

CONTENTS

	PAGE
CHAPTER VIII
THE WAR OF THE PATRIOTS ALIAS FILIBUSTERS—Mackenzie takes Post on Navy Island—Borrows from United States Arsenals—Van Rensselaer—Steamer Caroline —Cut out by Captain Drew—International Episode—Secret Society Generals—Effect on Upper Canada—Immense Growth of Militia—Scarcity of Arms—Queen's Rangers—Samuel Peters Jarvis.	39
CHAPTER IX
ANOTHER QUARTER CENTURY OF RUST—Decay of Militia Organization—Description of a Muster in 1845—And of a Later Muster at Toronto—Effect of Crimean War—New Militia Law of 1855—Slow Growth of Active Militia—Effect of Trent Affair—Gazetting the York Companies—Their Strength	41
CHAPTER X
THE WELDING OF THE BATTALIONS—Origin of Fenian Raids—Causes why Canada was Invaded—Sporadic Preparation for Defence—Alarm of 31st May, 1866—Response of the Militia—Departure of Companies to Niagara District—Strategy of the Authorities—Ridgeway and the Abuse of Booker—Outpost Duties of the Companies—Deficiencies of Militia System—Standing Camp at Thorold—Welding the 12th York Battalion—Impression Created by the Battalion.	45
CHAPTER XI
THE CONTINUITY OF YORK BATTALIONS—Originally a Nine Company Battalion—Jarvis the First Commanding Officer—His Services—The Word "Rangers"—The Regimental Motto, Celer et Audax —Ancestry of Armstrong of the Lloydtown Company—Pearson of the Aurora Company—The Selbys of the Sharon Company—Crosby of the Unionville Company—Cawthra the Paymaster.	50
CHAPTER XII
KEEPING THEIR ARMOUR BRIGHT—Twenty Years of Routine—The Red River Expedition—The 12th Actually Gets an Officer Selected—The Value of an Organized Militia—Character of the Drill—Commanding Officers of the 12th.	54
CHAPTER XIII
STEPPING OUT IN 1885—Suddenness of the Riel Outbreak—Four Companies of the 12th Called Out—The Regimental Order Calling out the Companies—The Summons by Bugle—York-Simcoe Battalion Hurried to the Front—The Gaps—Tales of Hardships—The Actual Hardships—Treading on the Heels of the 65th—The Last Gap—Appearance of the York-Simcoes at Winnipeg—En route to Fort Qu'Appelle—Enforced Stay at Fort Qu'Appelle—Occupations There—Night Attacks—By Forced March to Humboldt—The Astringent Qualities of Colonel O'Brien—Appearance of the Battalion at Humboldt—The Meanderings of Sergeant Brown—His Portrait of Riel—The York-Simcoes Become "Foot Cavalry"—The Return and Receptions.	57
CHAPTER XIV
ANNALS OF THE 12TH SINCE 1885—Periodical Trainings—Great Changes in Militia Organization—No Effect on the Infantry—The South African War—Lloyd's Tender of Service—The Delicious Answer of the Authorities—Imperialism—Representatives of the 12th at the War—His Majesty's First Visit—A "Skeleton" Camp—His Majesty's Second Visit—Migrations of the Companies—Our Splendid Armories?—The 12th as it Now is.	69

APPENDICES

APPENDIX A—Officers of the 12th, Militia List, July, 1912.	75
APPENDIX B—Record of Officers' Services	77
APPENDIX C—Letter of Colonel Cruikshank	83
APPENDIX D—Memo by Dr. Doughty	84
APPENDIX E—Rifle Shooting Record of the 12th	85
APPENDIX F—Roll of York-Simcoe Battalion	89