

SAY TARIFF LAW WOULD PRODUCE HIGHER PRICES

People of United States Being Warned by Merchants to Buy Before Bill Comes Into Force on Account of Predicted Rise in Costs!

Washington, Sept. 6.—(Canadian Press)—Numerous United States merchants are already putting out advertising telling their customers they had better buy before the new tariff bill goes into effect...

Advertisements of this kind, as a matter of fact, are appearing in papers that circulate freely in Washington. At least one Washington tailor has been putting out advertising in the local newspapers in which he tells graphically of the prospective rise in the prices of woollens and hence of clothing due to the new tariff.

Whichever view one takes as to the merits of the new tariff measure, it is plain that the airing of such views to the public on a wide scale is not calculated to make the action on the bill when it becomes law more favorable to it.

Republican members of the House who have lately been in their districts, by reason of the House recess of a month, bringing back many reports to the effect the tariff bill has few friends among the voters. Many of the rank and file of the Republicans are viewing the bill with apprehension and look for it to increase the cost of living. Although no such forceful fight was made on the pending bill in Congress as was made on the Payne-Aldrich bill in 1909—a bill which helped to wreck the Republican party...

May Hold Up Bill

The question whether the Republican leaders will let the tariff bill go into effect before the November elections continues to be widely discussed. Opinion among Republicans in Congress is divided on whether it is politically safe to let it go into effect before the elections are becoming increasingly active.

Embarrass President

Flexible or elastic features of the tariff measure, which was recently passed by the senate and will now be considered in conference committee of the two houses, promise to cause much trouble and embarrassment to the president.

Under the flexible provisions, the president can raise or lower rates to the extent of fifty per cent, or less in order to make the rates keep pace with difference in cost of production here and abroad.

As calculated here, the result of this will be that manufacturers in this country and others who think they do not have enough protection will flock to see the president and ask for relief.

OREGON FORESTS TO BE OPENED TO LUMBERMEN

Perpetual Lumbering Claims Ready to be Turned Over for Use of People of U. S. Under Federal Regulations.

Washington, Sept. 6.—According to an announcement just made by the Department of Agriculture, a vast timber area in eastern Oregon is to be opened for permanent development.

This new timber region is on the watershed of the Silvies River in the Malheur National Forest of eastern Oregon. It covers an area of 550,000 acres and contains nearly seven billion feet of mature sawtimber.

Government foresters have worked out a plan of management for this stand of timber that provides a continuous perpetual supply of raw material for a lumber manufacturing industry to be located in the vicinity of Burns, Ore., and capable of using from fifty to sixty million feet of logs annually.

The first sale to be made in this region will be that of the Bear Valley unit, which is estimated to contain 800 million feet of sawtimber. This timber is being offered for development under Forest Service regulations that will insure continuous production for all time.

Another announcement of the department, relating to the same timber region, says a perpetual logging chance is to be offered to lumbermen. The announcement states that a logging chance on which fifty to sixty million board feet of timber can be cut annually for all time is the unparalleled offer to American lumbermen.

Chesterfield Suites On Special Sale For $148.50

At a reduction too ridiculous to mention, our south window contains a brightly tinted Chesterfield and twin lounging chairs of solid comfort and construction.

The tapestry coloring is a light harmony of roses and foliage. The thoroughness of the upholstery shows again in the full ridging and backs. All cushions loose and springy.

Altogether a very neat group and price—it won't be shown long.

In fact, the store in general is an exhibition in itself of fine furniture fairly priced.

NEW YORK POLICE CAT JUMPS INTO STATION AND DIES

Jerry O'Connell, doorman at the East Fifty-third street police station, New York, sat in the squad room the other night reading a newspaper. Unseen by the desk lieutenant or any of the policemen, Jerry, the station cat, so called because he was rescued from the streets by O'Connell a year and a half ago, hopped into the room and jumped into the chair next to the one in which O'Connell was sitting without attracting his attention.

Some time passed and O'Connell, laying down his newspaper, saw Jerry and patted his head. There was no response and O'Connell, thinking the cat asleep, poked a playful finger into his ribs. The cat remained motionless. O'Connell investigated and found that Jerry was dead.

SURVIVES ELECTRIC SHOCK. Workman Takes New York Central Current, But is Only Burned.

New York, Sept. 6.—Although he had gripped with both hands a highly charged electric wire which conveys power to the New York Central train, George B. Wagner, 28, of 7 Saco street, Rochester, Mass., was said to be in no danger of death in Lincoln Hospital.

The driver of a small car, which was coming in the Marsh Road last night, reports an attempted case of car ramming which he experienced. He says that he was coming in with his lamps dimmed as the night was not dark, when another car from town with lamps glaring, came towards him. There was a flash signal from the big car and then the glare was turned on again and it was steered diagonally towards the smaller one. It was only by extremely careful maneuvering that an accident was averted.

Taste the New Treat in Wheat EATMOR—the golden wheat bread that makes the homiest spread—completes the chain of individual flavors from Robinson's Kitchens. A lighter balance of milk, sugar and shortening than Butter-NUT, EATMOR was baked for folks who relish above all the full flavor of the wheat. And a more delicate whiff of wheat was never brought to a brown by master chef. Months of arranging and rearranging of recipes now have their reward in a loaf of rare fineness in texture, in creaminess of color, crowned by buttery brown crust. You've been waiting for EATMOR and you're bound to want more.

LEAVES GROCERY TO BECOME THIEF

Unsuccessful in Business, a New York Man Starts New Career—Police Call Halt.

John Haymasi of West Ninety-ninth street, New York, went into the grocery business in Harlem several months ago, but could not make it pay, so he shut up shop. He found himself with a grudge against other grocers in the borough who secured to prosper, so he turned robber, to prey on them. He was caught on Saturday after his third robbery, in which he shot a grocer in the hand, then fled without booty. He was as inept a criminal as he was a grocer; for he used his own automobile, without changing the license number.

His latest victim was Albert Holtz of 2743 Eighth avenue. Haymasi went into Holtz's shop on Wednesday afternoon and ordered Holtz to throw up his hands. Holtz reached for a lard scoop, and Haymasi thought he was diving for a gun. Haymasi fired, the bullet lodged in Holtz's ribs, then he turned to the door just as the robber was jumping into his automobile. Holtz got the number, then telephoned the police. He was taken to Harlem Hospital.

Detectives found Haymasi in his home and after a hard fight lodged him in a cell for robbery and assault. Then he told his hard luck story. His automobile was found in a garage, a pistol under a seat cushion. Believing that Haymasi answered the description of one of two robbers they had been looking for in other recent hold-ups, the detectives summoned the victims to the station house and Haymasi was identified by Robert Smith of 1,662 Boston Road, the Bronx, as one of the men who robbed him of $100 in his grocery store on August 6.

Mrs. Louise Zilinsky, who keeps a grocery at 1,497 Lexington avenue, identified Haymasi as one of the two men who robbed her of a small amount of money in her apartment at 168 East Ninety-sixth street an August 7.

INVESTIGATION OF SHOOTING IN CAMP OF JACK CLIFFORD Plattsburgh, N. Y., Sept. 5.—An investigation of a shooting on Thursday night of A. M. Johnson, husband of Peggy Marsh, actress and professional dancer, at the camp of Jack Clifford on Shateaugay Lake, has been begun by the state police under the direction of District Attorney Harold A. Jerry of Clinton county. At the time of the shooting it was announced at the hospital here that Johnson had accidentally shot himself while putting away a revolver that had been used in target practice. Statements already have been obtained from Mrs. Johnson and her wounded husband, and state troopers made inquiries for further details in connection with the case at Mr. Clifford's camp. District Attorney Jerry also revealed that he expects to question other guests

NEGROES HUNT GOLD AND GHOST

Woman Starts a Treasure Search by Telling of Vision of Roadhouse Keeper's Hoard.

New York, Sept. 6.—If the police reserves of the Atlantic avenue station, Brooklyn, had not arrived a little after midnight in front of 1,297 Atlantic avenue, a search by a crowd of 500 awestricken negro men and women for a pot of gold and the ghost of Diederich Hencke, who conducted a roadhouse at that address more than thirty years ago, might have continued all night.

Recently Mrs. Alice Allen, a negroes, who lives at Broadway and Varet streets, Brooklyn, says the ghost of Hencke appeared to her and told her that he had buried a pot of gold, worth about $2,000, in his building. He promised to meet Mrs. Allen at the corner of Atlantic and Troy avenues and lead her to the hidden wealth.

Mrs. Allen showed up, but the ghost didn't. Unable to keep her secret, Mrs. Allen imparted it to friends in the neighborhood. The news quickly spread
