

Re: Julien LALONDE - Driftpile. Alberta.
Murder ( See 263 ) C.C. of C.

-----my bed again-----

Albert had stayed in bed. Jean said that she was hungry as she had not lunched anywhere. She ~~what~~ took some food out of the cupboard, sat on the baby's bed, & ate her lunch from the table. The baby's bed was right close to the table. I then told her that her husband "Dan Willier" had moved to William (Okemow) Willier's place. She asked me when Dan had come back. I told her the furniture had first been brought to our home, and that they had taken it to William's place.

(O) After her lunch, Jean said; - " I have to go to the toilet, and she went out. She was out about two minutes. When she came in, Julien Lalonde came in right behind her. He sat on the bench opposite the window, close to it, and Jean sat on the baby's bed. Albert asked Julien to put some wood on the fire. When Julien finished putting wood on the fire, he sat on the bench again.

(P) Julien and Jean started to talk of having been to Faust. Jean said she had gone to Luzion Willier's place, but did not go to the dance. While Jean was making this statement, Dan Willier came in, and went close to Jean who was still sitting on the baby's bed. Jean said; - "What did you come for?" Dan Answered; - " I just came to see." Jean said; - " I don't want to see your face." Dan said; - " You won't see me anymore." Jean said; - "Why not see you." Dan went out.

(Q) About four or five minutes after Dan went out, Jean, Albert and Julien said they heard a shot. I did not hear this shot. About two minutes later we all heard a shot.

(R) I told Albert to get up, I got off the bed and Albert got up. Jean looked out of the window, while Albert and I were dressing, and she said that there was a light in the window of the lean-to of William (Okemow) Willier's place, where Dan had moved.

(S) When Dan Willier went out, Julien Lalonde had left his seat on the bench by the window, and had had sat on the wood-box by the door, away from the window. He was still sitting on the wood-box when Jean was looking out of the window.

(T) When Albert was dressed, I told him to go and see if Dan was at his home where the light was shining. Before Albert went out, Julien asked him to see if his 22 rifle was still leaning against the house, outside, to his right as he went out. Albert opened the door and looked, and said: "22 rifle is not here". Julien said: "He must have taken it". I stayed at the door and Albert went out. He took the short-cut towards his Dad's place. He went about eight paces up this path, then turned back, and came back. I was standing by the door, and said: "What is it?". He did not answer right away, but came into the house, and went by the stove. He then said: "I'm going to tell the truth". There is a body lying out there. Julien Lalonde said not to tell the truth, because he might have trouble as his 22 rifle was gone. He also asked Albert to go out and place his 22 rifle by the body, and bring his "Julien's" rifle back. Albert said: "No chance, I won't go there any more". Albert then told me to get my things on and to go with him to his father's place. I got ready, and as we were about to leave, Julien Lalonde asked us not to tell William (Okemow) Willier that he had been at our place, and as we left he hid under our bed. Jean was looking after my baby.

(U) Albert and I left, and took the road to William (Okemow) Willier's place. We did not take the short-cut on which the body was lying. We did not go near the body at this time.

(V) When we reached William (Okemow) Willier's place, I went and looked through the window where Dan was making his home. The light was on, but there was no one there. We then went around to the door and went into the part of the house occupied by William (Okemow) Willier. Albert called: "My Dad". The old man said: "What is it?". Albert said: "There is something happened". The old man got up and dressed up and we three went on a path by the fence posts and stopped about nine feet from the body. This was the body of Dan Willier's. I recognized him by his clothes. He was lying on his back, with his head pointing
