FOR LOVE OF BETTY

(Copyright, 1920, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

LII.—'He's Nothing to Me!'

But April was quick-witted, and she knew that Betty wasn't that sort of girl. "What's the matter?" she asked. "You're looking round the little parlor couldn't have the money to buy jewelry."

"It was much more probable that as a girl that Jack had sent to Betty was returning it to me, and it was just the prima, prude sort of thing that one could expect of her!" Betty demonstrated one of her two.

"I wasn't engaged to Jack, and I intended to be—hence the refusal gift. Girls of that type had all their ridiculous scruples about accepting anything from men they weren't in love with."

"This was even more probable—Betty had been actually engaged to Betty, believing he was under, now returning the engagement ring!" Betty spoke.

"If you're in trouble, April, why aren't you frank with me and tell me all about it?" she said. "Why do you try to strike in the dark, with anonymous letters and rearranged scenes, and mysterious doings?"

"April hesitated before replying. 'I'm sure you yet that the 'tableau' of that very afternoon had been successful. Before coming to the flat Betty might possibly have seen Jack Trevor in New York, shown him the anonymous letters, and both of them laughed heartily over the clumsy scheme."

"And yet—Jack and Betty were not together at the railway station afterwards, when April had unexpectedly run into Jack. He had looked so worried, too, and Betty's face—seen in the distance—had been so white and distraught."

"It was difficult to know what line to adopt with Betty in order to discover how the land lay."

"But April knew that Betty had a tender, kindly little heart. She despised her for it, but today she would turn the kindness to good account."

"I'm so utterly hopelessly wretched," Betty said.

"Hush, April—don't let anyone hear you," cautioned Betty, thinking of Aunt Marion, ill in bed upstairs, and of Kate, a maid, who might take it into her head to walk into the room on some pretext or other. Don't cry like that—come, sit down."

"MURINE Night and Morning Have Clean, Healthy Eyes. If they tire, look red, sore, itchy, or burn, if sore, irritated, inflamed, or swollen, use Murine. It soothes, refreshes, and cures. Write for Free Eye Book. Sent to you by mail."

IN SOCIETY

Mrs. Talcott of Chicago is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Gordon Hunt.

Miss Charlotte Vining of Toronto is a guest with Mrs. W. R. Grant, Talbot street.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Landon have returned home after a delightful visit in Toronto.

Mrs. Rowland Yates of Montreal is a guest with her mother, Mrs. Jones of King street.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Dillon were in Chatham recently, attending the big dance given there.

Mrs. W. T. Modeland of Grey street is spending the week with her brother, Mr. W. McLeod of Port Huron.

Miss Kathleen Coles, "The Beecher," South London, was the hostess of a delightful little tea yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. R. E. Clegg and Mrs. F. R. Clegg spent last week-end in Port Huron, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Phillips.

Prof. Maine and Prof. Anglin of Albert College spent the past week-end with Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Maine, Byron avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kirk, Wilton Grove, announce the engagement of their daughter, Nellie Kathleen, to Mr. Elmer M. Barons of Belmont, the marriage to take place in April.

Miss Nora Hember of Toronto, who is visiting Miss Winifred MacDonald, Watkinson street, is a much-feted guest. Yesterday Miss Brautman entertained at the tea hour in her honor, and on Saturday evening Miss Violet Donaldson will entertain for her.

At the Riverview Mothers' Club concert held at the Masonic Temple on Wednesday night, Mrs. Fortner, who had been largely instrumental in arranging for the program, was presented with a lovely basket of roses, the presentation being made by little Miss Beth Atchison, who appeared in a pretty, old-fashioned frock. Another presentation was made by Miss Marion Orchard, the gift being a cluster of flowers tendered to Mrs. Fralick for the selling of the greatest number of tickets.

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. F. Ballantyne were pleasantly surprised on Tuesday afternoon, when a delegation from the London Presbyterian called at their home on Thornton avenue.

Presented them with a handsome purse of money in gratitude for their splendid services on behalf of the Presbyterian. The address was read by Mrs. Jared Vining, the other members of the delegation being Mrs. D. L. McCrae, president of the Presbyterian, and Mrs. J. M. McEwen.

The Centennial Methodist choir recently held their annual banquet at Wong's Cafe, Mr. Bert Weil, the choir-master, and Mrs. Weil acting as host and hostess. During the course of the evening, Mr. Weil presented with a handsome pipe, and Mrs. Weil with a beautiful bouquet of roses. A very fine program of toasts was presided over by Mr. A. E. Tudor, those taking part in the program including Miss Gertrude Wood, Mr. Robert Tuttle, Rev. Mr. T. P. Ferguson, Miss Cora Patton, Mr. William Taylor and Mr. Lloyd Kelly. This program was arranged by Miss Eva and Miss Muriel Lancaster, and contributed greatly towards the evening's enjoyment.

A charming little tea of yesterday afternoon was that at which Mrs. Vining and Mrs. Macpherson were hostesses. The tea was given in honor of Miss Charlotte Vining of Toronto, and also provided an opportunity for Miss Macpherson to bid farewell to her heart as she leaves for Scotland this month. Spring flowers in their many shades were used delightfully throughout the hall and living-room, while snapdragons, violets and roses were artistically combined on the tea table.

Here presided Mrs. Cowley and Mrs. Archie Macpherson, assisted by Mrs. Wellman, who ushered to the tea-room, and Mrs. B. H. Clement, Mrs. H. A. Miller, Mrs. Margaret Millman, Miss Eleanor Grant, Miss Marion Grant and Miss Norman Anderson.

St. Andrew's Hall was the scene of a delightful function last evening, when the members of the Women's Music Club held their annual reception there. Mrs. Victor Blackwell, president of the club, received the guests, assisted by Mrs. C. R. Somerville and Mrs. Edwin Paul, while Mrs. Richard Davis and Mrs. Charles E. Percy presided over the coffee urns, assisted by Miss Mabel Stevens, Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Harrie Elliott, Mrs. Robert Orr, Mrs. Gordon Hunt, Mrs. Rose Johnston, Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Elsie MacDermid, Miss Janet Wilson, Mrs. Will Pells, Mrs. Ray Lawson, Mrs. Ernest Yates and Miss Minnie Raymond. The table from which refreshments were served was centered with a huge brass candelabra, while at either end were bowls of pale pink tulips. The arrangements for the reception were made by Mrs. Victor Blackwell. A very attractive musical program, had been arranged by Mrs. Paul, the artists contributing to the program being Mr. Harry Carson, Miss Marjorie Talbot, Mrs. Parker, all vocalists, and Miss Gertrude Cahill, who played a pretty violin number.

Mrs. John Ferguson, Wortley road, entertained 125 guests at the tea hour yesterday afternoon, her rooms being fragrant with deep pink roses. Mrs. Ferguson was wearing a lovely gown of king's blue satin with touches of gold lace, while her sister, Mrs. Bertha Smith, who received with her, wore grey crepe meteor with trimmings of Venetian point lace. Mrs. Richard E. Davis, who ushered to the tea-room, was in kingfisher blue charmesse and wore a large black hat. The tea table itself was prettily dressed for the occasion, a central vase of Ophelia roses being placed in the center of each of the corners. The tea hostesses were Mrs. Ray Lawson, Mrs. Sherwood Fox, who took the tea, the former was wearing a modish gown of black velvet with silver trimming, large black hat and corsage of roses, while the latter was dressed in brown satin and wore a small brown and blue hat. They were assisted by Mrs. Harris, in a becoming gown of black velvet and black hat; Mrs. P. R. Clegg, in burnt orange satin with tunic of Fokis blue embroidered in crystal, and small blue leaf hat, and Miss Norma Ferguson, in a pretty frock of pale blue georgette, beautifully beaded, with underdress of blue satin. Little Miss Mary Davis was a charming doorkeeper in her white and pink frock of Swiss embroidery.

JONES-DUNN. On Wednesday, March 23, the marriage of Mr. Clarence Andrew Jones, of London, and Miss Susan Gertrude Dunn was solemnized at St. Jude's Church, Grandford, by the rector, Rev. C. E. Jenkins. The bride and groom were among those present at the ceremony.

The bride wore a modish suit of navy blue serge, a brown Milan straw hat trimmed with Albee blue velvet, carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. She also wore a gold pendant and a diamond brooch. The groom was in a second-hand suit, the gift of the groom.

The happy couple left for London. Little Miss Mary Davis was a charming doorkeeper in her white and pink frock of Swiss embroidery.

HUGHES-WINTER. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Winter, Sarnia road, London Township, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday evening, March 30, when their eldest daughter, Sarah, became the bride of Mr. J. Albert Hughes of London.

Rev. Dr. McCrae performed the ceremony, and Mr. and Mrs. Hughes were the bridesmaids. The bride, who was given away by her father, was unmarried, and wore a modish gown of navy blue, while her flowers were roses and lily of the valley. After the ceremony, a wedding banquet was held, the young couple leaving late for Detroit.

Several substantial gifts, including a diamond brooch, a diamond pendant, and a diamond brooch, were presented to the bride and groom. The groom's gift to the bride was a diamond brooch.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday, March 23, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Thornton, of London, when their daughter, Helen, was united in marriage to Mr. Irvin Clarke, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Clarke, Sarnia.

At 3:30 o'clock in the presence of the immediate relatives, the bride and groom were united in marriage by Rev. F. J. Pydell of Sarnia. The wedding march was played by the bride's sister, Mrs. Clarence Davis.

The bride was gowned in white silk and georgette with bugle trimmings, wore the conventional veil, and carried a bouquet of white carnations. After the ceremony the guests repaired to the dining-room, where the table decorations were Easter lilies and pink carnations.

The groom's gift to the bride was a diamond brooch. The bride's gift to the groom was a diamond brooch.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarke left on a motor trip to Kintore, and will also spend some time in Kintore before returning to the farm of the bride's father, where they will reside.
