FAMOUS GEMS OF PROSE
KANSAS
By John J. Ingalls

KANSAS is the nucleus of our political system, around which forces assemble, to which its energies converge, and from which its energies radiate to the remotest circumference. Kansas is the focus of freedom, where the rays of heat and light concentrated into a flame that melted the manacles of the slave and cauterized the heresies of state sovereignty, and disunion. Kansas is the core and kernel of the country, containing the germs of its growth and the quickening ideas essential to its perpetuity. The history of Kansas is written in capitals; it is punctuated with explanation points. Its verbs are imperative. Its adjectives are superlative. The commonplace and prosaic are not defined in its lexicon. Its statistics can be stated only in the language of hyperbole.

The aspiration of Kansas is to reach the unattainable; its dream is the realization of the impossible. Alexander wept because there were no more worlds to conquer. Kansas, having vanquished all competitors, smiles complacently as she surpasses from year to year her own triumphs in growth and glory. Other states could be spared with irreparable bereavement, but Kansas is indispensable to the joy, the inspiration, and the improvement of the world. It seems incredible that there was a time when Kansas did not exist; when its name was not written on the map of the United States; when the Kansas cyclone, the Kansas grasshopper, the Kansas boom and the Kansas Utopia were unknown.

I was a student in the junior class at Williams college when President Pierce, forgotten but for that signature, approved the act establishing the territory of Kansas, May 30, 1854. I remember the inconceivable agitation that preceded, accompanied and followed this event. It was an epoch. Destiny closed one volume of our annals, and opening another, traced with shadowy finger upon its pages a million epitaphs, ending with Appomattox.

Kansas was a prologue to a tragedy whose epilogue has not yet been pronounced; the prelude to a fugue of battles whose reverberations have not yet died away.

Floating one summer night upon a moonlight sea, I heard far over the still waters a high clear voice singing:

To the west! To the west! To the land of the free,
Where the mighty Missouri rolls down to the sea;
Where a man is a man if he's willing to toil,
And the humbles may gather the fruits of the soil.

CHAPTER VI.
A Journey to Paris.

The night of Talbot's letter seemed to fret Brett's imagination. He radiated electric energy. Both Lord Fairholme and Miss Talbot felt that in his presence all doubts vanished. They realized, without knowing why, that this man of power, this sultan dynamo, would quickly dispel the clouds which now rendered the outlook so forbidding. For the moment, heeds of his presence, he began to pace the room in the Grand Hotel which he had of his thoughts. Once he halted in front of the small bust of Edgar Allan Poe, whose pedestal still imprisoned the order.

PREMIER UNHURT IN TRAIN WRECK

Sir Wilfrid's Special in Collision With a Freight—Both Engines Wrecked and Several Passengers Injured

Regina, Aug. 7—While speeding along at sixty miles an hour late Friday night with what the engineer believed to be a clear track before him, Sir Wilfrid Laurier's special train collided head on with a fast train westbound, about midway between Moosejaw and Regina. The premier was thrown from his seat to the floor amid a litter of broken dishes and overturned furniture, but rose and declared himself unharmed.

Hon. George P. Graham and Senator Gibson, who were in another car, were also thrown down, and Mr. Graham limped for some time afterwards, but was otherwise unharmed.

The conductor of the special sustained the most serious injury, having several ribs broken.

The engineers and firemen of the two trains jumped and escaped with bruises and scratches.

The press car suffered the most severely of any in the special, many of the newspaper men receiving painful bruises. None was seriously hurt, however.

The wreck occurred far out on the prairie, about three and a half miles west of Pense. The night was dark as possible and a driving rain was falling. Some of the press men made their way along the track to Pense and a wrecking crew was summoned from Moosejaw.

The engines of both trains were smashed, as well as four freight cars and the baggage car of the special.

South Battleford, Sask., Aug. 7—(Special)—Following a day of travel in which he addressed a gathering at Davidson, Hanley, Dundurn, Langham and North Battleford, Sir Wilfrid Laurier spent Sunday resting at the residence of Senator Prince here.

The premier has been showered with congratulations and telegrams from all parts of Canada on his escape in the wreck of his train Friday night. The several addresses, at various points visited, all made reference to the accident with an expression of thanks that the premier had been unharmed.

Sir Wilfrid assured all he felt no ill effects from the shaking up. Speaking at Langham, he congratulated the people on the number of children in the gathering. "Come from Quebec," he said smilingly, "I am better able to appreciate the presence in the homes of many little ones."

There was a reception at Battleford at night with a torchlight procession and bands, followed by brief addresses by the premier. Hon. Mr. Graham, Messrs. Pardee and McDonald.

Sir Wilfrid will be joined tomorrow at Lloydminster by Hon. Frank Oliver, who has just returned from a trip to the Yukon, and Provincial Premier Sifton.
