

TORTURED BY RHEUMATISM

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Brought Quick and Permanent Relief

MR. P. H. MCHUGH
103 Church Street, Montreal.

December 10th, 1917.
"I was a great sufferer from Rheumatism for over 10 years. I consulted specialists, took medicines, used lotions; but nothing did me good. Then, I began to use 'Fruit-a-tives'; and in 15 days, the pain was easier and the Rheumatism was better. Gradually, 'Fruit-a-tives' overcame my Rheumatism; and now, for five years, I have had no return of the trouble. Also, I had severe Eczema and Constipation, and 'Fruit-a-tives' relieved me of these complaints; and gave me a good appetite; and in every way restored me to health". P. H. MCHUGH.

Laugh When People Step On Your Feet

Try this yourself then pass it along to others. It works!
Ouch! This kind of rough talk will be heard less here in town if people troubled with corns will follow the simple advice of this Cincinnati authority, who claims that a few drops of a drug called Freezone when applied to a tender, aching corn stops soreness at once and soon the corn dries up and lifts right off without pain.
He says Freezone is an ether compound which dries immediately and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding tissue or skin. A quarter of an ounce of Freezone will cost very little at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Millions of American women will welcome this announcement since the inauguration of the high heels.

WHALE HUNTING IN SMALL CANOES.

Wooden-Handled Harpoon and Bomb Gun Used in Chase.

Whale hunters do not all have to range the seas in ships waiting for the lookouts in the crow's nest to howl "Thar she blows!"
How the Eskimo whalers capture the great leviathans almost on the shore is told by workers of the Episcopal Church mission at Point Hope, Alaska, in reports on work which they expect to have alleged through the aid of the nation-wide campaign of the Episcopal Church now in progress. This campaign to mobilize the church's resources and extend its missions, religious education and social service at home and abroad contemplates greater activities among these dwellers of Uncle Sam's northern territory.
As the ice begins to break up in Spring the Eskimo men form themselves into canoe crews, each with a comlik, or captain. Six or seven men compose a crew. They work on slabs remaining constantly on duty through the whaling season for six or seven weeks. They take turns sleeping on a sled drawn up on the ice, with four or five men constantly on watch. When a whale is sighted, the crew making the discovery launches its canoe and makes for the victim's head. The whale can't see directly ahead because his eyes are in the sides of his head instead of in front.
On nearing the whale's head the comlik, with a sweep of the paddle, sends the craft to the side of the leviathan. The boat leader throws a wooden-handled harpoon with a long line. The harpoon is a bomb-gun with a trigger attached. It is released on percussion, and from six to ten seconds after the whale is harpooned the 12-inch bomb explodes in the whale's interior. As it dives to escape, its progress under water is marked by the seal bladders attached to the end of the line, which remain above water. The comlik then hoists a flag, which is a sign for the other canoes to join in the hunt. If the whale killed its body is drawn upon the edge of the ice and the whale bone extracted. In the mouth of one large whale are 375 slabs of baleen, or whalebone, attached to the upper jaw. The slabs are 12 inches and 11 feet long in the large species and weigh 3,000 pounds, worth about $3.25 a pound.
The Point Hope Eskimo are good whale hunters, and the influence of the missionaries has been so marked that whaling vessels pull in there to obtain part of their crews. Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the Arctic explorer, also went to Point Hope to get men for the Kaktik and other vessels of the fleet on his last expedition into the frozen North because of the good reputation of the Eskimo there. The Episcopal Church hopes as a result of its nation-wide campaign to expand its various activities all over the world, to extend undertakings among the Alaskan Eskimo—especially in the establishment of schools for which they are asking. Hospitals also are needed for there are many accidents among those who are engaged in whaling.—St. Paul News.

THE TOO CLEAN HOUSEWIFE

"Don't make a god of your house," advised the happy Matron when the young bride had finished her recital of floor cleaning and shelf dusting. "It's hard for us women not to be extremists in everything. It's our nature, I guess. Out of all proportion over a house seems to be a natural nature with a lot of it."
When I first married I had a mahogany bedroom suite. I was as proud as anything over it, and watched over it like a mother hen. I would start up after I had gone to bed, and watch my husband to see that he didn't drop a nail file on it. A shiny surface, or set a glass of water where it would make the slightest mark. I didn't realize that I was acting the part of detective over my husband, and he took more or less as a joke. How significant after thinking for a while, he looked up calmly and said, "Jess, this house is too clean for that dog, its too clean for ME, in fact it's too clean for any human being but yourself, and so I am going to leave you to live in your house alone. I'm TIRED second fiddle to a lot of furniture."
"That jolt woke me up. I'm twice as good a wife, and half as good a housekeeper as I used to be."

Alcoholic Insanity Disappears

Our Foremost Alienist Says It Has Now Practically Vanished

"SINCE the passage of the Ontario Temperance Act Alcoholic Insanity has practically disappeared," says Dr. C. K. Clarke, Canada's foremost Alienist.

Dr. Clarke's statement to the Ontario Referendum Committee continues:

"ALCOHOL is one of the important factors among the causes of insanity, especially indirectly. Since the passage of the Ontario Temperance Act certain forms of insanity in this province have practically disappeared.

"The abolition of the bar has undoubtedly had a wonderful effect in protecting the weaklings in the community from temptation and inevitable degradation.

"It is much too soon to determine how far-reaching the benefits of prohibition have been, but doubtless police and jail statistics will bear testimony as to the diminution of crime.

"The removal of the bar must be regarded with satisfaction by every right-thinking person in the country, especially by those who know how easily mental weaklings and neurotics fell into deplorable habits through its malign influence.

"It was not that these persons suffered alone, but that many of the next generations lost whatever chance they had of living down the curse of a bad heredity.

"Alcohol simply intensified the defects of the parent and thus made hopeless the lives of the children."

DR. C. K. CLARKE
Medical Director National Committee for Mental Hygiene, Superintendent Provincial Hospitals for the Insane, Kingston, 1881-1905 and Toronto, 1906-1911, Superintendent Toronto General Hospital, 1911-1918.

The Menace of Insanity

"Insanity is the Mad Son of Alcohol, Idiocy is its Driveling Daughter," says Vance Thompson.

ONTARIO maintains 6,000 patients in the Insane Asylums at a cost of about $1,000,000 a year and an indirect cost of many millions more.

Ontario has one insane patient to every 417 people—not including the feeble-minded. Kansas, pioneer "dry" state of the West, has only one case to every 873 people.

The menace of insanity has alarmed government authorities and brought about the recent appointment of a National Committee for Mental Hygiene, of which Dr. C. K. Clarke is the Medical Director.

Read what he says:
"Since passage of the Ontario Temperance Act, Alcoholic Insanity has practically disappeared."

Next to "mental strain, overwork and worry," "Alcoholism" is the chief assigned cause of insanity, according to the yearly reports issued by the Ontario Government. Since the Ontario Temperance Act went into force private hospitals for alcoholics, "Gold Cures," etc., have been closed.

Remember what experts on insanity say when you answer the questions on the Referendum ballot and vote for sane legislation by marking your ballot with an X after each question under the word "No."

How the Little Old Wise Man Found Him a Roommate!

Velvet Whirls Round this Big in a Multitude of Tiny Folds

The Beret Highly Favored in Paris These Days—Huge Collapsible Crowns of Soft Fabric Above Small Roll Brims—Clipped Ostrich is a Winter Trimming That Minds Not Wet Weather.

ALL procrastination must come to an end now. It is high time to buy a fall hat! The woman who has put off the matter from day to day making her summer headgear "do" until she has definitely made up her mind what she wants in autumn millinery must now face the question and buy something or other, even if it is only a go-between hat to tide over until a more satisfactory one has been selected. And there seems to be pretty wide choices in the new millinery. There are shapes and styles to suit everybody and every type. It will not be difficult to pick out a becoming fall hat this year.

Soft Beret Styles Becoming.
Paris is making a great vogue of the little draped turban called the beret and two hats of this type are pictured. One is suggestive of the tall Cossack turban with high draped velvet crown and close breast trimming of gray and black feathers. Grebe and hawk are much used for all-around trimming and nothing is more becoming than these soft feathery bands above the face. The Cossack turban is in gray and black—a modish combination this season. More emphatically of the beret type is the velvet turban with folds and folds of soft material over the face. The crown is low and velvet is crushed over it so that it forms a continuous line with the roll brim rather than standing up from it separately. This beret is made of blue velvet and the coc feather that droops at one side is blue-gray. Oddly placed feathers and wings make the autumn hats unusual and distinctive. One never knows just where a feather will appear next, starting across the crown, shooting out from the brim or drooping over one ear and resting on the wearer's shoulder.

Huge Bows of Lace Topple Over Brims.
An instance of the oddly placed trimmings of the season is instanced in the illustration showing a wide brimmed sailor adorned only with a mammoth lace bow, admirably wired and posed on the front of the brim, the lace loops projecting toward the front. Were this bow tied in a conventional manner and attached at one side of the crown the hat would not be half so chic; it is the odd and unusual position of the bow which gives the big hat its individual character and its unusual distinction. As you have guessed, this big hat is black, and the bow is made of black lace. Another large hat pictured is trimmed quite differently—with a garland of flowers fastened tight against the crown. Here again is the unusual rather than the conventional! Ordinary flowers in conventional arrangement would not be half so smart as these embroidered chielie posies that hug the material of the crown. The hat is a drooping-brim sailor of the season is all reasonable a thing. A graceful point is of almond green draped crown and brim, and a thick this clipped ostrich stands up inside all the way around ostrich, the short feathers spreading out at either side of exaggerated brim of metallic gold French tricornes back brims at points of the hat and across the forehead.
