BLACKSMITH AND PREACHER.

An illiterate Tennessee Evangelist Who Has Had Great Success.

The Rev. Tom Sexton, the blacksmith preacher, who is known to thousands of people throughout East Tennessee, has been preaching the Gospel for eight years and never went to school a day in his life. This man has an interesting career; in fact, it is remarkable. He is now just 40 years old, and during the coming winter he is going to take a study course, and some day he will doubtless be one of the leading evangelists of the country. His home is in Maryville, where he has a wife and a family of little ones.

Few people who are natives of Blount county and who saw Tom Sexton grow up to manhood ever dreamed that he would be a minister of the Gospel. He was born near Clarksville, Ga., and is the son of John Sexton, who was a veteran blacksmith.

In 1870 the Sexton family located in Blount county, and the old man opened a small blacksmith shop alongside the Knoxville and Augusta Railroad track, about three miles beyond Rockford. Here he remained until a few years before his death, which occurred seven years ago. Sexton's shop was known far and wide; in fact, it was the only one in that neck in the woods for several years. Tom grew up around the shop, and about all he learned was the trade of his father. When he became of age he was married, and soon after opened shop for himself at Maryville, but later moved to Rockford, where he spent at least ten years of his life. He was known over the country as an habitual drunkard, and was often in trouble, neglecting his business to a great extent.

One day he had been to Knoxville, boozing pretty heavily, and thought the train had left him, so he attempted to walk home. Out near the Knoxville and Augusta junction he sat down upon a cross-bench and when the train came along he refused to get up, and the consequence was that he was knocked into a ditch, but not seriously hurt, and was picked up and taken to his home, which then was in a little frame hut just beyond the Rockford depot.

Another time he was going home late one night, riding horse-back, and rode his horse into a ditch, the animal falling on him, and neither was able to get up until a man came along and took the animal off the man. Another time he drove a blind mule into the river, having in the buggy his wife and children, but it happened none of them were killed.

Eight years ago Tom professed religion and determined to lead a better life. He concluded that he had been called to preach and so at Marytown, in London county, he preached his first sermon, and from that day to this he has kept constantly at it. In Knoxville he has held four revivals and had 390 conversions. During all his life of drunkenness he says his good wife prayed for him, and never did he doubt her religion, and since he became a preacher she has taught him to read and write. Since then he has had a strong desire to attain more knowledge, but has never had the time nor the means. He is now preaching throughout East Tennessee to get money enough to support his family or three months during the winter, while he puts in that time in studying. Some of the college professors at Maryville have agreed to give him instructions and to hear him recite. While in the city one day last week he said that he was going to cast off all care and do nothing but study. Early in the fall he will open a big revival in Knoxville, and what money he can make will go toward keeping his family while he is studying.—Knoxville Tribune.

Hotel Aberdeen.

The Aberdeen Hotel Company (Limited) desires to give its sincere thanks to the travelling public, and the citizens of St. John, for their generous and steadily increasing patronage extended to the Hotel Aberdeen since it was opened by the late proprietor, Mr. G. R. Pugsley.

Consequent upon Mr. Pugsley's death certain changes have been rendered advisable, and in making them the utmost care has been taken to preserve the high reputation which the hotel had attained under the management of Mr. E. M. Tree, with whom the company will part with much regret. Mr. D. A. Pugsley, proprietor of the Hotel Belle View at Robesay, which in the summer months will be operated in connection with the hotel, has been appointed treasurer of this company, and will on the first of November assume an active part in the management of the Aberdeen. The complete satisfaction afforded the patrons of the Belle View and the success achieved by Mr. and Mrs. Pugsley in placing it at once in the front rank among the summer hotels of Canada will be a sufficient guarantee to the public that the high standard of the Aberdeen will be maintained under the new management. The aim of the company will be to make this house more than ever a comfortable, home-like hotel. For the coming winter a number of additional permanent boarders will be taken at reasonable rates.

The Morality of Dancing.

Harmful? Demoralizing? Sinful? That depends entirely upon the individual and associations. Henry Ward Beecher once said: "I have numerous inquiries as to what I think about church members attending the theaters. To such I always ask, what do you think of it yourself? If you think it is harmful, then it is harmful. If not, under rational conditions, there is no harm whatever in it." And so it is with dancing. Those who dance purely for the sake of amusement or for the ease and grace which the pastime imparts to the individual, can derive no harm from it. Those who are demoralized by dancing would be led astray by anything else. Always taking into consideration selectness and respectability, dancing in itself ought not to harm the individual person so will it.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Figures on Electric Power.

The ever-increasing multiplication of the uses to which electric power is being put is strikingly illustrated by the report of one of the large electrical manufacturing companies of this country, which states that during the first six months of this year they have received contracts for over 48,000 horse-power in power machinery alone, which aggregate is greater than the total output for the last year. Each successive year has shown a large increase in the power of machinery thus supplied, but this year the increase has been unprecedented.

The Tone Ideal

Is the aim of every piano maker. In no instrument has it been so nearly attained as in the Pratt Piano.

Without being "wooly" the tone is mellow without being "metallic" or "wiry"; it is brilliant, it is singing sympathetic, full.

The power of tone modulation as well as the capacity for expression in the Pratt Piano, give it almost the influence of the singer's voice.

It enables the artist to portray emotion of joy, sadness, anger or love, more delicately on these instruments than on any other.

Cheque Bank Cheques.

THE undersigned having been appointed agents for the sale of Cheque Bank cheques, are prepared to sell them in any sum, from one shilling up to £1000.

THE CHEQUE BANK LTD., LONDON, ENGLAND, has been issuing these Cheques for over twenty-one years.

Cheque Bank Cheques are drafts of the Cheque Bank, Ltd., payable on demand, without advice, without indorsement.

They offer the following advantages:

Safety, Negotiability, Convenience

Practically they are Certified Cheques. They pass in Great Britain like Bank of England notes. They are negotiable in every country of the world. They are issued and cashed by some of the largest Banks in Great Britain.

We will sell these Cheques to tourists and travellers in books of assorted denominations from £1 to £50, to be filled in at pleasure by the purchaser, when, and for such amounts as desired, each Cheque being signed by purchaser only as required.

Each Cheque is perforated for a fixed maximum sum. It can be filled in for that, or for any less amount.

They are particularly useful as a means of remittance for ACCOUNTS payable in Great Britain, Ireland and Continent of Europe, and therefore desirable for merchants and remitters. They are also most suitable as a means for remitting money to friends living abroad.

[BLAIR & CO., Bankers

CONVENIENT FOR TRAVELLERS.

How a Tourist Can Always Have Money Without a Roll.

The traveller who has felt it necessary in the past to provide himself with certain kinds of funds for use when journeying has a more convenient and safer method presented for his inspection in the cheque bank system, which saves one the trouble of making such preparations and enables him to draw his money en route as he needs it by using the cheque book of the Cheque Bank. Messrs. Blair & Co. are agents for this bank in this city and are authorized to issue these cheque books.

The cost of them is small and some of the many advantages are outlined in a little hand book which contains a lot of information respecting the bank's methods and agents.

In the case of an ordinary cheque there is always a certain amount of doubt that it will be paid, as there can be no assurance that its drawer has the necessary balance at the bank on which it is drawn. This can never be a question in regard to cheque bank cheques, as they cannot be obtained until the maximum value for which the cheque can be drawn has been deposited in cash with the bank, and that money is retained until the cheques are presented; consequently merchants, tradespeople, hotel keepers, and the public may treat the cheque bank cheque as absolutely equal to cash, as Bank of England notes are, and for the same reason—that they positively represent so much cash held for their payment on presentation. Every cheque is numbered and the number is recorded in the bank's books.

The crossing of cheques, which necessitates their being cleared through a bank, affords considerable protection to their holders and can in no way interfere with their circulation.

It is not necessary to keep a banking account to get cheque bank cheques cashed—they may be freely passed from hand to hand, like bank notes, until at last, through a banker, they are paid by the cheque bank.

Cheque bank cheques are the most convenient form of carrying money while travelling. The cheques are cheaper, and afford innumerable advantages over circular notes or letters of credit.

The bank has agents and correspondents in every part of the world, who will cash checks on presentation without advice or identification at the current rate of exchange.

Cheque bank cheques are also accepted by the principal hotels both at home and abroad. Railway companies in the United Kingdom for fares; steamship companies for passage money etc.; and by tourist and shipping agents for tickets, hotel coupons etc.

HORSES AFTER SEDAN.

Horses Grow Accustomed to War and Learn to Like It.

Cavalry horses, as soldiers well know, become in time so accustomed to military discipline that the ways of warfare are not less than second nature to them. Often they appear to share the excitement and ardor of the strife; again, when wounded or terrified, they will frequently keep with their companions and continue to share dangers which they in part understand rather than fly alone beyond the reach of orders and orderly formation, in which they seem to feel a certain protection.

Striking indeed is that passage in Kinglake's narrative of the charge of the Light Brigade at Balaclava, where he describes how the riderless and often injured chargers, so long as they could gallop, remained with the last thinning ranks of the devoted six hundred, dashing down the "valley of death" straight upon the Russian batteries, unguided, and indeed undesired. One officer, riding ahead of his men, was so closely beset and pressed upon by these riderless steeds that he was obliged to use his sword to free himself, lest when he met the enemy he should not have space enough in which to fight.

In a recent interesting volume on his experience with the Anglo-American ambulance during the Franco-German War, Mr. Charles Ryan gives incidentally a graphic picture of the war-horses which wandered loose by the hundred after the battle of Sedan. After a compassionate word upon the sufferings of wounded horses, which from one of the minor yet most hideous of the horrors of war, he tells how the sound and slightly wounded animals flocked together and came under the very walls of the hospital where he served.

"A source of disturbance during the night was the droves of loose horses, principally Arabs, that kept neighing and pawing the pavement outside the building."

JEALOUS RIVALS

Cannot turn back the tide. The demand for Dr. Agnew's little Pills is a marvel.
