OTTAWA, Feb. 4.—On the recommendation of C. A. Magrath, Canadian fuel controller, tonight the Cabinet passed an order-in-council suspending the operation of manufacturing plants for three days, February 9, 10 and

The only exceptions are plants which must be continuously operated seven days of the week to avoid serious injury to the manufactured products, plants manufacturing perishable foods and food necessary for immediate consumption, and plants devoted to the publication of daily newspapers. Drug stores and and bona-fide newsstands are also exempted.

The order applies to all business and professional offices, warehouses wholesale and retail stores.

The regulations do not apply to Western Canada nor to the Maritime Provinces. The order as passed, will apply to all of Ontario and Quebec, from Fort William on the west to Riviere du Loup on the east. It is understood that it was the intention to pass this order last week, but it was held up owing to doubt as to further action in the United States and the possibility of the discontinuance of their order.

Mr. Magrath, who is in Washington, is in close consultation with the American authorities, and is co-operating with them in every possible manner to meet the present situation. This recommendation was decided upon by him as best for the present, although further orders along the same lines may be issued later if neces-

After referring to the fact that there are few substitutes for wheat products other than commeal, which has not yet come freely on the market, because of transportation difficulties, the food controller spoke of the policy of fixing prices. He said this policy had been tried out in practically all Allied countries, and that it had always produced unexpected difficulties. The panacea of fixing prices had failed. Fixing profits was another matter.

Few Dressed Hogs and Load of Hay Offered.

The fireside proved a greater attraction than the market for farmers today, with the result that trading done on the square was practically nil. A few dressed hogs appeared to be weighed, but these had been sold on contract
