

DREADED PARIS APACHES HAVE INVADDED UNITED STATES, ASSERT POLICE!

Daring "Silent Murders"—Strangling—In Sensational Crime Wave—Noosed Rope, the European System, Only Clue To Latest Baffling Slayings in Chicago—Criminals Flee To States to Escape Army Service in France

THE LATEST APACHE MURDER

Flashlight photograph taken just as police and reporters arrived in the scene of the Chicago hat factory where Emil Emsheimer, the victim, was strangled. Emsheimer's body, with the peculiar rope still about the neck, is seen lying on the floor.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 5.—Have the terrible Apache garrotes of Paris invaded the United States?

The Chicago police, utterly baffled by a series of atrocious murders, all committed in the exact style used by the Apaches, are arriving at the conclusion that a band of the garrotes are operating in Chicago, and possibly also in New York. In both places a strange wave of crime is now prevailing.

The brutal daylight murder of Emil Emsheimer, a wealthy hat manufacturer, as he sat at his desk one afternoon a few days ago in his place of business a few doors off State street and the methods used by the murderers, coupled with the other crimes, have startled the police.

They believe that either two or three of the men who committed the nine atrocious murders in one quarter of Paris in 1911 have reached Chicago or that a band of Chicago thugs reading of the methods of the Apaches has adopted their system of murder—the "silent system" of strangling.

The killing of Nicholas T. Burns, a wealthy rope manufacturer, the police now incline to think can be traced to the same gang of organized murderers and, after the discovery of the method in which Emsheimer was killed, the detectives renewed their efforts in the Burns case to see whether or not Burns was strangled rather than poisoned.

To add color to the Apache theory a report has been received by both New York and Chicago police as well as by the police of other cities from the Prefect of Police in Paris that to escape the service in the army many of the most notorious criminals of Paris have fled to the United States by way of Italy and American police have been warned to watch for them.

Scores were rounded up and sent to the firing line, but many others got away. Had they gone to England they would have been arrested and sent back to France as deserters. The United States was the only spot in the world open to them.

The theory that the "loop murderers" committed in the downtown business district of Chicago, are the work of an Apache gang has been strengthened greatly by the discovery of a rope which was bound and noosed around the throat of the murdered hat manufacturer.

At first the police thought the rope a

COULD NOT SLEEP OR DO HOUSEWORK

The Grippe Left Mrs. Findley in Such a Weak, Nervous Condition That Her Case Was Serious.

Severy, Kans.—"The Grippe left me in a very weak, nervous, run-down condition. I was too weak to do my housework and could not sleep. I tried different medicines without benefit and finally one day read about Vinol, and decided to try it. In a very short time I could see an improvement and after taking two bottles I have a good appetite and my health and strength was restored.

"I think Vinol is a grand medicine and every weak, nervous, run-down woman should take it."—Mrs. Geo. Findley, Severy, Kans.

Vinol creates strength because it contains all the medicinal tissue-building elements of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh, healthy cod livers. To this is added peptonate of iron, a most essential element for the blood, all dissolved in a delicious tonic native wine. Vinol creates an appetite, aids digestion, makes pure healthy blood. In this natural manner it builds up the run-down, weak and nervous system, replaces weakness with strength. If Vinol fails to create strength after sickness we will return your money.

THE APPLE MEN

Why is there no horticultural hall of fame? While looking through a fruit book this morning, I was struck by the number of apples that have been named after people, and I began to wonder vaguely what those people looked like. It has been a pleasing custom with humanity to erect statues to those who have achieved much but the men who have given us wonderful apples have been allowed to pass into oblivion. It is just possible that we might be able to secure portraits—mellow old daguerotypes, in red plush frames, of McIntosh who gave us the McIntosh Red, and of Colonel Swazie who developed the Swazie Pomme Gris, but beyond these two everything seems blank. Baxter, Gideon, Mann, Patten, Porter, Scott, Tolman, Wagner, and Whitney—all have excellent apples named after them but their names are not even "names in a remembered rhyme." Poets painters and sculptors have neglected to preserve their features and good qualities with imperishable art, and yet their names may prove imperishable on account of the apples they gave us. Then again, who can tell me anything of Fantasy, Martha, and Louise? The latter we know was Princess Louise as the apple was introduced during the time she occupied Rideau Hall, but Fanny and Martha must ever remain mysterious heroines of horticulture. Loved they were and admired beyond a doubt, or they would never have had apples named after them.

I have purposely omitted two names from this list because the prominence still given to the apples named after them led me to speculate about them at greater length and more fancifully. There is Ben Davis. What kind of a man was he? I imagine he was a shrewd Yankee of the class that invented wooden nutmegs—a bluffer, and a good horse trader. A true picture of him would probably show him with his tongue in his cheek, and a suspicion of a wink hovering on his eyelid. The rascal must have known what a joke he was playing on posterity in introducing his beautifully colored, beautifully formed, tempting and disappointing apple. As a practical joker Ben deserves a niche in the humorous corner of our Hall of Fame.

But the man who kindles my imagination is Baldwin. He deserves a better fate than to be merely a name for his apple is still about our most serviceable winter variety. It is handsome, finely flavored, a good keeper, and equal to any other apple I ever knew were clergymen I think of him as a fine upright man, of sterling quality. Moreover, we have Milton's authority for thinking well of him. "None but such as are good men can give good gifts," and Baldwin's gift to humanity was of the best. According to the apple book he must have lived in Massachusetts and I like to think that he was of good Puritan stock and probably a passenger on the Mayflower, for the Baldwin apple is packed from core to skin with sterling qualities.

I am glad to know that many Baldwin's have been placed in storage this season, and along in January and February they will appear on the market in prime condition. If you try them then I am sure you will join me in extolling the virtues of the unknown Baldwin who gave us this excellent apple.

TABLET IN MEMORY OF WILLIAM CAMPBELL

An interesting and impressive ceremony took place in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church last evening, when a tablet to the memory of the late William Campbell, organizer of the first St. John Lodge F. & A. M., a former elder of St. Andrew's church, first mayor of St. John, one of the founders of the St. John Grammar school, and once connected with many of the charitable institutions of the city. The monument was erected by members of St. John's Lodge No. 2 F. & A. M. and was unveiled last evening by Dr. H. S. Bridges, F. G. M., and formally entrusted by him on behalf of St. John's Lodge to the trustees of St. Andrew's church. Dr. A. D. Smith, on behalf of the trustees, expressed their willingness and pleasure in accepting the charge of being entrusted with the monument erected to the memory of such a man. Dr. Bridges in unveiling the tablet referred to the notable services rendered by Mr. Campbell both to the city and to St. Andrew's church. He also drew the attention of the congregation to a tablet on the same wall, previously erected by the lodge to the memory of the late Rev. William Donald, D. D., first grand chaplain, and said it was fitting that the two tablets should have been placed side by side.

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person is troubled with catarrh in some form. Science has shown that nasal catarrh indicates a weakened condition of the mucous membranes, and that the mucous membranes are quickly affected, and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the nutrient food and a building tonic, free from harmful drugs or opiates. Try it.

Your Government protects you "Made in Canada" means security

"If you want a thing well done, do it yourself." This saying is nearly as old as the English language. It can be applied to Canada's trade at this moment better than ever in her history. Canada can rely no more on imports from Europe and other lands. The only way to fill her needs is to "do it yourself"—and then it will assuredly be well done.

Canada can produce anything that ever was, or can be manufactured abroad. It is only her lack of interest and neglect to try that has prevented the production of these articles of import. The time is now ripe to manufacture at home—to make and boost "Made in Canada" goods.

Buy Canadian flour, Canadian cloth, Canadian hardware, Canadian beverages, Canadian Gin—one of the most popular drinks in this country.

In buying and boosting Canadian manufactures you have the support and help of all right-thinking Canadians. RED CROSS GIN, the only gin made in Canada, is distilled in bond under the supervision of the Canadian Government. It is matured for several years and is not allowed to be sold to the consumer till it has passed that length of time in getting ripe and suitable for human food and drink. It thus has an absolute guarantee of satisfaction.

Government label is on every bottle

Compare this Government guarantee with the state of imported gin. You don't know what you drink when you use imported gin. It may only be two days old when it is sent to Canada. How are you to know differently? You have no guide to its quality as a fit drink for the delicate human body.

When you drink gin, insist on getting gin of home manufacture, not only because you are a good son of Canada, but because there is a guarantee of maturity behind every bottle of Canadian gin sold—see the Government label on every bottle.

Canada for the Canadians! Buy "Made in Canada" goods. Keep your cash in Canada. Ask for Canadian gin—RED CROSS GIN—and be sure that you get it.

Do Not Forget!

Canada's matured RED CROSS GIN will change its name and be known from January first next as
