First—reduction of expenses: The attorney general demonstrated in his speech on supply that the present administration had saved $26,000 a year without impairing the public service, and the correctness of his figures has not been and cannot be questioned.

The government ticket in York is well received. From all parts of the county the strongest assurances of support have been received. It seems to be conceded on all hands that the selection of candidates has been a judicious one. We are quite satisfied that the more the electors see of the two new men the selections.

AN UNWISE PROPOSAL. The statement is made that the dothem. The government now refuses to abolish stumpage dues and throw the public lands open. In respect to the revenue from fishing licenses not a word of objection has been raised either in the house or out of it, and the government aims at doing this and has introduced legislation having that object, only to be frustrated in passing it by the political friends of the opposition in the upper chamber.

The statement is made that the dominion government proposes to ask parliament to say that all fines under the Scott act must hereafter be paid into the federal treasury. Such a charge would be a severe blow at the act. The majority of the public lands open. In respect to the revenue from fishing licenses not a word of objection has been raised either in the house or out of it, and the government has been applauded all over Canada for its treatment of this subject.

Ninth—the abolition of the Legislative Council: The government is made that the dominion government proposes to ask parliament to say that all fines under the Scott act must hereafter be paid into the federal treasury. Seventh—the preservation of the public credit: This is shown by the fact that provincial bonds at four per cent find a ready sale, and that a part of the 4½'s issued to fund the floating debt brought a premium.

Eight—the protection of the public domain: No one disputes that the present stumpage regulations were framed in the interests of the public at large for the purpose of protecting the public domain and managing it to the best advantage. Some persons claim that in the present state of the lumber trade the regulations should be altered; but that is a matter of opinion. No one
