Fables On Health

EVADE DISAGREEABLE TASKS

MRS. MANN knew from experience that children naturally seek excuses for evading disagreeable tasks.

But if parents permit them to carry these habits into adult life, the parent has permitted a great wrong to be perpetrated upon the child, and upon the community.

Most normal folk, when the real pinch comes, are sufficiently courageous to look the difficulty square in the face, and proceed to vanish it as best they can.

Others, because their parents failed to understand the danger of permitting them, when children, to acquire the unwholesome habits, invariably try to run away from responsibility.

These persons—and their number is legion—attempt to side-step reality by taking recourse in vague, ill-defined physical complaints—headaches, e'e-strain, backaches, excessive but mysterious fatigue, and a dozen other bodily symptoms, for which the most searching physical examination reveals no physical cause.

Parents can do much, if they will, to prevent such habits from winding their tenacles around the lives of their children.

THE PIEMAN'S PIES.

Nancy and Nick and Mister Whizz had no idea that the magic snuff had been spilled and that dreadful things were happening in Daddy Gander Town.

But one thing they did know about. It was about Simple Simon and the Pieman's pies.

In the first place, the Muffin Man never could bear the Pieman. He called him a peddler and cheap-skate and everything that he could think of.

"How can he sell pies for a penny?" said the Muffin Man, "when I can scarcely make a decent living by selling them for ten cents apiece. I'll bet you his apple pies are made of dried apples with the skins on and the cores in, and his raisin pies are made of about two raisins and the rest flour and water—to thicken them up. And I'd hate to think of what his custard pies are made of. I'll bet you anything they never saw the inside of an egg shell."

That was the wey the Muffin Man talked and when he heard the Pieman coming down the street calling, "Pies a penny—Pies a penny," he got so excited that he couldn't count a straight dozen. He had been known to count out thirteen doughnuts time and again when he heard the Pieman's cry. In ttime thirteen began to be known as a baker's dozen.

The day that the magic snuff got spilled, Simple Simon had stopped the Pieman right in front of the Muffin Man's shop.

"Please give me a pie. I'm hungry. I'd like to taste your ware," said Simon.

The Pieman was in a hurry because it was Fair Day, and that was where he was going.

"I'll sell you one for a penny," said the Pieman. "What kind do you want?"

"I want them all," said Simon, "only I haven't a penny. I haven't any money at all."

"Then why did you stop me?" cried the Pieman. "Out of my way, boy."

At that very minute Snitcher Snatch, the goblin, rolled out of the Muffin Man's door and spilled some of the magis snuff out of the gold snuff box.

And one grain of it got up the Pieman's nose.

The very next minute he had breathed it in.

"Achoo!" he went so loudly it must have been heard in St. Louis or maybe China or it is just possible even in San Francisco.

Instantly all of his pies flew in every direction. Simple Simon got two and ran home as fast as his legs could carry him.

But most of them flew into the Muffin Man's shop and settled on the counter.

"Aha!" cried the Muffin Man. "Now I can find what the Pieman's pies are made of—wouldn't be surprised if they were filled with sawdust."

But instead he found that they were much better than the pies he made himself.

"I'll tell you how it is," said Mister Whizz. "The Pieman has no rent—no paper bags to buy—and no delivery boy to pay. Besides his pies are smaller than yours."

"That's a fact," said the Muffin Man thoughtfully. "I guess he is an honest man after all. Perhaps I'll take him into partnership with me. What do you say, Mister Pieman?"

To Be Continued.

ARE YOU TORTURED WITH ECZEMA?

Eczema, or Salt Rheum, as it is commonly called, is one of the most agonizing of all skin diseases.

The intense burning, itching and smarting, especially at night or when the parts are exposed to heat are almost unbearable and relief is greatly welcomed.

The most reliable and effective remedy for this trouble is

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

Mrs. J. R. Johnson, R. R. No. 1, Oshawa, Ont., writes: "For years I was troubled with eczema, and had that terrible itching and burning sensation, and could find no relief for it, and after my second bottle I began to see a great difference, and I can, now, advise anyone troubled as I was to use this wonderful remedy."

For sale at all druggists and dealers; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

POLKA DOTS POPULAR

The blue foulard dress with the white polka dot is seen in all the smartest style collections. Frequently it is worn with a straightline kasha coat lined with the foulard.

Evening Pumps Like Sandals

THE new pumps for evening are elaborate and ornate. These sketched come in velvet to match the evening costume and they are trimmed with appliqued designs of gold kid. The sandal cut, though not so popular for day wear, is very smart for evening. Notice that the heels have not been slighted, but are as ornate as the vamp.

SHORTER COATS

Many of the smart ensembles have coats a few inches shorter than the dress so that the figured material of the frock may show beneath the coat.

WHAT IS THE USE OF LIVING?

What is the use of living when a woman gets up in the morning as tired as when she went to bed at night, with headache, backache, dragging-down pains, nervous, irritable and despondent? These are all symptoms of ailments peculiar to her sex which make life a burden. Every woman in this condition should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a good old-fashioned remedy made from roots and herbs. It contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and for fifty years has been restoring women to health and strength and the joys of living.

SOFT WOVEN TWEEDS

Tweeds, particularly the very soft weaves in very delicate shades are liked for spring coats and jumper dresses.

BLACKHEADS

Blackheads go quickly by a simple method that just dissolves them. Get two ounces of peroxine powder from your druggist, rub this with a hot, wet cloth briskly over the blackheads—and you will wonder where they have gone.

WIDE CHOKER POPULAR

The wide choker of fur, fastened on the side with a wide satin bow, is very practical for wear with the new spring coats that have the mannish collar line.

BLACK AND WHITE

Black lace is a very popular trimming on dresses of white chiffon or white taffeta. In fact, the combination of black lace with white is much smarter than the all black lace outfit.

AMBER LACE FANS

Lace fans with lovely amber or carved ivory sticks are a pleasant change from the more common plumed varieties.
