring are spacious, well lightmilk makes a good slop for growing ployes, from the auctioneer to the grooms, know their business. All are courteous and willing to do their best for both consignors and buyers. Monday's sale was a decided success, heavy draughts being in the majority, and some of them top notchers. Of the one hundred and fifty horses offered, very few were left when the auctioneer's hammer finally fell at 4.30 p.m.

Among the buyers were the Copland
