SEVEN MILITARY CAMPS ARE NAMED

Four for Ontario, But Only One for Western Canada.

Official announcement is made by the military authorities that all the summer training camps will open on summer training camps will open on Tuesday, May 29, and that they will be at the following places: Borden, London, Barriefield (Kingston), Petawawa, Valcartier, Aldershot (Halifax) and Sarcee (Alberta). Two interesting points of the announcement are that only one camp is named for all of western Canada and that no mention is made of Niagara camp. The fact that no camp is named for Manitoba is especially surprising, because last summer Camp Hughes in that province, was one of the most important in the Dominion.

THE DAY'S EVENTS REVIEWED

In MacEdonia the French, in co-operation with the British spring offensive on the eastern bank of the Vardar, have opened their spring offensive on the western bank with the capture of Shraka di Legen, a village south of Huma. The Serbians on the French right carried two enemy works north of Pojar. Both the Serbians and the French have consolidated their new ground and the French have beaten off Bulgarian country attacks. The Chernons appear to board learned to the Monday and the Serbians and the French have beaten off Bulgarian country attacks. attacks. The Germans appear to have cleared out of Macedonia and the fighting for the Bulgarians to do. The fighting is about to spread, spirited artillery actions are proceeding in the bend of the Cerna and the sector of Monastir. Three hundred prisoners have fallen into the hands of the allies. By Lake Doiran the British have beaten off Bulgarian counter-

By striking the enemy hard in Macedonia the allies can give the German people no better object lesson of what the command of the sea implies and of the inability of the submarines really to impair their offensive power after all these months of ruthlessness. Thinking Germans may well pause to consider what the German Government has promised to perform by submarine warfare and to doubt the truth of its reports. An offensive from Salonica, being an attack on the German communications with Turkey, may imperil the troops sent by the enemy to resist the progress of the campaign from Mesopotamia and, failing this, it may starve those troops of supplies by compelling the foe to employ the railways at full capacity south of the Danube in resisting the allied offensive in the Balkans. Up to the present, however, the actions fought by the allies have been on a minor scale. They are the prelude to greater things.

An intense local struggle marked the fighting on the British front south of the Souchez River, in France, yesterday when the Canadians lost some ground and later recovered it. The holding of the disputed area, makes the British position more favorable for an attack on the Lens salient, and this peril is impelling the enemy to use up great masses of troops in a desperate struggle to push the British line back. Yesterday's attack on the German line was the third launched since the Canadians captured the position. The enemy began the fighting early in the morning with flaming liquid, and after three hours' severe fighting the British posts had to withdraw under the weight of the enemy's repeated assaults. In the afternoon the British counter-attacked him and they recaptured the whole of the lost trenches. The three attacks cost the enemy great losses,

This burning liquid, like the poisonous gas, is not a new invention or discovery, but rather both these methods of attack and defence have been long known. Only out of humanity to the poor soldier the civilized nations had bound themselves not to use them in war. Lord Cochrane's celebrated invention, which was eschewed by the British admiralty, consisted only of a modern Greek fire, of Salaring for its supposed moral effect. modern Greek fire, or burning liquid. The enemy is employing it chiefly

An attack of the Germans on the French positions on both sides of Cernyen-Laonnois falled to win ground yesterday. The French barrage and machine gun fire smashed the assaulting waves. An immediate counter-attack threw out some Germans who had gained a footing in about 200 yards of an advanced trench. The French in a raid in the Argonne made some prisoners.

The arrival of fresh divisions of German troops before the British and French battlefronts, reinforced by more artillery, seems to show that the enemy has drawn on his central mass of manocuvre, collected in Germany during the winter for an offensive against Russia. The allies have therefore probably succeeded in one object of their offensive, the destruction of the enemy's plan to assail the allies in the east, where the going would be easier Hospital last night in the police amthan in the west. LONDON SHORT OF COAL.

That the 25 coal yards in London, Ont., have not 100 tons of fuel all told on hand was the information given by H. A. Harrington, Secretary of the coal section of the Retail Merchants' Association, to a reporter for The World last night on his return from that city. This amount had been sold, but not as yet delivered, and dealers were experiencing great difficulty in securing coal from the States. The London City Council recently passed a resolution authorizing the municipality to enter the fuel business, but, according to the act, Mr. Harrington says a bylaw will have to be passed before the necessary permission can be obtained from the Ontario Railway Board and governor-in-council.

Absorption Process Makes Faces Young

Success has at last come to scientists who for years have sought some method of removing the outer veil of facial skin in cases of unsightly complexions, which would be both painless and harmless. The new process is so simple, so inexpensive, the wonder is no one had discovered it long ago. It has been amply demonstrated that ordinary mercolized wax (sold by druggists in ounce packages) entirely removes, by gentle absorption, the withered, lifeless surface skin, showing the youthful, roselike skin beneath. The wax is applied at night, like cold cream, and washed off in the morning. The absorption also cleanses clogged pores, increasing the skin's breathing capacity and preserving tone, color and natural beauty of the new skin. Success has at last come to scientists
